

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions produced from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation. To treat these eruptions with trying medicines is dangerous. The thing to do is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Which thoroughly cleanse the blood, expelling all humors and building up the whole system. They cure Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Jones, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he suffered some time; and Miss Alvina Wood, Box 212, Alcona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of Hood's than can be published.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

A Woman's Complexion.

In the spring, when the young man's fancy is lightly turning to thoughts of love, the young lady of fashion is spending her spare time over her complexion, for the winter months of close "filled rooms, late hours and the long round of dissipation demanded by society begin to tell strongly on the bloom of the feminine cheek and a thorough treatment must be given to tone up the system and bring back the freshness before summer arrives.

The first thing is to look well after the diet and see that it is wholesome and varied, and sufficient to quiet to keep up the strength.
Some skins in the spring of the year are subject to disfiguring eruptions and the most approved means of getting rid of this trouble is to take Vogler's Curative Compound, which purifies, cools and cleanses the blood from all impurities, and removes every trace of skin eruptions. Beware of any and all external face and skin remedies, such as lotions, powders, soaps, etc., many of which are absolutely dangerous, from the fact that they contain powerful chemicals, which have been known to mark and otherwise disfigure the face for life. Vogler's Curative Compound is made wholly from purely vegetable ingredients, from the formula of one of London's most noted living physicians, and has no equal for beautifying the complexion, because it purifies and cleanses the blood and makes pure rich red blood. It also tones up the system, gives an appetite, ensures sweet and peaceful sleep, invigorates and strengthens the entire nervous organization. It makes people well.

Irish Emigration.
The capacity of Ireland for sending out emigrants has been one of the marvels of the world. During 1901 the island sent out 39,870 emigrants, or nine in every 1,000 of population, of whom 80.5 per cent were between the ages of 15 and 35. Even this large total is some 7,000 smaller than that of 1900.

ODD FACTS FOR THE SMOKERS.

Information as to Tobacco and Its Use by the World.

A history of tobacco has just been published by W. S. Penn, an Englishman, under the title of "The Sovereign Herb." From it some curious facts can be drawn that will amuse, as well as instruct smokers.
It appears that the practice of smoking was at first a religious rite, and that it was taken in the sixteenth century from America to Europe, whence it spread to Asia. All three modes of using the weed—cigars, pipes and snuff—were found in vogue among the natives of America by the earliest discoverers. In the narrative of the first voyage of Columbus we are told of the astonishment of the Spaniards at seeing the natives of San Salvador puffing cigars, or, rather, enormous cigarettes. On his second voyage the islanders were observed snuffing the powdered leaf through a hollow cane. On the mainland pipe smoking was the universal custom, but still retaining much of a ritualistic character.

So tobacco went to Spain as cigars, to France (through Jean Nicot) as snuff, and was carried to England with the pipe by Ralph Lane, Governor of Virginia, on his return home in 1585. Raleigh, though he adopted the practice, was not (as is often stated) its introducer. England gave it to the Dutch, and the Dutch carried it to the Spice Islands and farthest Cathay, so that almost before the century closed tobacco had girdled the world. Not, however, without opposition. King James' futile crusade against the weed had no effect except to stimulate poets like Jonson, Ford, Sylvester and smaller fry to curry court favor by satirical abuse of smoking and smokers.

Shakespeare never alludes to the practice, and his silence may be interpreted either way. Sultans, shahs, Khalifs and czars put forth their might against it, and Pope Urban launched a bill against its use, but all in vain; the frail, withered leaf was stronger than popes and kings.
Mr. Penn has omitted a certain famous anecdote associated with this bull of Urban, and the New York Evening Post recalls it, as of incidental interest. On the publication of the bull a paper was found affixed to the statue of Pasquin, containing a text in Latin, which has been thus translated into English: "Wilt thou break a leaf that is driven to and fro, and wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?" This text is found in Job xiii, 25. Urban made proclamation that, if the author would declare himself, he should receive reward. On the next morning the pasquin was found signed "Job."

Despite both spiritual and secular fulminations, tobacco held its own, and even—what few monarchs have done—conquered the church. The present pope takes snuff, the finest in the world, which is specially made for him in Baltimore. But fashions in tobacco taking, as in other things, have varied. In the eighteenth century the pipe sunk in reputation in England and the snuff box arose. On the continent snuff had always been aristocratic and leaders of fashion had rivaled each other in the costliness and beauty of their boxes, the exquisite flavor of their contents and the grace with which the pinch was inhaled. England never quite attained these high levels of elegance, and in the nineteenth century went back to the cigar. The Crimean war brought in the cigarette, the use of which the English had learned from their allies, and in late years the pipe has come once more into favor.—Buffalo Express.

