

Hood's Cures

"I am Truly Thankful for Hood's Sarsaparilla. In the war I contracted typhoid fever and fever and ague, leaving me with muscular and mental prostration from which I have suffered ever since. In 1893, I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have not lost a day's work in 3 months, and am in better health than any time since the war." J. H. GILLMAN, Chelsea, Pa.

STAGE GLINTS. It is rumored that John Stetson will star Roth Carpenter in "Featherbrain" next season.

Next season Corinne will appear only in Gill and Frazer's new burlesque, "Hendrik Hudson."

Mme. Tavery has engaged Payne Clark as the leading tenor for her opera company next season.

E. H. Sothern will next season produce a play written for him by Robert Buchanan and based on the life and times of Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

The venerable curiosities of the Boston Museum have been given to the National Historical society, and the space they occupied will be used for offices.

Charles Frohman has announced that in so far as possible his Empire theater, New York, is to be devoted to the production of plays by American authors.

John Drew will have next season a new play by Henry Guy Carlton, and one which Henry C. de Mille had nearly finished at the time of his death. Mr. Drew resumes work in September.

Richard Harlow, who plays the part of Queen Isabella of Castile in Rice's burlesque "1492," does it so well that he is alleged to have aroused the jealousy of Theresa Vaughan, the prima donna of that company.

Joseph Brooks, manager of William H. Crane, has contracted with J. H. McVicker to place a stock company in the latter's theater in Chicago each summer, beginning next May, the contract to run for five years. Mr. Brooks supplies the players and plays. The first work to be produced will be by Augustus Thomas.

POSTOFFICE ANNALS. B. C. 550—Cyrus of Persia erected posthouses and established a regular system of couriers. Both private and public dispatches were forwarded.

B. C. 500—The courier system which now prevails in China was put in operation.

B. C. 81—Augustus introduced the system of regular carriers throughout the Roman empire, mainly for the use of the government. Merchants and citizens were allowed on payment of large fees to send business and friendly letters by the imperial messengers.

800—Charlemagne established a system of weekly couriers throughout the extent of his empire and of daily messengers between the principal cities. Much use was made of these couriers by merchants and bankers in spite of the great cost of sending letters.

1156—The University of Paris established a system of foot messengers, who bore letters for its thousands of students from every country in Europe and brought them money from home.

1470—Louis XI first established posthouses and relays of horses between important parts of France. This act was said at the time to be due to his intense eagerness to hear news of any kind.

1481—During the war with Scotland in the reign of Edward IV post stations were established from London to Scotland, and riders on horseback, changed at every station, brought intelligence of all that went on in the army.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Devotion of a Canine Mother. Half a dozen small boys, a shepherd dog and her five puppies and a box of matches caused a $500 fire in Allegheny.

The dog and her puppies were kept in a vacant stall in the rear of George W. Evans' livery and feed stables on East street, near Elm street, and the boys were looking at the pups through a knothole in the side of the building, and in order to get a better view of them held lighted matches to the knothole. One of the lighted matches fell through the knothole into the straw in the stall and set it on fire. The boys seeing the blaze ran away for fear and did not give the alarm. The fire was discovered by a policeman.

When the fire broke out, the mother of the puppies made a heroic effort to save her offspring and succeeded in carrying them all to a place of safety except one. She had to leap over a high barrier to get out of the stall, and the last one she carried out was all ablaze when she sprang from the flames with it in her mouth. Her grief at not being able to rescue the last was evident, and she had to be held to keep her from rushing back into the flames for it.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

SELECTIONS

MOST PEOPLE READY TO RISK IT.

Greenbacks and Bank Notes Carry Bacteria. Representative Outhwaite of Ohio has taken up and in view of the danger of cholera invasion will press vigorously at the next session of congress a proposition for the frequent exchange of soiled paper money for new notes.

An investigation made at his suggestion has shown that old greenbacks and bank notes contain the germs of disease to an unusual degree and that there is reason for apprehension of them as a producer of disease.

In view of the necessity of the utmost precaution against the spread of cholera in this country this summer Mr. Outhwaite has introduced a bill directing the secretary of the treasury to make the necessary regulations to secure the "speedy and frequent redemption of all United States paper currency and all national bank notes which have become soiled, impure, unclean or otherwise unfit for use when presented in sums of not less than $100, and for the preparation and issue of new United States paper currency in place of such as shall have been redeemed."

The subject was first brought to Mr. Outhwaite's attention by Dr. C. F. Clark of Columbus, and soon afterward the Bankers' association of Ohio adopted a report in favor of legislation to secure a frequent exchange of notes. Dr. J. C. Graham, bacteriologist of Starling Medical college, was asked to make an investigation, and his report discloses the fact that old paper money is as full of bacteria as eggs are said to be of meat.

