Holland-American Liner Badly Crippled

New York, May 26.—Convoyed by warships of the American Atlantic fleet, the Holland-American liner Ryndam this afternoon is moving slowly toward port, after having been rammed off Nantucket during a thick fog early today by the steel freighter Joseph J. Cuneo. Her 78 passengers and all but 10 of her crew of 200 were taken off the Ryndam a few hours after the collision. Captain Van Den Houbel remained aboard to direct the efforts to bring his ship into port before she goes down.

Indications are that the Ryndam is in a serious condition, but it is hoped she may be saved. Whether the stricken liner's passengers are aboard the Cuneo or the American battleship South Carolina is not clear. First wireless dispatches said the Cuneo had taken them off, but radiograms received by the government indicated that at least a part of them had been placed on board the battleship.

Battalion O. N. G., and Captain Max Gehlbir, of Company M, will go to Chemawa tomorrow forenoon to be present as judges of the military drills to be put on in competition by the cadet battalion.

This is the last week that you can buy first class photographic work at a 20 per cent discount. Don't wait for the weather to clear up. I guarantee satisfaction. Mrs. Maude B. Cox, fourth floor Hubbard building.

Ella Anderson, the middle-aged woman arrested by the police on Monday evening, was given a charge of begging yesterday afternoon. She said she did not care much for Salem anyway, and left town. The charge against her was dismissed.

All Artisans and friends are invited to the "Woodland Dance" given by the Arto-Frisco club this evening at Moose hall.

The Cherrians will hold their regular drill tonight and regularly hereafter every Friday, Monday and Wednesday evenings. The drill on Monday evening was passed on account of the Commercial club banquet at the Marion. From now on, it is the intention not to permit anything to interfere with the regular drills.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will entertain with a "hard times" social Friday afternoon in the church parlors. Those attending are supposed to dress in keeping with the occasion.

Harvey Slater, eldest son of Judge and Mrs. W. T. Slater, who graduated this year in medicine at Johns Hopkins university, will return home about the 15th of June. After a short visit with his parents here he enters as an interne of the largest hospital in St. Paul, Minn.

The school of music, Willamette university, will hold a graduating recital at the First Methodist church Friday evening. The graduates in piano are Misses Beaman, Watson and Kunz, and Miss Francis Dimick is the only voice graduate. To this recital the public is invited.

The funeral services of Ira Erb will be held tomorrow from the chapel of Bigdon & Richardson. The services at the cemetery will be under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, Sedgewick Post No. 10, of which he was a member. Pallbearers will be selected from the G. A. O. U. W., Old Fellows and the G. A. R., deceased having been a member of these lodges.

The law firm of Walter E. Keyes and Dana H. Allen will move next Monday from their present location in the U. S. National bank building to the Bank of Commerce building, fifth floor. With so many law firms located in the Bank of Commerce building, there is a movement on foot to secure a special library room, in which will be kept reference books and other law books for the use of the lawyers in the building.

At a meeting held last night by the members of the Business Men's league, a resolution was passed in which the league recommended the closing of all stores at noon next Monday, Memorial day. The following resolution, introduced by George F. Rodgers, was passed after a general discussion: "Resolved, That we participate and heartily endorse the new organization and upon the perfection of that organization, and the granting to us of our charter, that we affiliate with that body."

At the annual commonwealth conference to be held at Eugene this week beginning Thursday, Max Gehlbir will deliver an address on "The Salem Charter Revision Committee." J. H. Albert, president of the Capital City bank, will take part in the discussion Saturday on "How to Develop the State. A plan to meet the existing development needs to cooperate." The goal points discussion will also come up Saturday with Edward I. Cantino delivering the closing address.

The dramatic society of the high school, the "Stocks," played to a capacity house last evening, when they presented "The Engagement of Helen." The parts in the play were all appropriately assigned, as each of the players seemed especially adapted to their parts. Beatrice Walton, as the college girl, and Beatrice Myers as "Mrs. Richardson," were taken in a natural manner. Alvin Baker, Victor Bradson, Lyle Bartholomew, Allan Carson and Edward Rangel all showed the careful training of Mrs. Mae Higgins, under whose direction the play was given. Assisting the play in music numbers were Iva Schomaker, who sang "The Little Gray Home in the West," and a piano solo by Hare-Mills.

