INSURANCE POLICIES NOT CONSTRUED TO LETTER

Portland, April 1.—Insurance policies are not to be construed to the letter, according to a decision rendered today by Circuit Judge Cleeton giving judgment for $1,110 to George C. Moore against the Aetna Life Insurance company for the loss of all of his left hand except the thumb, by a shotgun accident. The company denied the right of the plaintiff to $1,000 insurance for the hand on the ground that the policy made necessary the amputation of the hand at or above the wrist. Physicians testified that the thumb might as well be removed as far as its utility was concerned.