Dr. Graham writes that he made an examination of eight bills, a $1 bill of the series of 1878 showed three kinds of bacteria, and one of the series of 1896 two kinds. Two $2 bills of the same series showed one bacterium each, and another dollar bill, series of 1896, two kinds. The bills were all much worn and very dirty.

The examination of the notes showed that on each of them were a number of bacteria colonies which might some day, under some circumstances, develop energy enough to immigrate to the human system. One of the bills had 13 colonies of two kinds of bacteria. The doctor says that it yet remains to determine the nature of the various microbes to ascertain whether they be pathogenic germs capable of producing disease. This work will require considerable time. The roughened surface of old bills affords a place for disease germs, and attention should be called to it.—New England Stationer and Printer.

The Stage in England. The Standard says it is not denied that the art of acting in England, like the art of playwrighting, has suffered from the influence of Mrs. Grundy. If we had better and greater plays—plays of more ambition and more daring—we should probably see an improvement in the mimetic art. It is true that the insular potentate whom we have named does not exercise quite as much authority as she did. Still she has by no means abdicated her position, and it is impossible to predict or foresee at what particular moment she will reassert her imperious prerogative.

The young ladies of the period have, no doubt, burst a good many of the trammels which were endured patiently by their mothers at a similar period of life. But la jeune miss is still a personage on this side of the channel, and though she herself may be slow to be shocked her elders and demas are shocked for her.

It is apparently assumed that nothing is shocking in French, and we have no doubt that scores of mothers will take their daughters to Drury Lane to see "Frou Frou" or "Le Monde on l'on s'ennuie" who would ask with horror whether the lord chamberlain was dead if situations at all analogous to those in either of these comedies were represented in honest English. We are a curious people, and it is certain the French think us so. Their best comedies are seen on the stage. Our most amusing ones are to be seen off it.—London Public Opinion.

Fear in Times of Pestilence. During an epidemic of any kind each individual should endeavor, as indeed he should under any circumstances, to maintain his mental equilibrium—in other words, to keep cool. It is very difficult in our time to accomplish this for the simple reason that some journals think it their duty to print sensational headlines and sometimes sensational paragraphs, which have very little actual foundation, but which excite and terrify the timid and sometimes even the brave hearted.

The writer was once in a foreign country where an epidemic was prevalent. He never knew how violent it was until he received the newspapers from his own country describing it. Such an effect did they have upon his friends that he was written to by several of them urging him to fly at once, when as a matter of fact he was in no more danger than he would have been in his own dwelling at home. The cholera was only prevalent among the vicious, intemperate and ignorant classes, who violated the most ordinary rules of personal cleanliness, and yet the news sent from the same places intimated that every individual, even in places entirely free from cholera, was likely soon to be attacked and swept off the earth.—Dr. B. St. John Ross in Engineering.

A Slip of the Tongue. A man was tried for theft at the Oxford assizes. The foreman of the jury when giving the verdict made a mistake and said "Not guilty" instead of "Guilty." Though he wished to rectify the mistake, he could not do so, and the man was released from custody.—Chicago News.

Portrait of Supreme Recorder W. W. Backett—Chiefs From the Bench.

The twenty-first stated meeting of the supreme lodge Ancient Order of United Workmen of North America convened in the city of Toronto on Tuesday, June 30. It is only one in a term of years that the supreme lodge can visit any particular jurisdiction, and it is an auspicious event in the history of the order locally when its chief legislative body does hold a meeting in a particular state or province.

The supreme lodge is especially interested in the jurisdiction it is visiting, and the members of the jurisdiction should be particularly interested in the work of the supreme lodge honoring it by its visit. There has been much interest in the relief law question.

The grand lodge of Manitoba numbered over 3,000 May 1, and it expects to reach the 2,000 mark by August next.

Balance in relief fund June 1, 1895, $8,943.62.

The grand lodge of Ontario voted $1,200 for the purpose of entertaining the representatives of the supreme body.

The degree of honor does one good thing at least. It brings out the bald heads, who not only occupy the front seats, but are the friends of all.

The supreme lodge enacts the general laws of the order and is of course interested in having its own laws enforced.

ROYAL ARCANUM. Buildings For the Use of the Order—Membership of the Various States.

The brethren in Maryland have secured the elegant Johns Hopkins homestead and converted it into a Royal Arcanum building. In Philadelphia and Brooklyn the brethren are moving toward the erection of suitable buildings for the use of the order.

