COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

second program. Mayor Boyd gave a brief address, in which he referred to the evident welcome to all visitors, and followed it with a strong talk on education. The response by Prof. J. S. Landers, superintendent of the Pendleton schools, should have been heard by everyone in the county. He predicted a great future for the new high school and said it was situated in ideal surroundings. He urged that the school be strongly supported financially, for the present 20 students are entitled to just as good an education as if they were 20 of 100 enrolled.

The musical program was splendid and every performer was recalled at least once. It consisted of songs by a sextet of ladies, violin solos by E. B. Wheat, trombone solos by C. E. Vest, readings by Miss Nanne Heaton, and vocal solos by Mrs. Olive Lockwood. It was 11:30 when the program was completed but the majority of the audience remained to see the grand march, and enjoy a brief, social time. Punch and wafers were served.

The visiting team, Prof. Landers and the three judges were guests of a private entertainment given by the home team and Prof. Moore at the home of Judge and Mrs. O. M. Corkins. A supper was served, toasts proposed, and music and dancing whiled away a pleasant hour.

Debate and O. H. S. Notes.

So far over the state the smaller schools have won every debate except that between Hood River and The Dalles. Ontario is yet to meet Baker City and Astoria to meet Multnomah. Union won from La Grande, Albany from Salem and Tebanon from Eugene.

The high school students were worried Sunday forenoon over the disappearance of the trophies won by the debating team—the Pendleton banner and the millionaires' flag. Upon the return of the Pendleton team from Wallowa lake, Prof. Landers was notified of the mysterious disappearance of the trophies, and shortly afterwards the local boys were called up to the hotel parlor, where nicely arranged on the wall were all the trophies of victory.

Each member of the visiting team was greeted heartily and at the close applauded as liberally as were the home team.

Fred Holmes, the leader of the victorious team, is 16 years of age, and is in the sophomore class. He spent a year at Hill's Military academy, Portland. Miss Olmsted is 17, and a sophomore. Miss Forsythe who is 18, is a junior and spent a year at Weston.

The high school pupils are planning on issuing a high school paper similar to the one now issued by the high school at Ontario. There are about twelve schools in the state that have a high school paper. It is probable that if arrangements can be made the Wallowa county high school paper will be issued three times a year.

The teachers and pupils of the high school wish to express their thanks and appreciation to members of the orchestra, the ladies and gentlemen who took part on the program and the persons who entertained visitors, for the interest manifested in our work. We appreciate the interest shown by those who came from a distance to hear the debate. We are glad that you came and hope that you will come again. We thank the ladies who served the lunch for the judges and the debaters, also those who served the punch and wafers at the opera house. We thank the citizens of Enterprise for their many favors and their hearty support and free good will which were placed at our disposal.

The Pendleton East Oregonian says the debate was one of the chief high school events of the year in eastern Oregon as shown by the interest taken both in Pendleton and Wallowa county. In speaking of the departure of the team for Enterprise, the same paper said the team felt confident of winning, and that much earnest and vigorous work had been done in securing material for debate by the Pendleton team.

The champion Wallowa County high school team will go to The Dalles some time before February 14 to debate the team there on the same question. The Dalles team defeated the Hood River team January 10, having the same side, affirmative, of the question that Wallowa had Saturday night. One or the other will have to change sides, and it would only be fair to give the visitors and the team representing the smaller school its choice of sides. The Dalles team is composed of two boys and one girl—Harry Nitschke and Ray Harper and Jeanie Millikin. The first named was leader in the debate with Hood River and is said to have an excellent delivery. Miss Millikin is also a good speaker while Harper's forte is self-confidence and logical argument.

DEATH RECORD.

Died, at his home on Lightning, about 20 miles north of Imnaha bridge, Friday, Jan. 17, Leonard G. Snell, aged 29 years, 1 month and 4 days. He was a son of Mrs. Ida S. and George F. Snell. The father passed away about 14 years ago and is interred in Alder Slope cemetery. Leonard was born in New York in 1878. The family came to this section when he was only about eight years old. The news of his death casts a gloom over the entire community, where he was well known and highly esteemed as an honest, industrious, worthy citizen. While his death is a shock to many who had not heard of his declining health, yet it was known to many of his friends that for the last year he had been in ill health. He recently had an attack of stomach trouble and on Friday spoke of having a headache. As has been his custom of late, he lay down after dinner for a rest. When the wife thought he had slept quite a while, she tried to waken him, but finding him apparently too ill to talk or waken, she sent for his brother Roy, who was near and came at once. This was about 4 p. m. Together they watched and worked over him hoping to revive him but it was soon apparent that they were powerless to help him and he passed away peacefully at about 7:30 p. m. His near relatives were informed and Chas. Rice and wife and William Meek of Joseph came on Saturday and proceeded to the residence of Mrs. Ellen Brumbach, where other relatives and friends were awaiting the coming of the bearers, and also of Mrs. L. G. Snell and the friends who accompanied her, and at which place the procession was formed. Many others were waiting at the bridge, and at about 3 p. m. Sunday, he was laid to rest in the Imnaha cemetery. He leaves to mourn his death, his widow, Mrs. Vertie Meek Snell; baby Alice, about a year and a half old; his mother, Mrs. Ida S. Snell; four sisters, Mrs. Dora Jared of Whitebird, Idaho; Mrs. Minnie Rice of Joseph; the Misses Ida and Maggie Snell of this place; and a brother, Roy Snell of Lightning; all of whom were present at his funeral, except Mrs. Jared. There are many more distant relatives and warm friends who most deeply regret his early demise and sympathize with the mourning ones. Although flowers are scarce some very pretty evergreen wreaths, etc., were prepared and a service of music consisting of three appropriate hymns. There is a hymn which truly says:

"We share our mutual woes,
Our mutual burdens bear;
And often for each other flows,
The sympathizing tear."
