WHITE SALMON NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Emmons arrived last week from Iowa City, Ia. They will make their home in the Perry neighborhood.

J. H. Bussenshot of Gilmer was in town Monday.

Miss Verna Emmons of Pine Flat went to Lyle, Saturday, where she will teach a three-months' term of school.

Miss Clara Blithe of Hood River is visiting with C. M. Wolfard and family.

Blad Thomas, who has been visiting in White Salmon for the past three weeks, returned to Portland, Monday.

Mr. Thomas expects to leave Portland for Alaska, April 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harlan are visiting in Portland.

Everybody enjoyed the play, Jumbo June, which was given Thursday evening at the opera house, by the Hot Air club.

This was their first attempt at anything of the kind, and they deserve a great deal of credit for their effort.

Edward Dreke, who took the part of Mr. Gobbleton, did well and his make-up was fine.

Mearle Fox, the negro, Jumbo June was funny as could be, but he only had to act natural.

Missie Wolfard and Frank Egan, the runaway lovers were all right, only they were somewhat frightened at one another.

Lydia Crow made a first rate house maid. She used Jumbo June shamefully.

The poor negro never knew that she didn't wish he hadn't. Ed Egan was something new in the lawyer line.

He didn't say much, but what he did say was good.

We all felt sorry for Mr. Gobbleton in the last act, when he opened a door expecting a young woman who had come to offer herself in marriage, but was disappointed when he discovered the woman to be his wife, who was supposed to be dead.

Anna Wolfard took the Mrs. Gobbleton part and did well, especially the hysterical part. In the near future they expect to give another play and they can rest assured that they will have a full house.

Dr. Gearhart and Mearle Fox both brought fish this week on Jewett avenue.

Barrett District.

The ground hog is still housed up.

The delegates, and those who were not delegates to the county convention have returned and all are perfectly happy.

E. E. Register has arranged his household goods on wheels and says he is now prepared to move any distance.

This time, however, he goes into the Brosius house at the junction of the roads, 2 1/2 miles south of town.

George Wilson left Tuesday for Portland to attend the prohibition convention. George also carried the proxies of Messrs. Angus and Cash, and will undoubtedly control the nominations.

As we have said before, Great is Barrett (and Hoole is her prophet.)—Ed

C. P. Ross, formerly a resident of this district but now in the employ of the R. & N. at Wallula Junction, was a welcome visitor last week. He said he got so homesick for a sight of the old place that he just couldn't stand it, and so took a run down.

He was greatly and pleasantly surprised at the immense improvements made here.

S. Cochran of Pleasant Grove farm just received the information, that four of his cousins lost their lives in the theater fire at Chicago.

This community grieves with Mr. Cochran in the loss of his relatives.

Thomas Bishop, sr., left Friday for a trip to Sherman county, where he owns a wheat farm which he desires to lease.

Fred Dunn has rented the Richardson place and will move into the domicile this week.

It was decided at the social that A. B. Cash was the craziest of the many. His character of Simple Simon being perfectly represented. He was voted the prize for looking the most natural. The prize was a jumping jack.

We do not much like to administer rebukes, yet we feel it our duty to call attention to the fact that notorious rudeness does not sustain a crazy character, and we would advise a visit to an asylum to some of those who attended the crazy social; there to get some pointers as to how to impersonate a crazy character without losing your own identity. We trust that some of the young men of this vicinity may never again give us occasion to call attention to any misbehavior on their part. Always act politely, no matter what character you represent.

The ladies' aid of the Valley Christian church were unfortunate in having miserable weather for their day at Booth's, yet everything considered they did exceedingly well, owing to no doubt, the attractive personality of the clerks. Everybody seemed to be perfectly at home in their stations. The ladies obeyed the scriptures in that when they met a stranger, they took him in and fed him.

Your correspondent attempted to get up a flirtation with the blond clerk, but she quietly snubbed him until he dug up his last piece of silver and for the next week will have to subsist on roots and things. All are loud in praise of the managers of Booth's store, for their polite assistance and large generosity in donating so liberally to the cause of Christianity. The large store room was profusely decorated, and the display of fancy articles, made by the ladies expressly for this sale, was the center of attraction for the female patrons.

