ALL FARM WORK AT OREGON ASYLUM IS ON SCIENTIFIC BASIS

Famous "Dryden" Stock of Poultry Being Reproduced At Big Institution

Exploding the theory that the mixed strain of chickens is inferior to the purebred stock and that such mixed strain cannot be maintained at a certain standard of efficiency in breeding, Superintendent Steiner, of the Oregon insane asylum, has already proved that the so-called "Dryden pullet," Oregon's famous hen, which broke the world's egg record, can reproduce herself a thousand-fold, and every one of her progeny, directly and indirectly, is true to breed and upholds the reputation of her illustrious ancestor. The poultry industry at the insane asylum, under the direct supervision of C. M. Wilcox, former assistant to Professor Dryden, of the U. A. C., is conducted upon a strictly scientific basis, as, in fact, is everything else undertaken at Oregon's big institution under the general supervision of Dr. Steiner.

Few people of the state, and this is also true of the people of Salem and vicinity, realize that a model farm in every respect is being conducted under their very "noses," and fewer seem to appreciate the fact. A visit to the insane asylum poultry yards and stock barns and pens would open the eyes of the people to the fact that this institution, not very many years ago complained of as being the most expensive institution in the state, is rapidly becoming not only self-supporting but is producing farm, garden and barnyard products for the benefit of other institutions. It will not be long until this institution will not only produce everything that it needs for self-support the year around, but will be able to furnish the needs of other institutions in and about Salem.

About a year and a half ago Superintendent Steiner procured a "starting" of the Dryden stock of poultry, one of the originals of which sustained a record of 303 eggs in one year, and thus established a world's record. This now famous hen is a cross between a White Leghorn and a White Plymouth Rock, and since it was propagated by Professor Dryden, head of the poultry department of U. A. C., it was named the "Dryden" stock. The number of laying pullets at the insane asylum pens now is 300 and from this stock 2800 little "Drydens" have been hatched this year. The Dryden pullets are maintaining the record established by their great-grandmother, and an absolute accurate record is kept of every egg that is laid by any of these pullets, which are kept by themselves, from the time they are laid until the chick is hatched. Likewise, the record of the chick is kept just as accurately from the late of its "hatching" until it shall have expired.

Everything is system at the asylum poultry yards and Mr. Wilcox has the records on hand to prove that the 300 "Dryden" pullets at the institution for the past six months have kept up to the record of their ancestor, and the breed has been sustained without a break. The records kept by Mr. Wilcox show that all of these pullets maintained an average of from 20 to 24 eggs every month during the months of September, October, November, December, January and February, when the egg market is so high, and these records are being exceeded now, during the natural heavy laying season of all poultry. As a result of the introduction and cultivation of this strain of chickens Dr. Steiner not only hopes to save the taxpayers the annual expense of $5000 heretofore necessary for the asylum's supply of eggs, but to furnish the other institutions with eggs in the course of another year.

Just now the institution is realizing more eggs than it needs, and the surplus is being preserved and put away for the winter season. Dr. Steiner is conserving his Dryden stock eggs for hatching, and is purchasing eggs in the open market for 15 cents per dozen to preserve for future consumption. Within another year, with a flock of over

JAPANESE EMPEROR TO BE CROWNED NOV. 10

Festivities Postponed For Two Years Will Be Celebrated By Nation

Tokio, April 19.—Official announcement was made today that Emperor Yoshihito of Japan will be crowned November 10. His wife will be crowned empress at the same time.

The coronation will be conducted at Kioto, the ancient capital of Nippon, 300 miles from Tokio. All the old rites of the kingdom are to be observed. The proceedings will continue for one week.

On November 16, the final day of the coronation, the Mikado and his wife will go to the historic shrine of Ase, where the rulers of Japan have been worshipped ever since the days of Buddha. Here, with the entire court in attendance, a solemn service will be conducted.

High officials of the army and navy, Japanese princes and representatives of foreign governments have been invited to the coronation. The most impressive part of the ceremony will be in the ruins of the ancient palace at Kioto.

Yoshihito was to have been crowned two years ago, but the death of his mother interfered, the entire nation was plunged into mourning and the coronation festivities were indefinitely postponed.

A Kidney Remedy Advertisement Brought Great Happiness

I take pleasure in stating that I have used Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, that I was greatly benefited by the same and have used it in my family. I had a son, when quite young he suffered from bladder or kidney affliction. I called in my physician, he attended him but did him no good. Almost by accident I noticed an advertisement about the curative properties of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I procured a bottle and gave it to him according to directions. It cured him of what we thought was almost impossible and the same with others of my family. I have such strong faith in Swamp-Root that I have never done without it in my family since the wonderful cure of my son as well as myself. I recommend it to all who suffer from kidney or bladder troubles and I am led to believe that it is one of the best medicines for the purpose for which it is used, that has ever been discovered. This is my experience from the use of Swamp-Root. Wishing the promoters of this wonderful medicine a large sale to the suffering public, I am,

Yours respectfully,

NEW CITY CHARTER ABSOLUTELY NEEDED DECLARES RESOLUTION

Proposed Measure To Be Submitted At Next December Election

Salem is to have another chance to vote on a new charter. Three times already such a proposition has been defeated.