A Moving Mountain.
Most people forget that geology is not altogether a history of the past. The forces that made the mountains are still going on. Some mountains are growing, some are wearing down. Because these processes take a long time to accomplish visible results, one is apt to form the erroneous idea that they have ceased, and that the face of the earth is fixed once for all. A case of geological action so rapid as to be easily observed is the moving mountain in Hunterdon County, New Jersey.
This "mountain" is a knob, or mound, which is sliding down the side of a full-sized mountain.
It has obliterated old turnpikes and roadways, and threatens to slide suddenly and do great damage. The landslide already covers twenty-five acres of one farm, and has destroyed the boundaries of another.
At the point where the mound has torn away from the mountain is a deep gulch, in which have been found many Indian relics. The place is so dangerous from ledges and banks which threaten to fall that nobody has dared explore the cleft thoroughly.
This geological movement has been so rapid that a new map of the county may be necessary. Heavy rains, says the Detroit Free Press, stir the entire valley to fear lest the whole hill tumble and destroy everything in its path.

ECZEMA'S ITCH IS TORTURE.
Eczema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes nor other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.
"For three years I had Tetter on my hands, which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores, very painful, and causing me much discomfort. Four doctors said the Tetter had progressed too far to be cured, and they could do nothing for me. I took only three bottles of S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago, and I have never since seen any sign of my old trouble."—Mrs. L. B. JACKSON, 1414 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.

S. S. S. neutralizes this acid poison, cools the blood and restores it to a healthy, natural state, and the rough, unhealthy skin becomes soft, smooth and clear.

Our Working Girls.

Life to the most favored is not always full of sunshine, but to the average American girl or woman who is obliged to work for her living, and, perhaps to help others at home, life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness.
Women who work, especially those who are constantly on their feet, are peculiarly liable to the development of organic troubles, and should particularly heed the first manifestations, such as backache, pains in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach, irregular and painful monthly periods, faintness, weakness, loss of appetite and sleep.

The young lady whose portrait we publish herewith had all these symptoms, and in addition leucorrhoea, and was cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. First, she wrote a letter to Mrs. Pinkham's laboratory at Lynn, Mass., describing her trouble, received in reply accurate instructions what to do to get well, and now wishes her name used to convince others that they may be cured as she was.

The same helping hand, free of charge or obligation, is extended to every ailing woman in America. If you are sick you are foolish not to get this valuable advice, it costs you nothing, and she is sure to help you. Don't wait until it is too late—write to-day.

SURGERY IN THE SOUDAN.

Insufficient Appliances at Hand Did Not Prevent Operations.

Good surgeons are often men of great ingenuity, and there are numerous cases on record of important and wholly satisfactory results accomplished with rude appliances. A writer who was with the British army in the Soudan, gives, in a New York paper, this illustration of a clever adaptation of means to a desired end:

After the Battle of Omdurman we brought back to Abadeh 121 wounded officers and men. Of this number there were twenty-one cases of which an accurate diagnosis could not be made by ordinary surgical means.

By the help of the Roentgen rays, however, we found the bullet or proved its absence in twenty out of these twenty-one cases, the remaining case being so ill with a severe wound in the lung that it was not considered justifiable to examine him at the time.

Of course we had no steam engine to generate electricity for us, and the desert heat had dissolved our specially prepared candles into their constituents.

Necessity, however, is the mother of invention, and we had recourse to a unique method. The pulley of a small dynamo was connected by means of a leather strap with the rear wheel of a tandem bicycle. Having carefully adjusted the circuit with the storage battery, and also with the voltmeter and ammeter, a warrant officer took his position on the seat of the bicycle and commenced pedaling. When fifteen volts and fourteen amperes were registered, the switch close to the handle of the bicycle was opened and the charging of the battery begun.

As the resistance became greater a sensation as of riding up-hill was experienced by the man on the seat, and the services of an additional orderly were requisitioned for the front seat of the tandem.

As this bicycle practice was generally indulged in at a temperature of 110 degrees in the shade, the orderlies were not sorry when, at the end of a half-hour, the switch was turned off and the machine brought to a standstill.