Unique council of Jersey City is to have a fine building, and Conewago council of North Warren, Pa., has had a building of its own for 10 years. The grand councils of Illinois, Massachusetts and Missouri have for several years maintained headquarters for the grand officers, and Ohio is to do the same.

The grand council of Massachusetts at its recent session gave authority to the grand officers to hire and fit up a hall for the use of the grand council, and also the subordinate councils of Boston.

New York has 214 councils and 29,348 members; Pennsylvania, 308 councils, 16,238 members; Massachusetts, 143 councils, 14,267 members; Illinois, 84 councils, 10,631 members; Ohio, 129 councils, 9,258 members; New Jersey, 81 councils, 8,888 members; Michigan, 70 councils, 5,895 members; Maryland, 31 councils, 4,387 members; Missouri, 33 councils, 4,127 members.

Dr. J. H. Wright of Allegheny, Pa., is one of the seven men who founded the order. He was the first regent of the council and is still regarded as one of the most valuable men in the order.

During 1892 New York initiated 4,738 members; Pennsylvania, 1,493; Illinois, 1,266; New Jersey, 1,252; Massachusetts, 1,080.

There has been an increase of 78 subordinate councils during the year. Deputies are at work in Maine, Vermont, Nebraska and Kansas.

Henry Goodwin, supreme guide, comes from Boston and is widely known in the literary circles of the city of culture. Mr. Goodwin is the proprietor of the Crawford House, which is the rendezvous of the literateurs of the "Hub" and a favorite place for holding literary banquets.

The supreme council is composed of a fine looking lot of men, many of whom are of more than state repute.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR. Supreme Officers Elected by Acclamation. Notes of the Order.

The eleventh annual session of the supreme lodge was held in Milwaukee with 150 delegates in attendance. For the first time in years the Knights of Honor elected their supreme officers by acclamation.

Supreme Dictator Klatsop was nominated for the same position, but declined. The officers elected are: Supreme dictator, Marsden Bellamy, Wilmington, N. C.; supreme vice dictator, John Mulligan, Yonkers, N. Y.; supreme assistant vice dictator, J. W. Golbeck, Philadelphia; supreme reporter, B. F. Nelson, St. Louis; supreme treasurer, John W. Branch; supreme chaplain, Rev. H. M. Hope, Virginia; supreme guide, John H. Hancock, Louisville; supreme guardian, John P. Shannon, Elberton, Ga.; supreme sentinel, J. W. Smith, South Boston; supreme trustees, George S. Hallmark, Pennsylvania; W. R. Cantrell, Boston, Ill.; and J. A. Whitthouse, Baltimore.

The report of the grand dictator showed that last year 32 assessments were called, amounting to $4,379,400.97, with a net gain in the W. O. B. fund of $186,166.60.

The report of the uniform rank shows 51 commenderies on April 30 last and 8,969 Knights and a membership on Jan. 1 of 124,099.

From Jan. 1, 1892, to March 31, 1893, $1,041,569.88 were received and $1,038,500 disbursed, leaving a balance in the treasury of $3,069.88.

The report of the committee of physicians shows that last year 2,066 deaths occurred, a decrease of 85, with a death rate of 16.2, an increase of one-half per cent over that of last year.

Knights of the Golden Eagle. During the 17 years of the history of the grand castle of Pennsylvania only 17 subordinate councils have surrendered their charters, a remarkable showing, demonstrating the wisdom of the policy of the grand officers of giving encouragement and even sustenance to the weaker, struggling castles. It is better to save one charter than to create two new ones.

The report of Grand Master of Records J. D. Barnes showed that there were 470 castles in Pennsylvania, with a total membership of 45,000, a net gain for the year of 1,513 members and $60,000 in finance.

The military branch of the order elected William E. Steinbach, Philadelphia, major general; Colonel Henry P. Heinicke, Philadelphia, brigadier general of First brigade, and Louis B. Walters, Philadelphia, brigadier general, Second brigade.

SIX SPASMS A DAY. Dr. Miles Medical Co. Elkhart, Ind.

Dr. Miles: I never lost an opportunity to mention Dr. Miles' Nervine to any one afflicted with nervous complaints with the assurance that it will not disappoint them. When our boy was fifteen months old he was started with violent spasms. Somebody told him he would have five or six spasms a day. We tried many different remedies without benefit; finally our boy was cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine. We used three bottles, and I am happy to say the child was ENTIRELY CURED. We used no other remedy, and his cure is complete. He is now 17 years old and perfectly healthy. You are at liberty to use my name in connection with the facts of this wonderful recovery. M. S. HAZARD, Agent Pacific Express Co. Hastings, Nebraska, April 6th, 1902.
