TUCKER CONFESSES.

Joseph Bank Robber Tells How It Was Planned.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL HOLD UP.

The Gang Surprised by a United States Marshal.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 3.—J. D. McCully, acting cashier of the First Bank of Joseph, Wallowa county, that was robbed yesterday says that the posse that pursued Fitzhugh, the robber that escaped, did not see anything of him yesterday. Another posse started after him this morning, and found his horse, saddle, hat and some clothing, but the posse have not yet returned. Evidently he changed horses about six miles from Joseph, and after making the change no trace of him could be found. A man living near the head of Silver Lake heard a man on horseback riding down the mountain at a rapid rate about 9 o'clock last night. The rider ran into a watering-trough and then whistled, as if to another person. This rider is supposed to have been Fitzhugh.

Tucker, the wounded robber, will recover, but made a confession when he expected to die. He was released from the penitentiary a few months ago, and taken into the bankrobbing scheme last Tuesday by Fitzhugh and Brown. It was agreed that, after robbing the bank, they should ride out several miles, divide the proceeds, and then separate, he to return to Prairie Creek, where he had been working, and the others to go to Kansas. Fitzhugh, it is thought, was engaged in the robbery of the enterprise bank a few years ago. He had been in the vicinity of Joseph for several months, coming from near Boise.

When Brown, who had the sack containing the money, was killed, Fitzhugh ran to him, picked up the sack and took Brown's pistol, showing him to be possessed of wonderful nerve. Fred Wagner did the effectual shooting, instead of Alex Donnelly, and had he not run out of cartridges, Fitzhugh might not have escaped.

Train Held Up.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 3.—An attempt was made to hold up passenger train No. 2 of the Atlantic & Pacific, due here at 8:45, just as it was leaving Rio Puerco bridge, 30 miles west of here. The attempt was a failure, owing to the prompt action of United States Deputy Marshal Loomis who shot one of the robbers dead and made it so uncomfortable for the others that they fled. Rio Puerco is only a pumping station with a telegraph office, in charge of the pumpman.

While the train was standing at the station, it was boarded by three masked men, who compelled the engineer to uncouple the engine and express car from the train and run them on to the bridge. The pumpman at once sent word to this city and the Atlantic & Pacific company sent a special train with officers to the scene. At midnight, the train arrived at Albuquerque.

Conductor Sam Heady states that when the train reached the Rio Puerco tank Engineer Ross said that a pin in the engine was out of gear, but he thought he could go up the divide. The conductor thought not, and just as the engineer was about to fix the pin three masked men jumped on the engine when shooting commenced. A lantern was shot out of the hand of the brakeman, after which the engineer was told to uncouple the engine and the express-car from the train.

Deputy United States Marshal Loomis, who has been in Arizona on the trail of the Southern New Mexico bandits, was on his return to the city, and he left the smoking-car when the first shot was fired. He took deliberate aim at one of the robbers, shooting him through the head. The man ran for 100 yards and then dropped dead. The other robbers retreated to the Malpais, where their voices calling their comrades could be heard.

Conductor Heady states that Loomis remained at Rio Puerco, expecting the robbers to return for their dead comrade, while Cade Selvy, special secret service officer of the railroad, who was on the train, met the posse of officers at Atlantic and Pacific Junction, and returned with the party to Rio Puerco.

The hold-up was a failure financially, the robbers securing no money. Loomis thinks that the hold-ups are the same gang that robbed the Separ postoffice a few weeks ago, and have been terrorizing Southern New Mexico, and that the dead robber was the leader.

Between Car-Bumpers.

ARLINGTON, Or., Oct. 3.—Abo Kelly's foot was crushed between car-bumpers last evening. Train No. 34 had pulled into the station and stopped. Kelly attempted to cross between the cars, and as he stepped on the bumper the train started to back, catching his left foot and crushing the toes badly. The Oregon Railroad & National Company's surgeon amputated the foot and looked after the man's welfare. He will be sent to the Portland hospital in the morning. Kelly is a young man.

Robber Arrested.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct.—Ed Robertson, who, with two others, held up a stage between Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek, on the 20th of July last, was arrested on Main street upon a description of him sent out by the sheriff of Colorado Springs. Robertson, who is but 18 years old, confessed to the police that he assisted in the robbery. He will be taken to Colorado Springs as soon as an officer from that place arrives.

Attempted Train Wreck.

BARABOO, Wis., Oct. 3.—An attempt was made last night to wreck passenger train No. 5 on C. R. N. W. Railway near Devils lake. Four bandits were discovered obstructing the track. Tom Patterson, who made the discovery, shot one of them. They returned here and Patterson was shot through the leg and hat. The wreckers escaped. A sheriff's posse is in pursuit. At attempt was made to wreck the same train a week ago.

Bryan in Indiana.