The first steps to bring this about was taken last night at the council meeting when a resolution was introduced asking that the mayor appoint a committee to draft a new charter and have it ready to submit to the people at the regular city election in December. Councilman Mills moved the adoption of the resolution and the motion was carried.

The resolution declared that taxes in the city of Salem were higher than they need be, that the situation is such that it repels rather than invites outside capital, that the administration of government is burdensome and long gone out of date, and that the administration of the city costs too much in every way. In order to remedy this state of affairs and bring Salem to the front and establish an efficient form of municipal government it is believed necessary to change the instrument of government.

Charter Is Deficient.

It was pointed out that the present charter is full of deficiencies, that it is inadequate to the needs of the city, and that it is full of sins of omission. In order to prepare an instrument of government to replace the present one, the resolution asked for a committee of nine to be appointed. This committee is to hold public hearings on the various phases of city government and secure the opinions of the people. It is to report by September so that the charter can be prepared and placed before the people early enough for full and thorough discussion before the day of election. If the proposed measure carries it is planned to have it go into effect on January 1, 1917.

It is the sense of the resolution that a new charter adequate to meet the needs of the city is absolutely necessary as the present cumbersome system breeds delay, inefficiency and extravagance. The system, says the resolution, is unfair to the businessman who has to give his time to attend to the work of the city. Besides, the present charter is full of conflicts and defects, which have involved the city in much costly litigation.

Aldermen May and Mills are authors of the resolution.

Ought to Go Slow.

Councilman Jones, in view of the fact that the city was given an adverse decision regard the South High street paving, and was liable to pay for the hard-surfacing there, declared that the council ought to go slow in doing any more paving. He said he thought the city should be more careful in letting work be done. There was a deep silence for a moment, and then Councilman May arose and said he knew things have not been done exactly right. He turned to Councilman Jones and said: "You know as well as any one how things went as you were on the street committee."

Councilman Jones admitted that he knew the state of affairs and that he regretted them. He said it should be the duty of the council to look after the city's business first, then that of the property owners, and then that of the contractors. Heretofore he said it had been the other way, and contractors were allowed to deviate from plans and specifications, which deviations later caused trouble.

As there was no question before the council, the mayor called the two speakers to order and proceeded with regular business.

Ask One-Man Service.

A communication from the P. R. L. & P. Co., asked the council to investigate the feasibility of installing a one-man car service, or a "pay-as-you-enter" service, in Salem. The company stated such a system was working well in Eugene for the past seven months and economical as well as efficient. Councilman Cook moved a committee of three be appointed, and the motion carried.

A petition from property-owners on North Liberty street for hard-surfacing paving was read and referred to the street committee.

A petition for an arc light at Mission and Saginaw streets was referred to the light committee.

In regard to the proposed improvement of Myers street, Saginaw to Fairmont, a protest was read. The objection was referred to the city engineer and street committee to check up. Bids for wood and for road machinery were opened last night and were referred to the proper committee.

An ordinance requiring each person engaged in collecting garbage for profit to pay a license fee of $50 per year was introduced by Councilman Upham. The fee exacted is to maintain the city dumpground. The ordinance, because it was not believed broad enough in scope, was referred to the ordinance committee to report back at next meeting.

 GOOD TASTE WITH ECONOMY

There is a new joy in bringing to the home such an atmosphere as Colonial Draperies give. In their warmth of color and beauty of design they not only serve their own purpose but radiate a rest-inviting air throughout every room in which they are used. Proof of this is in the contrast between the homes made comfortable and attractive with Colonial Draperies and the homes which are conspicuous for the cheerless, uninviting atmosphere of undraped or poorly draped rooms.

New York City Houses Want Young Oregon Men

Highclass State U. Graduates May Get Chances to Enter Some of Country's Greatest Concerns.

University of Oregon, Eugene, April 19.—To go direct from Oregon to service in one of the greatest business establishments of New York city is an experience made possible for several University of Oregon men through an offer from the school of commerce of Oregon school of commerce is on the lookout for suitable persons and has as yet selected none. Graduates are preferred, but a student who will graduate this June is not barred.

The idea developed from desires expressed by such concerns as the United States Steel corporation, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the Ingersoll Watch company, the National City bank, to secure men trained for foreign business. A number of leading New York business houses followed suit.

The companies will pay men employed under this plan $60 to $75 a month on a year's contract, the men to give one-half their time to business studies in New York university during the college year, and the remaining half and the full vacation period to the business houses. The arrangement is thus virtually a business fellowship. The contracts are renewable with a probable advance in pay, and it is hoped the men will show sufficient ability and character to fit them to take important permanent positions in three or four years.

The opportunity is considered an unusual one for young Oregon men planning on business career, few of whom have hitherto been able to break into Backus, inspector here, whose term expires late in July. Before leaving Washington, Caminetti denied that his visit forecasted any general shakeup in the coast immigration stations.
