Banquet Note Correction.

By a mistake in correcting linotype slugs last week, the first line of the following note of the banquet was left out:

The solos by Misses Craig and Browning and Mr. Pratt were at once a surprise and delight to the visitors, who warmly congratulated the singers.

That there was a line or more omitted showed plainly enough in the item, but just to make sure that no will think the News Record was intentionally guilty of calling one of the fair singers by her first name without prefix of any kind and leaving the name of the other out entirely, space is gladly given for this correction.

Had a Good Time.

From La Grande Observer. The football boys who returned last evening from Joseph, cannot find a sufficient number of adjectives to show their appreciation of the royal entertainment they received from the Joseph people. In fact, they received a royal welcome at every point along the line, and received invitations for games, from every town. No one had better knock Wallowa county in the presence of these boys.

WILL YOUR FARM RAISE SUGAR BEETS

AMALGAMATED COMPANY MEN TO HOLD FOUR MEETINGS NEXT WEEK.

Officers of the Amalgamated Sugar company of Utah, that owns the La Grande factory, will be in the valley Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week to contract as much acreage as possible to raise sugar beets, or to rent land for that purpose. They ask the farmers to meet them at the following places and dates:

Joseph, Monday, November 23, at 10 a. m. Enterprise court house, Tuesday, at 10 a. m.

Lostine, Wednesday at 10 a. m. Wallowa, Wednesday at 3 p. m.

The Enterprise meeting is under the auspices of the Commercial club. The sugar factory men coming are Job Pingree of Ogden, general field superintendent for the Amalgamated; Fred G. Taylor, manager of the La Grande factory; F. S. Bramwell, formerly of the Amalgamated company.

When acreage is contracted, the company agrees to furnish all the hand labor necessary for spacing, hoeing, topping and loading, the farmer only doing the team work, such as seeding, cultivating and hauling. When land is rented, cash rent is paid.

First car load of merchandise ever delivered by railroad to Enterprise was received Tuesday by Ashley, the Home Furnisher.

ENJOYABLE BIRTHDAY PARTY ON ALDER SLOPE

Misses Victoria and Laura Haas entertained a party of young people Friday evening in compliment to Marion Langston, whose birthday anniversary was the following day. The rooms of their pleasant Alder Slope home were prettily trimmed with evergreen, and a color scheme of pink and yellow was carried out not only in the parlor decorations but in the serving of the delightful repast, the place cards being attached by pink and yellow ribbons to verses hidden beneath crepe dollies of the chosen colors. Partners were found by matching quotations which were cleverly concealed in English walnut shells, the meat having been extracted and a part of a quotation concealed within each one. Mr. Langston received a nice lot of presents. These were hidden in various places and cards which he drew one at a time from a hat directed him to the place of concealment. In the "tree game" Miss Etha, Kooch won first prize, a lot of fruits of different trees. Ira Davis got the booby—a pointed stick tied with pink and yellow ribbon, with instructions to study the trees of Oregon. In the donkey game, Will Bauer won first prize, a fancy box of stationery, and John Gribblin was consoled with a toy donkey hitched to a cart. Various old fashioned games such as "Marching Down to Old Quebec," and "Jolly Miller," were played and after lunch card games of different kinds were enjoyed. Present were Mrs. Bertha Millard, Mrs. Amanda Chenoweth, Misses Stella Hooper, Zella Millard, Etie Ogbourn, Flo Keller, Zelma Ogbourn, Etha Kooch, and Nora McCormack, and Messrs. Marion Langston, Burl Kooch, John Gribblin, Ira Davis, Joe Weaver, Will Bauer, Wilber Homan, Frank Haring and John Weaver.

Work on Temporary Warehouse Begun

Rock For Woolgrowers Fireproof Structure Will Be Hauled This Winter.

W. H. Graves of the Woolgrowers Warehouse company received a telegram Monday from General Superintendent Buckley confirming the change of site requested for the fireproof warehouse. Work has begun on the temporary structure that will take care of shipments this winter, and a building sufficiently commodious and weatherproof will be put up as quickly as possible.

The new site is immediately west of the old one and the east platform will be on the west line of Depot street extended. The ground is a high gravel bed and makes an ideal site with perfect drainage.

The permanent structure will be 50x150 in size, surrounded with 12 foot sheltered platforms, car floor high. It will be built of stone and be fireproof throughout. Nearly all the woolgrowers of the county are subscribers to the stock of the company, and its erection will insure the continuance of Enterprise as the center of Wallowa county's leading industry. The building will be completed in time to store the wool next spring for the wool sales day.

The jury trials are finished and all jurymen have been excused except S. E. Combes, Arthur Johnson, L. E. Jordan and G. W. Franklin, who are kept as a nucleus in case a term of court is held in January.

REGULAR TRAINS OVER ENTIRE LINE

SERVICE TO JOSEPH INAUGURATED—LOCAL FREIGHT ARRIVING DAILY.

Regular train service the entire length of the Wallowa county extension was inaugurated today, Saturday. The inbound train last night continued on "dead" to Joseph, and remained there over night. It left the terminus on schedule time, 8 o'clock this morning. Its time at Enterprise is 8:30 a. m.

A train shed to accommodate two engines will be erected at Joseph and a depot similar to the one here. The boarding train of the steel gang went up to Joseph Friday night. W. P. Trumbull is the Joseph station agent.

Local freight is now coming in large quantities and is taxing the energies of the force at the depot. A. A. Mullan is assisting the agent as warehouse man. The depot will be ready soon. It is enclosed and under roof.

J. G. Harman, the station agent, arrived Monday evening and is the busiest man in Wallowa county. He handles the rush coolly and methodically and shows he deserves the promotion from Irrigon. One of the head officials in Enterprise Thursday night said one of the best agents on the line was going to be sent to Enterprise, and he knew what he was talking about.

12 Cars of Stock Shipped.

The first stock shipments were made Tuesday and Wednesday, by Frank Graham and M. E. Hotchkiss, who accompanied the stock to Portland. The stock was all here ready for a 12 car shipment Tuesday, but only five stock cars arrived.

Graham's five cars of cattle were loaded early Tuesday and the train was delayed only a half hour over its leaving time. The remainder of the stock, Hotchkiss' six cars of hogs and Graham's one, was shipped Wednesday.

Hotchkiss and Graham put up temporary loading yards below the depot where many of the citizens think the permanent yards should be. The lumber for the permanent stock yards is on the ground and a gang is at work building them.

Cattle raisers are getting an average of $25 for cows. There is no demand for steers.

Was at Heppner Meeting.

C. L. Hartshorn was the only Wallowa county representative at the state woolgrowers meeting at Heppner this week. He returned from there Friday night. Resolutions were adopted asking the state to give a coyote bounty, and asking the national forestry bureau to give a portion of the receipts from national forests for the same purpose.

Farmer Buys Hay Press.

W. E. A. Watson, the well known Alder Slope farmer, received a hay press Thursday. It was ordered through the E. M. & M., and arrived on Thursday evening's train.
