AUTOS FIND GRIEF ON MEACHAM ROAD

TWO CARS BARRILED BY SNOW ON ROADS! ONE IS SOLD AT MEACHAM.

Inch of Snow Fell in Mountains Last Tuesday; Other News of Meacham and Surrounding Country Given by East Oregonian Correspondent.

(East Oregonian Special.)
MEACHAM, April 1.—Last Sunday two autos got within four miles of Meacham, but the roads were so bad from there that they had to be pulled into town, behind sleds. Several teams and a sled were secured here and one auto loaded upon the sled to try to get over the rest of the distance towards La Grande. But the snow was yet four feet deep on the roads between here and Kamela, so they were forced back. The owner succeeded in disposing of the car to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Casey and concluded that train travel was the best and cheapest at this time of the year. The other car, a Ford, was shipped from here by freight to La Grande.

Snow in Timber.
The snow is gone where there are no trees and the grass is getting green rapidly, but in the timber parts the snow is deep yet.

The critic report was read by J. E. Marshall.

Nature Cures, The Doctor Takes the Fee.
There is an old saying that "Nature cures, the doctor takes the fee," but as everyone knows you can help nature very much and thereby enable it to effect a cure in much less time than is usually required. This is particularly true of colds. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, the lungs liquefy the tough mucus and aids in its expectoration, allays the cough and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

Glving away our clothes to the Belgians will not get us into heaven, but it will help those much enduring and heroic people under their present hard conditions.

Peril Can't Check American Rescues

Red Cross Ambulance Drivers Work in Ruins of Factory Despite New Explosions of Munitions.
PARIS, March 29.—Notwithstanding the danger from new explosions, the American Red Cross aid to the victims of a factory at La Courneuve last Friday, continues to expand. Ambulance drivers all day go to and from Paris headquarters to the scene of the catastrophe bringing the homeless to Paris and taking back food and clothing.
While flames and clouds of smoke continue to leap skyward, following new explosions, with crowds of on-lookers headed off 500 yards away. American doctors and nurses explore the ruins for wounded possibly buried under the debris. Each step these workers take might be the last, for unexploded grenades still litter the vast field of desolation. The slightest touch is all that is wanted to make the deadly weapon explode. One example was given when a French fireman trod on a grenade which blew his foot off.

Ever since the first explosion American doctors and nurses have been working in the homes, factories and streets, bandaging wounds and cuts. In addition, at the hotel in Rue d'Hautville, Paris, where seventy-seven homeless refugees slept the first night and 163 the second, the American Red Cross is establishing another home.
A force of stenographers from the office acted as cleaning women in one building, while chauffeurs made the beds. Two-thirds of the refugees are children. In one family whose home was completely blown away, there were eight children under ten years of age, while in another devastated area six babies were found injured by falling glass.

At the request of the Mayor of La Courneuve, Miss Elizabeth Ashe of San Francisco, director of the nurses' children's bureau, and Miss Helen Byrne, daughter of James Byrne of New York, counsel for the Red Cross Italian Commission, rushed lined beef, chocolate, prunes, biscuits, marmalade, condensed milk for babies, blankets and bedding to the emergency refuge in the stables of an idle race track near the scene of the disaster.
Families whose roofs were blown off are sleeping on hay in the horse stalls. One car which took out food brought back one woman and six children whose home was utterly destroyed. A mother of two children, with a third expected soon, also was brought back to Paris.

Bald heads are barred from the army on the score that they make good targets for the Huns.

Abundant Health is assured when there is good blood in the veins. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to make good blood. Begin taking it now. It is just what the system needs at this time and will do you great good. Sharpens the appetite, steadies the nerves.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.
When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.
Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?
Throw those makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by surgeons for nearly half a century.
S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