W. R. Hoole brought in the largest load and thereby won the premium offered. Rev. A. A. Beery attempted to sell some goods, but from his description, the customer was unable to tell if it was check apron or a mince pie he was trying to sell, so he was quietly ushered to the front side of the counter, and requested to become a customer himself.

The ladies' aid desires us to return to Mr. Booth the thanks of the society and the church for his generosity in giving them the use of his store on March 24.

Will Dunn has leased the Emmel place and will move his family, that is, he will move over and she—well, there ought to be a shot and she ought to move over, so, we suppose it will pass in due course of time.

Mr. E. Johnson and W. L. Register of Sherman county, mother and brother of E. E. Register of this district, are visiting in the relative and inspecting the valley. They drove through with a team and encountered some of the worst roads that they have ever seen. They expect to remain all summer. We welcome them as permanent settlers, for although Mr. Register is developing one of the best farms in the southern portion of Sherman county, we feel positive that should he remain one summer here Sherman will have lost all attraction for him.

Ray Imbler has been on the sick list for the past ten days, but we are glad to state is now able to be around again, and has his garments arranged correctly.

Seeing the necessity for an energetic, wide-awake, progressive business firm of real estate agents, Barrett, as usual, steps into the breach and presents two of her citizens, C. L. Copple and W. R. Hoole, both men of large business experience and having an extensive acquaintance throughout the valley. They have associated themselves together under the firm name of Copple & Hoole, and will deal in real estate, attend to auction sales, loan money, write insurance, etc. You will find it to your interest to give them your patronage. They will treat you fairly. Their office is located one door east of Gram's dry goods store, where Temple's jewelry store was formerly located.

Miss Amy Brosius, Viola Wilson and Edna DuPre represented three old maids at the social, and had it not been for their sweet faces all would have been thoroughly convinced that they were truly and in fact what they represented.

We understand that the crazy social given at the beautiful home of Mrs. A. L. Parker, was a very decided success, there being almost 100 in attendance, most of whom were attired in some fancy or fantastic costume. Some of the former were very pretty and becoming, and many of the latter ridiculous.

Where so many participated and where so many of the costumes were so appropriate, space will not permit us to particularize. Sufficient to say that all did remarkably well and everybody enjoyed themselves as only crazy socials do when given an opportunity.

We understand, however, that one of the young men in attempting to sustain the character of a light-weight change artist became so entangled in his garments that for the balance of the evening it was good guess to tell whether he was going or coming.

J. C. Emmel of Sherwood spent a part of last week in our district arranging the affairs of his deceased son.

Write at The Dalles convention we had the pleasure of meeting the "Little White Store" man. Mr. Shelley seems to be pretty well posted in politics, and will no doubt at some future time be called to some responsible position in the gift of the people.

We understand there are several new cases of smallpox in this neighborhood. If such is the case we trust that those afflicted will use every precaution to prevent the spreading of this dread disease. We cannot be too careful.

Mrs. McKeown, who has been visiting her daughter at The Dalles, returned Monday evening.

The entertainment given in connection with the Endeavor services and the lecture given by Rev. A. A. Beery last Sunday evening at the Valley Christian church, drew the inattention of the weather, well attended. The feature of the evening was the fine work of the lady ushers, who thoroughly understood the work assigned them, even if some of the boys did slip into the back seats.

The music rendered was simply grand, and those who failed to attend missed a rare treat.

Odell Notes.

Mr. Poole of The Dalles is visiting friends at Odell.

L. M. Wilson will soon build a home on the land recently purchased from Mrs. Lenz.

There is some palliation for bad roads when it becomes necessary to build a circular platform of lumber for the horse to tread on in order to saw wood by horse power out in the open. For further information see B. T. Young.

About 40 head of horses were recently brought down for winter quarters in the bunch grass and distributed among their owners here. Some of them were found in the harness and with sore shoulders and nearly all of them are so poor that it will require a much to feed as they would have eaten all winter to put them in condition for spring work.

The patrons in this neighborhood of route No. 1 are just a little bit anxious to know whether or not the mail service is to be continued or cut out altogether.

