DEER ISLAND

Bert Adams went to Portland on business. McConnell went to Portland on business. Robinson made a business trip Monday.

Missie Burns is teaching the Kerry camp near Clatskanie. Fay Larned and Cecil Remond left for their home in Yakima.

Mrs. Dopplemier were at the Bert Adams home for the week. Cook and Art Smith, end sawyer at the little mill, returned to Rainier.

Parsons of Kelso and Mrs. Hall have moved into the new house. Mr. Hall runs a truck between Deer Island and Rainier.

Miss Inez Boals went to Rainier Monday. S. M. Boals left Monday morning for the Kerry line.

Miss Annabelle Edmunds visited her aunt at Rainier during the week. Mrs. Kalunki made a week end trip to Portland, returning Sunday morning.

John McAdams and Conrad Benson flivvered to Rainier early Saturday morning. Miss Martha Kalunki who has been visiting in Portland for two weeks returned home Sunday morning.

Seaside, in setting his brakes too suddenly out near the Kelly place on the Nehalem road, caused the engine to backfire and an explosion resulted which completely wrecked the car. It was entirely burnt to a mass of junk.

While playing soldier at their home, about a mile and a half from the Columbia river highway, between Svenson and Knappa, late in the afternoon on Wednesday last, Cecil Eugene Welch, 13-year-old son of Charles Welch, shot and fatally wounded his 8-year-old brother, Raymond Russell Welch. The little fellow died a few moments later.

H. McKiel, pioneer merchant of Clatskanie, who left two weeks ago on an auto trip, accompanied by Mrs. McKiel and their son, George, returned Monday after a very pleasant outing. While away they visited in the western states, Washington, Idaho and Montana, returning through Eastern Oregon.

The storm Saturday night destroyed Mr. Bray's new barn. Ernest Atchinson of Delena visited with his grandparents Tuesday. Miss Anna Amato is visiting her brother at Midway, Washington.

Mrs. J. Dowling left for Portland Sunday night to be gone a week. Miss Elmer Fields and daughter Cora are visiting the home folks. Miss Annabelle Edmunds visited her aunt at Rainier during the week.

VERNONIA

The Woman Relief Corps had their big regular meeting Saturday. Harvey Duncan has recovered from his injuries and gone to work. Brick for the bank building arrived from Forest Grove Saturday.

Mrs. Kauffman and children have left for their home near Los Angeles, Calif. Revival meetings are in progress at the association camp ground and tabernacle. The big steam shovel of the U. C. Co. is at work on the Josh Rose place in the city.

The dance at the grange hall Saturday night was well attended and a good time reported. Ben Cline, wife and children and Herbert Condit and family returned from Seaside Sunday. Clifford Bergerson, Peter Bergerson and Roy Smith took a trip to Clatskanie to look at some tractors.

O. C. Spencer, attorney of Portland, Mrs. Spencer and children are camping out and visiting relatives at Vernonia. The surveyors crew with Mr. E. Messing locating engineer has established camp several miles above Keasey postoffice. Frank A. Harberg and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newell and son of Portland are guests at the Herman Greener home this week.

Wm. Batney of St. Helens is a new arrival at Vernonia. He is staying at his brother-in-law's, C. D. White, and working at the Ray & Mills saw mill. The Gypsies will be remembered by one person living near here. He lost a $50 bill by letting the fortune-teller put a luck-penny in his pocket-book. All efforts to recover it were futile.

Rev. Morris Heverling, wife and children arrived last week for a two or three weeks visit in the valley. They are domiciled at the Sidney Malmsten home while Mrs. Malmsten and children are at Seaside. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bennett and children spent Sunday night at the Herman Greener home. They were returning from Seaside to Portland. They will stop at Banks where Mrs. Bennett will visit her father, E. E. Nickerson.

His Honor, Judge Buzzlenot

"And I'm going to stay awhile, too," smilingly. "So?" "Yes. I told the Chief I'd be away several days."

Buzzlenot beamed comprehendingly; the "Chief" was Gilhooley. The girl was a picture, to be sure—worthy of Remington. Her black hair fell down in two long braids; she wore a beaded buckskin dress and moccasins. The red band around her head set off the dainty tanned face to perfection.

The Judge made her acquainted with the staring author, and suggested in a brusque, matter-of-fact way that although Rosalita would be the best guide in the country, it was out of the question to ask her. "Guide for what, Judge?" asked the girl.

He described the quest on which our scribe desired to sally forth, and feigned hesitation and infinite surprise when she said she wouldn't mind showing the gentleman a few points of interest. "Well, let us be off, Miss; I'll pay you good wages. I'm most anxious to begin my studies."

Our sanguine literateur was energetic, at any rate. Moreover, fired by his zeal and ardor for local color, the charming tints of the dusky maiden did not seem to catch his eye. If you think that I followed the uncharted peregrinations of this pair you are mistaken. Of what interest to me—a puling invalid—were the comings and goings of a calf-brained youth. I did, however, follow them to the door—for air more than anything else. I almost toppled them over the edge of the veranda in my rush—for air—due to the fact that they had halted suddenly and unexpectedly on the threshold. Before them stood Gilhooley—mad.

"What the devil do you mean, quittin' me dead in a roosh ay business?" he cried to the girl. "Come here a minute," she said, dragging her employer to the end of the veranda. The Judge, hearing the commotion, hurried out. Between them Gilhooley's wrath was placated in some diplomatic manner unknown to me. The girl returned to Oglethorpe. As was the daughter of a mighty Chieftan, the poverty of her warrior sire sometimes compelled her to do menial tasks for this unthankful Celt.

A Banking System That Has Helped Revolutionize the Farming Business. The operations of the Federal Reserve System are especially favorable to the farmer. His borrowings to cover cost of fertilizing, planting, harvesting and carrying his crop can be rediscounted by this bank with the Federal Reserve Bank, and an abundant supply of credit at a moderate rate thus secured. This bank realizes to the full the vital importance of extending to the farmers of this community the benefits resulting from its membership in the Federal Reserve System. Farming Is a Business. And like every business, it requires forms, records and blanks that give you the facts about your farm, just as a business man has them about his business. We print forms and letterheads (every business farmer should have his own letterhead) on Hammermill Bond, the Utility Business Paper. Let Us Show You What We Can Do for You

CLATSKANIE. (From the Chief.) A. Lake was down from St. Helens on Friday last, boosting for county fair and the organization of the Harding-Stanfield Republican Club. Meeting of the citizens of Clatskanie was called on Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a Harding-Stanfield Republican club. Members were elected and committees appointed. Wednesday evening a tourist party from California through to
