

Again We Lead—

Our poultry for New Years is the same grade of corn fed and milk fed Turkeys, Geese and Chickens that we had Christmas; the talk of the town; fresh dressed today; no cold storage stock here.

If not Poultry, why not a nice Roast of Pig Pork—a juicy Roast of No. 1 Steer Beef?

ECHO CLASS HAS OYSTER SUPPER

YOUNG MEN ENTERTAIN GIRL FRIENDS WITH FEAST IN I. O. O. F. HALL.

Coldest Weather of Season Being Experienced; Dan Bowman Ships Out Carload of Hogs; Christmas Ball on Monday Night is Much Enjoyed.

(East Oregonian Special.) ECHO, Dec. 29.—The young men's Sunday school class gave an oyster supper Wednesday night to a number of their girl friends at the I. O. O. F. hall. Plates were laid for thirty. Mesdames Ewelstyn, Sterns and Cook were the patronesses. A long in the remembered time was had by all present.

Echo has been experiencing some of the coldest weather of the season the past week. On Thursday morning there was a four inch fall of fresh snow.

Dan Bowman shipped out a car load of fat hogs on Wednesday to Seattle.

The Christmas ball given at the city hall on Monday night by the Commercial club was well attended. Eighty six numbers were sold. Music was furnished by the Pendleton orchestra.

Miss Myrtle Branstetter who attends school at O. A. C. is here spending the vacation with her father H. C. Branstetter.

"old saw" and be a rival of the golf club.

The equipment consists of a circle of holes, with another hole in the center of the circle, an old tin can and a stick for each player. The player who is "it" tries to get the can into the center hole despite the efforts of the other players to keep the can outside the ring and at the same time keep the can tender from thrusting his stick into the hole belonging to the opposing player. No caddies are required and expense is otherwise cut down, because tin cans are plentiful and the sticks need not be manufactured by Spalding or McGregor.

PASSES PERFECT MENTAL TEST.

Harvard Student Got 100 Per Cent Under Late Prof. Muensterberg.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 27.—Thomas J. Abernethy of Kennebunk, Me., after submitting himself with 275 other Harvard undergraduates to tests evolved by the late Prof. Hugo Muensterberg, his record reached 100 per cent.

In making his tests, the professor had his pupils pick five printed lines of letters hidden in a series of letters jumbled together. Another test was that of selecting names of cities and animals with disarranged letters. Then a series of words were given from which the name of some prominent American was to be taken. Five minutes was allotted for each test.

GOOD SAMARITAN BUYS IN "COP'S" HORSE

When Mounted Policeman John L. Wendell of the New York police force heard that the department was to auction off "Loughlin," the horse which had served as his mount for a good part of twenty-five years, he felt as if he had lost his last friend. But now Wendell is happy and so is "Loughlin," for a good samaritan appeared, bought "Loughlin" and gave him to the policeman as a Christmas present. "Loughlin" now will lead a life of ease to the end of his days.
