

SOCIETY WOMAN'S WORLD AND WORK

As we go on, grow older, grow more wise,
Grow friendlier with every friendly thing,
The honorable trees, grave dusk, the swing
Of upland meadows upward to the skies,
And even the old new fraudulent surprise
Of that quaint smiling paradox the spring
How greatly beauty once again can bring
In smaller ways tears to our tenderness eyes.
We do not wait on mountains or on seas,
For there's a little lake between the hills,
That rustles with the reeds and the lily pads,
And great adventure found in daffodils
Stirs April gardens, when the world awakes
Is quick with mice and moles, crickets and men.
—Maxwell Struthers Hurt.

When I drift out on the Silver Sea,
O may I be
A blue night,
With a white moon
And a sprinkling of stars in the cedar tree,
And the silence of God,
And the low call
Of a lone bird—
When I drift out on the Silver Sea,
—Selected.

Pleasant Outing.
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Heggem and Mr. and Mrs. George O. Hollow, Miss Rosalind Hollow and Mr. William Weaver spent Sunday near Haskell, Okla., at Choskey lake this past Sunday and tell of a delightful outing.

Bridge Hostess.
Mrs. J. Norville Walker, instead of Mrs. Young O. Mitchell as announced, will entertain members and substitutes of the Thursday Bridge club this week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. George.

Natatorium Party.
Members of the Alpha Omega class of the First Christian Sunday school will enjoy a plunge party Thursday evening in the pool at the Y. W. C. A.

Appreciated Gift.
The Conway Braun school benefit entertainment given this spring is responsible for the beautiful pergola being built at the Frances Willard home. There is a need expressed by members of the board for a dining room table. Anyone who can supply this article, will please phone Mrs. George O. Hollow.

Week-End Party.
Plans are being made for a week-end party to Morgan's Inn next Sunday when 10 couples from Tulsa will enjoy the outing.

Lady Astor Pleads.
Through Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national American woman suffrage association now directing the ratification campaign in Tennessee, Lady Nancy Astor, born Nancy Langhorne of Virginia, and now Great Britain's first woman M. P., has sent the following message to the men of the south:
"I want to send a message to the men of the south, because I come from the south, and feel that I know and understand it, as one only can understand the place of one's birth and childhood. I know the strong sense of justice and honor that lives in the hearts of the people. I know their chivalry, too, and it is just because I appreciate that chivalry that I, as a woman, am anxious that it should be representative of the present, and not only of the past—that it should be a progressive chivalry; equal to the needs and aspirations of the women of today, not content to give merely what was demanded of it in the old days.
"I am writing to you from the country of my adoption—a country which has taken the great step and given political responsibility to its women. As it happens, I am one of the women to whom the new opportunity for service has come most directly, and it is partly on that account that I am appealing to you of the south.
"I am at present entrusted by the people of the Nation division of Plymouth to represent them, men and women alike, in parliament. There are something like 17,000 women voters in my constituency, and over 23,000 men, who include a large number of men in the Royal Navy. It would, indeed, be hard to feel that one could not have the same trust from the men of my homeland, which has been given to me so generously in the land of my adoption. But the responsibility cannot be laid on me is only the outcome of the responsibility which they have already placed on all women, by giving them the vote. Trusting a woman in the parliament cannot be done till you have trusted women at the ballot box. A democracy which only trusts its men cannot help being a top-sided democracy. I know the south too well to believe that they will interpret their own constitution of popular government less democratically than this country, from which I write, has interpreted its constitution of limited monarchy.
"The cause of women's political freedom has been won in America—America, where one of the first shots in the campaign was fired. But the forces working against justice and progress are still strong enough to raise technical objections and to delay the full realization of the victory.
"On August 6 the governor of Tennessee will call that legislature into special session to consider the ratification of the federal amendment for women's suffrage. Thirty-five states have given their hand and seal, but one is lacking. Will not the south give that one? So strong is my faith in the south that I feel it almost an impertinence to ask them such a question. Remember we are making a new world and women—mothers—long to have a share in the sort of world in which their children must live. We have moral courage and spiritual vision. Give us the chance to help you. We don't want to be little men, but we do want to be big mothers."

(Signed) Nancy Astor.
