ACT OF A BULLY.

President Taft no sooner gains the respect and applause of decent people by a strong statesmanlike speech, for arbitration, than he forfeits their good opinion by ordering the mobilization of the army on the Mexican border.

If this show of force is to overawe the regular Mexican government to prevent a Japanese alliance and uphold the Monroe Doctrine, it is a crass blunder of the stupidist kind.

If it is to overawe the insurgents and help Diaz out of his difficulties, it is un-American and disloyal to the traditions of liberty.

Anyway you look at it, the order was that of a big bully against a small, weak nation or people.

And this goes, whether the order was dictated by Wall Street or by the super-heated imaginations of the gold-laced brigade in Washington.

We hope the census officials in Washington wont overheat themselves this summer in an endeavor to announce the population of Enterprise and other cities and towns in Oregon under 5,000 population. There is no especial rush about the matter but it would be nice to know the result of the thirteenth census before the time of taking the fourteenth.

It was estimated last year that there were 10,000 acres of new land broke in the country tributary to

THE CLASS STRUGGLE.

(From the Christian Socialist.)

By courtesy of the chairman of the Committee, acting on the suggestion of Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, we are privileged to present our readers with the clear-cut, scientific, Socialist report of the Committee on Social Service to the Indiana Baptist Convention with reference to the Class Struggle.

That part of the Report which we quote is frankly and correctly headed The Class Struggle, and proceeds as follows:

The Class Struggle.

Christianity proposes for all human beings, and aims to create in them, the best life of which they are individually capable. It prescribes as a normal standard of living for every individual such conditions as will, to the utmost degree, promote the best life. A Christian civilization is that in which the whole power of society is exerted to establish and maintain a normal standard of living for all equally.

In Christian ethics, all members of society are equally bound, to the limit of their ability, to do such useful labor as may be necessary in order to maintain a normal standard of living and to promote the best life equally for all. All of those who so labor constitute the world's working class. All who cannot so labor as to earn a normal living constitute the world's dependent class. All who can but do not so labor, but who, by force, fraud, special privilege or social maladjustment, appropriate to their own use, the benefit of others' toil, constitute the world's shirking, parasitical, predatory exploiting, thieving, robbing, or plundering class. The lines of division separating these several classes are not always perfectly distinct. A person or a pursuit may be partly useful and partly parasitical. A person may work hard at a useless or injurious business. There may be bad economy and waste in the management of a business intrinsically good. Sometimes the character of a business, whether good or bad, may not be clearly obvious. But broadly, and for the purpose of economic and moral analysis, society is composed of these three classes: PRODUCERS, PLUNDERERS AND PENSIONERS.

Between the working class and the predatory class there is ceaseless conflict of interest or effort. The plunderers evermore seek to enrich themselves at the expense of the workers; and the workers, so far as they know and have power, resist spoliation. Sometimes, incidentally, factional divisions and strife arise within each of these classes, arraying workmen against workmen or exploiters against exploiters. But between the workers and the exploiters, as economic classes into which society as a whole is divided, the conflict of interest and effort is fundamental, world-wide and constant.

In this struggle, each class seeks to utilize the powers of organization and of social control, economic and political. The results of this struggle for social control are, first, to create a servile class and a master class; and secondly to create or intensify a vast brood of evils, such as slavery, peonage, oppression, war, political corruption, poverty, misery, disease, vice, crime, inhumanity, ignorance and brutality.

In order to eliminate these evils, society must eliminate the class struggle out of which they spring. But this can be done only by the emancipation, conservation, education and socialization of the working class as a whole; by the eradication of the exploiting class in all of its forms, and by the adequate protection and support of the helpless class. To do these things is the task of the working class.

In relation to that task, the true functions of the church are to make common cause with the working class as a whole, as its advocate, inspirer, and moral guide; to hold up the ideal of a Christian civilization as the true goal of industrial organization; and to promote amongst the workers intelligent concert of action both economic and political, for their denunciation, and we propose them as a basis for future action.

General Social Service.

We would call special attention to the new reading course on social service for pastors common welfare and for the adequate care of the helpless.

We believe these principles to be in harmony with the history and principles of the Baptist and other Christian workers prepared under the joint auspices of the Social Service Committee of the Northern Baptist Convention and of the American Baptist Publication Society. In our opinion, this reading course is well adapted to the purpose of giving to our people the information which they need to fit them for the new social situation now fast arising all over the world. One of the most important of present denominational duties is to push this reading course or its equivalent; and this committee is ready to give all possible assistance in introducing it.

We further suggest that a number of our pastors and laymen who have some skill in such matters and who are interested in specific lines of social service, prepare lectures or addresses on subjects related to this course of reading and arrange, thru this committee an interchange of such lectures and addresses amongst our churches. With a view to giving effect to this suggestion, we invite correspondence with persons who may be interested; and we shall be glad to confer with such persons at any time during the sessions of this convention.

Committee—
