READERS DICKENS' DEBTORS.

Stamps Suggested to Aid Author's Impoverished Descendants.

The payment of conscience money to celebrate the approaching centenary of Charles Dickens' birth is the suggestion of a London editor. In the great novelist's present day admirers it is pointed out that Dickens did not live to draw one-twelfth of the profits from his books and received no royalties whatever from America. Now, at this time, three of his children and his six eldest grand-children are in comparatively poor circumstances.

It is estimated that, allowing for loss and the wear and tear on the 24,000,000 copies of Dickens' works that have been issued, 2 cents royalty on each copy would realize half a million of dollars. But this is recognized as impossible, and it is therefore suggested that every owner of one of Dickens' books buy a Dickens stamp for each volume, thus certifying that the royalty of 2 cents has been paid.

The stamps would be put on sale throughout the world in 1911. It is proposed that the sum thus raised be handed to the representatives of the Dickens family to be used as they may see fit. A strong committee will be formed to handle the matter.

Feline Aristocrats.

The Siamese is said to be the most delicate and expensive of all cats. It is called the royal cat because it has long been bred in the family of the king of Siam. It is a short haired cat, which looks curiously like a dog. Its coat is pug dog color and very short, firm and silky—more like a dog's than a cat's. It has black paws and nose and a twist in its tail.

Laid in a Stock.

When the late Pierre Lorillard was a boy, his mother, being annoyed by moths that destroyed the woollen clothing and other material of the household, agreed to pay him a cent apiece for every moth he would kill in the house and bring to her. The same bargain was made with his brothers, Jake, George and Louis. In course of time Mrs. Lorillard noticed that while the other children collected from her at intervals from 10 to 25 cents, Pierre drew on her frequently for a $1 at a time, undersharing his drafts with 100 dead moths. Investigation revealed the best of the future financier as well as his early adaptability to methods governing the acquisition of wealth. Having procured from a furrier some pieces of fur thrown away because they were infested with moths, Pierre secreted them in an old chest in an unlined closet. There the quickly accumulating moths were banked to be drawn upon whenever the inventor and perfecter of the enterprise required pocket money.

OPEN LETTER NO. 2—RUSK TO HOCKETT.

Joseph, Oregon, Sept. 12, 1910.
To Dr. C. T. Hockett, Enterprise, Oregon.

Dear Doctor:—Having been a delegate from Wallowa County to the late Republican Assembly at Portland I am surprised that you neglect to defend the assembly scheme in public debate with me. Your silence lends me to believe that you prefer to keep your assembly views out of sight as much as possible. I am opposed to assemblies; you favor them. I favor the people's choice for U. S. senator. Do you? If you do, were you not lonesome among the delegates to the late Republican assembly at Portland? Do you know of any assembly, state or county, that has named or favored a single, solitary man who favors the people's choice for Senator? Being an assemblyman you don't believe the people are capable of choosing their state candidates directly. How about their ability to choose their U. S. Senator? Can they do that or should this be thrown back into the Legislature? Come, let us throw away our political "gun shoes" and declare ourselves upon these questions.

Yours very truly,
JOHN P. RUSK,
Republican Candidate for Re-Nomination for Joint Representative Union and Wallowa Counties,
For Railroad Commissioner
Frank J. Miller
For State Engineer
John H. Lewis
For Supr. Water Division No. 2