At any rate it seems about time for an explanation. Mr. Bailey has the sympathy of the entire community in his affliction, but it does not seem unreasonable that at the end of two weeks with no service, that the question be asked: Why is not a substitute furnished?

The republican county ticket nominated last week is considered a strong one in this section and should win out easily at the poll next June.

Just now we are long on water. How will it be next summer?

For some time Odell creek has been on the rampage. The noise of its waters is like the breaking of the surf upon the shore. The music of the deep, still waters of peace, crowned with victory—the reward of a well-spent life.

Mount Hood Notes.

Frank Shafer went to Hood River, last Saturday, to meet his brother, who is coming to Mount Hood.

Some of the boys went to work at the Davenport mill, where four or five are at work yet; the rest having returned to the hotel Spencer, where they are exceeding bear ment in the near future.

H. E. Davenport has a crew of men repairing the roof of the mill. He says the damage was very slight outside of what was done to the roof, and all will be repaired in a few days.

Joseph Patterson is carrying his arm in a sling, having cut it with an ax. It is the same old story. He was splitting stove wood and held the stick in his hand when his ax handle struck the split-split block and the ax struck his arm, inflicting a very painful wound.

The school board opened the bids, last Monday, and found the Mount Hood Mill Co. had put in the lowest bid. So the mill company was awarded the contract to build and paint our new school house.

The snow is going off now and the mossbacks are getting ready to begin spring work. We have had a long winter for this place, and some of the boys report the snow from 7 to 12 feet deep on the Blue ridge.

Crapper Croppings.

After six weeks lay off on account of snow, rain, mud, silt and all kinds of bad weather imaginable, the farmers are getting out and making ready for spring work. Some are pruning their orchards, some are sowing land plaster and others doing various kinds of work. The ground is too wet for much work yet.

William Nichols went to Klondike, Sherman county, last week to put in his spring grain.

Very few berries will be set out in

SAVAGE'S

Notes from Underwood.

By the school children.

This is more like winter than spring. The weather profits must have made a mistake and given us spring in January, instead of now.

Quite a snow fell Sunday morning.

A few of the young people spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Haynes. Music and Pat were the order of the entertainment.

Most of the pupils have colds.

Examination is the order of the day.

Professor Cronwell's school closes Friday at Frankton, when he will take up his abode in his Clifton ranch.

School closes Friday, after eight months and a half of hard work. The children have certainly earned a much needed rest.

Miss Agnes Moore will leave Saturday for Cape Horn, where she is engaged to teach a three months' term of school.

This will be the last report from the school. We will lay aside our cares, and leave the work to some one else.

After our winter's labors, we now bid you adieu. [The Glacier takes this opportunity to thank the teacher and pupils of the Underwood school for a faithful service as newsgathers during the winter just closing. The notes always arrive punctually, are neatly written and Underwood readers have appreciated them. The Glacier hopes the children will continue the good work during vacation.—Ed.]

Chenoweth News Notes.

Fred Kautz is putting the machinery in the mill at Nelson creek. He expects to run two shifts when the mill starts.

John Pugh and S. T. Hinch were in Stevenson, Friday and Saturday.

B. F. Fuller is in Sherman county, but is expected home any day. His daughter has been sick.

Mill A will begin running again as soon as the weather permits.

R. M. Stone has moved into the property vacated by Ira Hewitt at Drano.

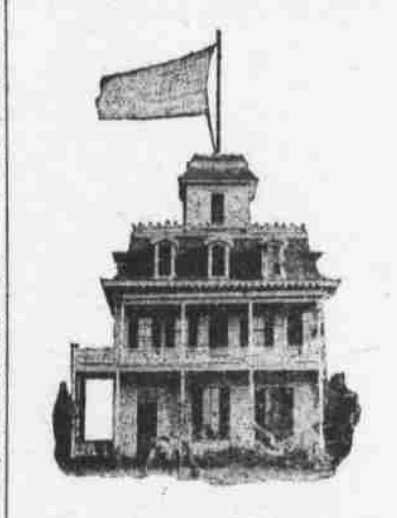

Dan Jones has his cattle down from Camas prairie, fattening along the bluffs at Drano.

Bear in mind the date of the public meeting—April 2.

Copple & Hoole will sell your property no matter where it is. Try them.