NORTH VERNON, Ind., Oct. 3.—Bryan's arrival in Indiana and Illinois, called for the same hearty welcome that characterized each visit he made to what was considered by many, the battleground of the campaign. Fourteen stops were scheduled in these two states today. He spoke in nearly every place, and where it was impossible for him to speak, Congressman McMillan talked for him.

Arrived in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Archbishop Martinelli, successor to Cardinal Satolli, the papal representative to the United States, was on board the steamer Campana, which reached the dock today.

Will Be Investigated.

LEADVILLE, Oct. 3.—Judge Owens today empanelled a grand jury to investigate the killing of the six men at the Coronado and Emmett mines September 21, particularly Fireman Okeefe.

Governor Campbell for Bryan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Ex-Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio says he will abide by the Chicago convention and vote for Bryan.

Clubs in Session.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—This conservative town has fairly boiled over with Democratic enthusiasm today. It was the opening day of the quadrennial convention of the national association of Democratic clubs. President Black delivered the quadrennial address. When he finished, he introduced Vice President Stevenson, as presiding officer. Stevenson said, "believing as I do, that gold and silver find equal recognition in the constitution of the United States, and that evils now beset us are in no small measure the result of the demoralization of silver, I have no hesitation in maintaining my party allegiance and casting my vote for Bryan and Sewall, nominees of the Democratic convention."

Governor Stone, of Missouri, was introduced. He excused himself making an extended speech as he had contracted a severe cold. Several important resolutions regarding the rules governing the convention were adopted, after which Congressman Newlands, of Nevada, addressed the convention on the silver question.

Fatal Row.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Phil Reilly, an employe of the harbor commission, was shot and fatally wounded last night by William Brittan, a boatman. The shooting occurred in front of a saloon at Francisco and Powell streets, and was the outcome of an old grudge. About a year ago, Reilly and Brittan had some words over politics, which terminated in blows.

Sewall Contributes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Arthur Sewall has contributed $20,000 to the campaign fund.

In the Negative.

The Philodorian Literary society of the Willamette university, held a profitable meeting last evening. After routine business had been transacted, a discussion was had on the subject of "The Negative." The speakers on the affirmative were G. C. Miller, W. J. Shepard and J. W. Cochran; negative, R. W. Davis, C. K. Brandenburg and R. A. Watson.

The debate was very warmly contested, the main question at issue being whether the formation of the United States was of more importance than the maintenance thereof. The president of the society decided negatively. A protest, that not with the hearty approval of the society, was entered against debating on such questions in the future, since nothing of value to the hearer is produced in the discussion. It is difficult to determine which of two such men, so dear to the hearts of all true Americans, really accomplished the most for his country. However, their names will go down through the ages to come, as the father and savior of the United States.

BARKLEY AND PENNOYER.

Another Bryan Supplement With Two Great Speeches. Not all could hear Pennoyer and Barkley at the great Bryan ratification at Salem. So THE JOURNAL has printed in supplement form the great speeches made on that occasion by those two gentlemen. They will be supplied from this office at $1 per 100 or $7 per 1,000 postpaid. We have still supplements with Bryan's speech of acceptance at New York and Mitchell on the impossibility of International Bimetallism.

The dealer who says, "I have no Hoe Cake soap," practically admits that he does not sell first quality goods. If he says he has something "just as good" you will know at once that he is trying to sell you an inferior article. There is more clothing destroyed by poor soap than by actual wear, as the free alkali rots the cloth. Hoe Cake contains neither free alkali nor worthless filling.

Wanted—All girls to know that "Hoe Cake" will not make their hands red like common soap. Save the wrappers. They are worth a cent apiece. 1911

Marion County Grapes.

John G. Wright, the Salem pioneer grapes, is receiving daily shipments of the celebrated Butteville grapes. They are the home-grown product, the finest in the world.

Respectfully Dedicated to "Tariff on Wool."

The McKinley high tariff law was in force from October 1890, to August 1, 1894.

The object of that law was protection to American industries and incidentally to American wool growers. To have accomplished its ends this law should have reduced importation of wool, and thus given greater opportunity to American producers by securing a greater home market. But did it?

