UT PEDDLERS AND LOCAL DEALERS ON AN EQUALITY
This paper has no desire to say where, or with whom its readers should trade, but it suggests that when the itinerant stove peddler, and every vendor come round that you remember your note that he is so likely to take to sold discounted wares, who will insist on the money when it is due. Remember, also, for cash you can buy every bit of a cheap of your home dealer, and a better chance of not being cheated in quality, as the home man is sure to back up his guarantee, while the other fellow is here today and away, away off tomorrow.
If you insist on buying of the peddler, it would be no more than fair for him to subscribe liberally to the roads, churches and schools in your neighborhood. Strike him for $5 or $10, for it is almost sure our home dealer has put down that much or more besides the taxes he pays.
Finally, the peddler ought in all fairness take part of his pay in butter, eggs or other produce and thus to get a chance to make a little for the home dealer does.
Smoke the Advertiser, best five cent cigar. Home made.
