they set up a big cackling every time they do anything.

It may be true that figures do not lie, but you can not make a fashionable dressmaker believe it.

It is claimed that marriage is a lottery, but it can not be true, else the law would take hold of it.

Time robs us of many things, but wounds our vanity first by introducing wrinkles and the double chin.

Representatives of a Seattle concern engaged in the business of making patent medicine, spent several days in Clarkston last week looking up a location for the growing of sage and other ingredients. The Commercial club of that place has interested itself in the securing of a location for the factory and will use their efforts to have it located there.

Can do your printing in a hurry if really necessary, but job printing is an art that doesn't gain in excellence by haste.

NEW EVIDENCE FOUND IN THE ELLEXSON CASE.
Evidence that would have been of much value to the prosecution during the trial of T. R. Ellexson, convicted of the murder of Waldo Perry at Union last summer, was uncovered last week near Union station when a man named Chadwick, who is working as a butcher for the Hot Lake company, found a time book used by Ellexson while he was employed at Union and at Baker, says the La Grande Observer.

The book was found near a wire fence, indicating that it had been dropped when the owner was crawling between the wires. The discovery is of especial importance to justify the conviction attained on circumstantial evidence, in that it almost undisputedly contradicts the story told by Ellexson in his self defense. Followers of that hideous crime will remember that Ellexson claimed to have boarded a train at Telocaset; in fact the prosecution could not bring him nearer to the scene of the crime than Telocaset. It is presumed the murder was committed about September 4th, and it has been carefully and distinctly established that Ellexson quit work at Baker on September 3 and notations in the book found by Chadwick include the final account with the Baker employer on September 3.

Men who are in touch with the discovery and who know the exact location of the book when found, have drawn the conclusion that when Ellexson had gone to the Perry ranch located about the same distance from Union station as it is from Union town and committed the foul murder, he cut cross lots and hit the railroad track near Union station, and to do so was forced to crawl through the wire fence back of Union. In this act he lost the book.

The book was taken to La Grande. While there was a general feeling that justice was fitly applied in the conviction of Ellexson that feeling has been spread and cemented by these discoveries.

Jumping at Conclusions.
Union Scout: Finding the day book belonging to Ellexson at or near Union Junction throws no light on the subject. The last notation, according to the most improved system of journalism, was on the 4th day of September, 1910. This leaves a lapse of seven days. Perry was seen alive and well on the afternoon of the 11th of that month. Never again. Ellexson left George Brown's ranch at Baker on the 11th and said on the witness stand that he passed through Union Junction the next morning on the hurricane deck of a freighter. This new scrap of evidence is not significant. Just dismiss the case.

It's the mattress of the palace And the mattress of the cot; Safe and sane and sanitary It's the best of all the lot.

It will hold its shape forever Keeping smooth the upper spreads; It's so easy to lie on it— And so easy to make beds.