BATTLESHIP BRINGS CREW.

New York, May 26.—The battleship South Carolina, with 78 passengers and 151 members of the crew from the liner Ryndam will arrive at the entrance of the harbor here at 6 o'clock tonight. The Ryndam is being conveyed to port by the battleship Texas, and is also expected to reach Sandy Hook tonight. The officers and 49 members of the crew are still aboard the injured liner. Tugs will meet the Ryndam and the rescue fleet off Ambrose.

CROP AND MARKET SITUATION IN HOPS STILL "IN THE AIR"

Rains Beneficial to Growth of Vines But Yield Doubtful --Some Contracting

While it is conceded that the present rains will be of great benefit to the growing hops nobody has cared to venture even the remotest guess at the effect they will have upon the probable yield and the market prospects as these are matters which seem to be very "much in the air and there are no two so-called authorities who agree in the essential details of either.

It is a fact, nevertheless, that many of the yards which looked very sickly and unpromising before the rains set in have taken on new life and are putting forth a sturdy and very encouraging growth. On the other hand there were many yards which were not trained and the continued rains are working a hardship upon the growers in this respect. The "missing hill" question is, however, not influenced or improved under the present weather conditions and the future of the market is in such an unsettled and uncertain condition that few growers are taking the trouble or going to the expense of replacing dead roots.

There is little interest manifest in the market for futures at the present 1915 crop is reported at 10 1/2 to 11 cents to the dealers but the Oregon hop growers' association is forging ahead and doing business every day that it is possible for the field agents to get into the country and growers are signing up their crops continually. Last week a contract for 25,000 pounds of 1915s was reported in Marion county for 10 cents, and some scattered lots were also reported in the vicinity of McMinnville, but, on the same days these contracts were reported the association signed up 1,000 bales in Washington county (approximately 200,000 pounds) and 50,000 pounds in another. Lane county lot was signed up upon the same day. Other growers have signed up the association in the meantime and the quantity of 1915 hops which the organization will control this year is steadily increasing and assuming immense proportions.

Contracting with the dealers and signing up membership with the association, however, present two entirely different phases to the grower which, the officers of the association claim, contract prices to the grower being equal, reflect favor upon the association plan in that, while it will be impossible for the grower to realize more than the stipulated price in the contract with the dealer under any and all market conditions of the future and he stands in danger of having his hops rejected and forced to accept any old price the dealer sees fit to pay him for a first class quality of product, the grower is assured the full contract price, based upon quality, under the association membership and stands a good show for a premium above that price should the market advance.

Under an association membership the grower is guaranteed from 8 to 11 cents, according to quality up to choice, for his product whether sold or not. If, however, the market should be above that the grower receives all the same grade of hops as his brings above the commission to the association, and the stockholder member of the association also is entitled to receive a dividend of the funds collected by the association over and above the actual cost of conducting the business and maintaining the association headquarters. It is yet too early for anybody to make an intelligent forecast upon the crop and market conditions and the latter will remain problematical until war conditions are somewhat settled.

Highland Mothers Club Elects New Officers

Tuesday afternoon the Highland Mothers' club held the final meeting of the present term. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Mrs. Smart; vice president, Mrs. Wilbur; secretary, Mrs. Hill, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. L. Cooper.

The discussion of leaving the playgrounds of the school open for the summer was taken up and voted upon to the effect that most of the mothers preferred having their children play at home rather than sending them to the playgrounds under the supervision of some one else.

It was decided to have a general social time at the close of school, in form of a picnic supper on the school grounds, weather permitting—and in the basement of the school if stormy. This will include the fathers as well as the mothers and children.

Local Astronomer Locates Ancient Fowling Piece

E. L. McAdam, the local astronomer, stopped prospecting for sun spots yesterday for a while and began grubbing in his orchard at his home at 245 D street. The habit of discovery had become so firmly implanted, however, that Mr. McAdam was not content until he dug up the barrel of an old rifle about two feet below the surface of the ground. With the aid of acids and a wire brush an inscription on the barrel showed that the gun was in service in 1841. Had the rust been removed from the inside of the barrel a nickel could have been dropped in. It was pronounced to be a muzzle loading "Barab" gun. The inscription cut in the side of the barrel was "A. V. MDCCCXXII."

A Kansas groom fainted during the ceremony. Fortunately his mother was present and she called the people's attention.

