N. L. Roberts, the accommodating representative of the Kansas City Paper house was here today interviewing the newspaper people.

An early attraction and one which the manager of the opera house claims to be the best of its kind will be the farce comedy "Weary Willie Walker."

FOWLER has two large skylights and is making photos as good cloudy weather as when clear.

Of "Weary Willie Walker" an exchange says, "The farce was a most delicate and dainty laugh provoker and the audience was in a continual chuckle except at times when it broke into a roar of laughter."

You can seldom afford to eat a bad dinner but you can feel safe to do so Wednesday night, if you have secured reserved seats for "Weary Willie Walker," as that play is said to be the best of all anti-dyspeptic remedies known.