Let every voter who honestly desires facts for his guidance examine the following figures:

IMPORTATIONS OF Wools UNDER THE MCKINLEY LAW.
1890, October to January, one fourth year.	21,357,824
1891, full year.	128,325,048
1892, full year.	178,780,652
1893, full year.	272,436,393
1894, January to August, seven months.	138,869,453
Average number pounds imported in a year under McKinley law.	137,930,900
IMPORTATIONS UNDER WILSON LAW.
1894 August to January 1st, five months.	50,102,263
1895, full year.	53,162,518
Average per annum.	74,247,520
NUMBER OF SHEEP.
Number sheep in United States January 1, 1893.	47,273,553
Number sheep in United States January 1, 1894.	45,048,017
Loss in one year under McKinley law.	2,225,536
Number sheep in United States January 1, 1895.	42,294,064
Loss in one year.	2,779,553
Seven-twelfths of this loss occurred under McKinley law, or.	1,600,641
Total loss in sheep from January 1, 1893, to January 1, 1895.	4,376,189
Loss under McKinley law in 19 months—Jan. 1, 1893 to Aug. 1, 1894.	3,826,177
Loss under Wilson law, 5 months.	1,550,012

While depreciating "free wool" it is fair to be honest with each other. It is evident from the above figures that "free wool" has not been the real cause of the depreciated sheep industry. Otherwise the loss of nearly four million sheep could not have occurred in this country under the McKinley high tariff law.

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.

Compiled by the Awfully Good-Natured Man.

It is now "Farmer-Private-Secretary Willis Dunnaway."

Did Farmer Willis Dunnaway ever make $6 a day farming?

Why shouldn't Bryan talk? He has only good things to tell the people.

"We want a government of, by, and for the corporations and the British gold standard."—Gold Democrats.

Hear Judge Whitney at the army tonight. He represents Bryan and all "the riffraff and bobtail" in this campaign.

The Salem Statesman that said Bryan was crazy Thursday now is willing to take 20,000 majority in Oregon.

By liberal use of literature and other educational influences the Indian vote of Polk county has been made almost solid for the gold standard.

General Odell does his praying, Secretary Dunnaway does his farming, but Governor Lord has not yet found anyone who can do his swearing for him satisfactorily.

T. T. Geer is being educated. He no longer classes the Canadians, the Zulus and the Hottentots together as he did at his first gold standard speech at Salem.

Was the gold brick swindler any worse on Mr. Skinner, of Polk county, than the bank swindle at Salem was on depositors? The bank swindlers are all for McKinley and the gold standard, and so are all the rest of the bunco and "confidence" men.

"The only trouble with the country is a lack of confidence."—Major McKinley. Let us see. We have $169,000,000 less money in existence than five years ago. In that time we produced $250,000,000 in gold; borrowed $262,000,000; we exported $300,000,000 Sherman said in 1890 that we ought to increase the currency $40,000,000 to 50,000,000 a year at least. Of course, with an increase of population of two million a year. Confidence would be nice to have; but what's the objection to more money instead of less?

The mothers of the children who take part in the entertainment at the house, will be admitted free, if they apply at the back door of the opera house.

City Warrants.

Notice is hereby given that I have on hand funds applicable to the payment of all warrants of the city of Salem, drawn on the general fund, and endorsed before November 30, 1895.

Interest will cease on said warrants from and after the date of this notice. E. J. SWAFFORD, City Treasurer.

PENNOYER IN DANGER.

A Crazy Woman Hunts the Mayor With a Gun.

An attempt to assassinate Mayor Pennoyer was made on the night of September 30th, by a woman named M. W. Henderson, a morphia fiend. The following appeared in the Tribune, October 1.

"It appears that the perusal of the vilifying attacks of a morning paper against the present administration and Mayor Pennoyer in particular, acted upon her enfeebled mind to such an extent that she came to the conclusion that the executive must die.

"Arming herself, therefore, she procured a carriage and went to Mayor Pennoyer's residence on West Park street. After being informed by Mrs. Pennoyer that her husband was not at home, Mrs. Henderson departed, but not before the executive's wife had noticed the "wrap" from West Park street, the woman rode to the city hall, but the mayor had departed an hour before.

About 8 o'clock last evening a woman called at the Oregonian and said that a woman had gone to Mayor Pennoyer's to "settle" with him. At 10 o'clock the Oregonian reporter rang up his honor from a sound sleep. When the reporter asked the mayor if a woman had been to the house to see him, his honor said no, but Mrs. Pennoyer called out from the room that a woman had been there in a carriage to see her husband. From comparison of descriptions of the woman who called at the Oregonian office and of the one whom Mrs. Pennoyer saw, the two are the same one—Mrs. Henderson.

The Oregonian, frightened at the almost fatal consequence of its endeavor to incite the people against the mayor, and fearing if the people should learn of the probable fatality of its perfidy that they would rise in revolt against the tall tower, suppressed the whole story.

THE ONE CENT DAILY.

Has the Largest Circulation With All Classes of People.

THE LITTLE ONE CENT SILVER DAILY has double the circulation it ever had. It is the only Bryan Associated Press Daily in Oregon, and the cheapest paper on the Pacific coast.

Even the everlasting, self-perpetuating, office-holding aristocracy of Oregon read THE JOURNAL.

Advocates of Bryan and Independent American Bimetallism are circulating the DAILY and WEEKLY as a campaign paper all over Oregon. Its circulation in Marion county is greater than any other newspaper.
