ARDMORE, OKLAHOMA WEDNESDAY EVENING JANUARY 19 1910

NUMBER 194

JOHN R. WALSH BEGINS SENTENCE

CHICAGO FINANCIER PASSED THROUGH KANSAS CITY THIS MORNING ON THE WAY.

PROTECTED FROM THE CAMERA

Son of the Chicago Banker Attacked Newspaper Photographers at Kansas City as They Tried to Get Picture of Convicted Man.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—John R. Walsh, former Chicago financier on his way to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth to serve a sentence of five years for misapplying the funds of the Chicago National Bank, arrived in Kansas City this morning.

The aged banker slept fairly well last night and between trains here appeared cheerful.

As the party of officials and relatives, accompanying Walsh alighted from the Chicago train, the newspaper photographers who raised their cameras to take snap shots of the travelers, were attacked by John W. Walsh, a son of the prisoner.

Only A Number Now. Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 19.—John R. Walsh arrived at the federal prison at 12:06 today and began serving his sentence. His number as a convict will be 6864.

FIRE DRILL SAVES LIVES OF CHILDREN

CATASTROPHE AT COFFEYVILLE, KANSAS, AVERTED BY USE OF THE FIRE DRILL.

ROOF OF BUILDING COLLAPSED

More Than Three Hundred Children, in Line, Marched From Their Rooms to Safety—None of the Children Injured.

Coffeyville, Kan., Jan. 19.—The fire drill today probably saved many lives, when following the collapse of the roof over a portion of the McKinley school building, 350 children in line, marched from their rooms to safety. None of them were hurt.

Workmen were repairing the roof on a new addition, when it collapsed, hurling four men forty feet to the ground. One of the workmen was probably fatally hurt and three others more or less seriously injured.

CALEB POWERS WOULD RUN

BUT A JAIL TERM DOESN'T QUALIFY FOR CONGRESS, HIS ENEMIES SAY.

REPUBLICANS ARE ALARMED

The Kentuckian's Opponents Won't Forget the Goebel Case—One Paper Says He Got Rich in the Penitentiary.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 19.—Caleb Powers, three times convicted of the Goebel murder and finally pardoned, is making a fight against Don G. Edwards in the Eleventh Kentucky Congressional District for the republican nomination for congress. Powers is being watched closely by the leaders of both parties—by the republicans with much alarm and by the democrats with some hopefulness. The eleventh is a republican district and the democrats say they see a chance to put their man in congress.

The conservative republican leaders denounce Powers as an ex-convict even to ask for the position. A poster announcing that "a jail term is no qualification for congress" has been posted in various parts of the district. Recently an interview with conservative republicans was published in which it was said: "We propose the nomination of Henry Yantsey for governor on an 8-year (the penitentiary slogan; he ought to win it." Many papers in the district are taking raps at Powers for presuming to be a candidate, while several others have championed his cause and say that there are men in the conservative element of the party who could be sent to the penitentiary and made to stay there.

The Somerset Herald says that a pardon never vindicates and that for this reason Powers still can be termed the murderer of Governor Goebel by those who want to apply it to him. The Wayne County Outlook says: "Powers' eight years in the penitentiary were years of rich graft. He went in without a dollar; he came out with plenty of cash and rich coal lands."

Caleb Powers was secretary of state in Kentucky under Governor Taylor in 1900. William Goebel, the democratic claimant of the gubernatorial office, was shot January 30 while walking in the state capitol grounds about noon. The shot was fired from a window in the capitol building. Goebel died a few days later.

Soon after Goebel's death Powers was arrested on a warrant charging him with complicity in the murder. At the time of his arrest he was trying to escape to the mountains on a train. He was disguised. Governor Taylor ordered the release of Powers and others arrested in connection with the murder, but his order was ignored and soon afterwards Gov. Taylor fled to Indiana, where he has since made his home. Henry Yantsey, clerk in the office of the republican state auditor, was convicted of firing the shot which killed Goebel and he is serving a life sentence. It was charged that Powers planned the killing. At his first trial he received a life sentence, but a new trial was granted. At the second trial he was sentenced to death, but again a new trial was granted and the third penalty prescribed was life imprisonment. Once more a new trial was ordered. This ended last week in Georgetown when the jury disagreed. June 14, 1908, Governor Wilson pardoned Powers, who had spent nearly eight years in prison.

LACK UNIFORMITY IN LIFE INSURANCE

PRESIDENT OF FIDELITY MUTUAL COMPANY IN AN ADDRESS TELLS OF THE LOSS.

POLICYHOLDERS PAY THE TOLL

Fouse Says Policy Holders Pay from Fifteen to Twenty Millions a Year, Because of Lack of Uniformity in Laws and Practices.

Washington, Jan. 19.—From fifteen to twenty million dollars a year is the toll paid by the life insurance policy holders of this country as a result of the lack of uniformity in state insurance laws and practices, according to L. G. Fouse. This is at least five per cent of the yearly payments to policy holders and beneficiaries, he figures. Mr. Fouse, who is president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, made these figures known today in an address before the third annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance presidents, in session here. He is a member of the executive committee of the association.

"The magnitude of the interests involved is stupendous," said Mr. Fouse. "Some twenty-five billion dollars of life insurance in various forms are in force in the United States with accumulated assets of four billion dollars of which three and one-half billions are held by the legal reserve companies. Over one-third of the population has a direct interest in life insurance and more than one-half of the remaining two-thirds an indirect interest. It is exceedingly important that waste and unnecessary taxation be stopped