BURSELL HEARING ON MURDER CHARGE TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Justice Webster Grants Continuance of Case for Preliminary Trial

After spending the night in reviewing the incidents that lead up to the murder of his neighbor Clarence O. Bursell looked hollow eyed and worried in jail this morning but still declined to discuss the killing of Charles C. Zimmerman upon the advice of his attorneys, Carson and Brown. Sheriff Esch, Deputy Oscar Bowers and Coroner Clough returned from the scene of the shooting at 4:30 yesterday afternoon bringing their prisoner back to this city where he was lodged in jail. Coroner Clough said there would be no inquest held as there was but one witness to the shooting, Frank Bowen, and he was so far away he heard none of the quarrel. The only other available witnesses were the wives of the parties and both women were too excited to talk coherently. Bursell admits that he killed Zimmerman, according to Coroner Clough and no inquest was deemed necessary.

According to the information brought back by the officers, the trouble first started about two years ago over a private road which ran between the Bursell and Zimmerman farms. This road was widened to a county road and the men have not spoken to each other in a friendly manner since the first trouble. This forenoon Zimmerman was working in this lane cutting sorgrass with a scythe when Bursell came along the road from a neighbor's house. Bursell carried a .22 calibre rifle or his arm and when he and Zimmerman became engaged in the quarrel he fired at Zimmerman with the rifle. As nearly as could be learned, the first shot missed and the second hit Zimmerman in the top of the head. Zimmerman then grabbed the rifle and wrested it from Bursell's hands as he fell to the ground from the shock. Bursell when thus disarmed, drew a .32 calibre automatic pistol from his pocket and fired three shots at Zimmerman as he lay on the ground. One entered the right side of his head behind the ear, one penetrated his forehead over the right eye and the other scratched the top of his head putting two holes through his hat.

The rifle was left lying near the body of the victim with one exploded shell in the chamber and an empty one lying on the ground with the other three picked up by the officers. Bursell went to his home, changed his clothes and went to Silverton where he gave himself up to constable Frank Simmer, informing this officer that he had killed a man. The sheriff's office was immediately notified and Sheriff Esch and Coroner Clough went to the scene of the murder where they found the body lying where it had fallen against a telephone pole. It was raining but a quilt had been spread over the face which was covered with blood.

It was stated by the neighbors who were present when the officers arrived that threats had been passed between the men before and that the killing was half expected by many of them.

Bursell is 46 years of age and has a wife and one child. Zimmerman was 54 years old and is survived by a wife and two children. Both men had lived in the neighborhood since they were boys and both were reported to be hard working men who were good citizens but who held a grudge against each other which was brought to a close only by the death of one of the parties.

STOLE VALUABLE JEWELS.

San Francisco, May 26.—The police today are making every effort to run down the thief who last night stole a pink chamois bag containing jewels valued at several thousand dollars, from the pockets of Louis Benussi, a wealthy produce broker, after he had been crushed to death in the automatic elevator of the De La Sierra apartments, where he lived. Starting for the elevator, Benussi and his wife entered the elevator, which suddenly dropped, catching the broker in the entrance of the cage.

For more than an hour the hysterical woman lay in the darkness of the cage by the side of her dying husband, while firemen harked away the woodwork to release the imprisoned couple. When the police arrived at the Central Emergency hospital the man was dead. Later Mrs. Benussi, remembering about the jewels, asked a friend to go to the hospital and get them. At the hospital no trace of the missing gems could be found. It is believed that the thief obtained the gems while a number of men were working to release the injured man from the elevator.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, one of the foremost of living medical men, formerly of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and now Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1902), on page 20: "The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacilli have been found." "In the granulation tissue which is formed, while the smaller cavernous areas become impregnated with lime salts, to which conditions alone should the term healing be applied." "Many eminent medical authorities have testified to the efficacy of lime salts in the treatment of tuberculosis, and the success of Edman's Alternative in this and allied chest and bronchial affections may be due partly to the fact that it contains a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated." "Widespread use of this remedy in numerous cases of tuberculosis, many of which appear to have yielded completely to it—justifies our belief that it is a most valuable and successful treatment already in some cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, and that it contains many more than the ordinary emulsive promises with the perspiration, but we know of many cases in which it HAS HELPED." "Your druggist has it or can get it, or you can send direct to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia.
