Coming Amusements.

The Empire Entertainers, headed by Albin the great wonder worker, have been secured for an engagement in Reed's Opera house next Monday night.

It is said that hundreds are turned away nightly that can not get in the theater at Los Angeles. Papers speak very highly of this great show. One gets tired looking at dramas, farce, comedy and circuses all the time.

It is said that the wonderful performance given by the great Albin, the star of the show, and the impersonations of Albert Chelvallier by Miss Nellie McGuire, the great character artist, are masterpieces.

THE BIG GOLD PARADE.

A Beautiful Day Brings in Thousands.

A large crowd is in the city today from the surrounding towns and country, but the farmers are conspicuous for their absence. The McKinley people of the city have uniformly decorated their places of business, and old Salem is looking her best to welcome the hosts of the gold standard.

Congressman C. A. Boutelle arrived in the city this morning from San Francisco, and will participate in the McKinley jubilee tonight. Mr. Boutelle is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Boutelle, and they were met at the depot by Mayor Claud Gatch, H. A. Thomas and C. H. Lane and escorted to the Willamette hotel.

Hon. M. C. George arrived on the 11 o'clock train from Portland, but had to paddle his own canoe down town. The program for the day is to have speaking at Marion square at 2 p. m. by Boutelle and possibly by George, Dunaway and Idleman. In the evening Mr. Boutelle will speak at the armory and opera house, to be assisted by the other speakers named.

Several thousand neat yellow cotton badges, bearing the portraits of McKinley and Hobart "Protection and Sound Money," were distributed free, and a large part of the crowd was wearing them. By way of diversion some wrote the word "NIT" at the bottom of the badge, others wrote on "Bryan 16 to 1." About fifty Bryan men under the lead of Geo. S. Downing and D. N. Barrett folded the badge so as to hide the candidates' pictures and they read as follows: "Our candidates—Sound money, Protection and Prosperity." Not satisfied with pinning the gold badges on women, boys and girls, a few wags have attached them to pet dogs, horses, mules and Chinamen. The vast crowd is good natured and very properly no ill feeling is being manifested on either side.

THE PARADE.

At 2 o'clock a procession was formed at the Hotel Willamette, headed by Jefferson band and followed by the Second Regiment band, of Salem, to march for Marion square. Counting the first band, and omitting a few boys, the procession by actual count numbered 263 in line wearing badges, as it passed State street. The latter band was not counted because the members did not all wear badged. The sidewalks for two blocks were crowded with spectators, and the street presented a gay appearance.

AT THE SQUARE.

Gov. Wm. P. Lord called the meeting to order, and in a very neat and thoughtful speech of a few moments introduced Mr. Boutelle as the orator of the day. The Governor spoke in the highest terms of the speaker as a Republican, a soldier and a statesman, lauding him as a patriotic citizen and a representative American who has every interest of his country at heart.

Mr. Boutelle is a handsome man in the prime of life. His face very much resembles the portrait of Candidate Hobart, and his physique is superb. He began his remarks by complimenting Oregon and its people, extending greetings from the Pine Tree state of the Atlantic to the Pine Tree state of the Pacific. He apologized for his impaired voice, and modestly referred to his inability to properly present the great questions of the day to so large and intelligent an audience. His remarks for the first half hour consisted of ridicule of Mr. Bryan's speeches and praise for the G. O. P. and the tariff, besides paying a glowing tribute to God for giving us such a wonderful country.

On the platform sat about a hundred people, and among them many honorable gray heads, who have been loyal to the party from its birth. The speaker was lustily cheered from this quarter, but the enthusiasm in the audience was very mild.

The crowd at the square was variously estimated. A Republican said there were from 1,500 to 2,000 present. Another said from 1,200 to 1,500. A Populist thought there were about 1,000 present, while a prominent Salem Democrat put it at 900. Comparisons are said to be odious, but as they help us form the best idea of a crowd, it can be said that the audience at the great rally today contained about one third the number of people that were present at the Bryan rally when Gov. Penoyer spoke, and only a little over half what heard Barkley and U'Ren at the same place after the Tillman disappointment a week ago.

An Old Soldier. MEHAMA, Or., Oct. 22, 1896. EDITOR JOURNAL.—Siri I have often felt in this time of political commotion, that I should place myself on record, I am and have been for years, a "Prohi," and I expected to stay with my principles; but as my party is limited, and we have no state ticket, hence I am for Bryan and free silver, as a next choice. I have counted the cost, both politically and socially, for I am an old soldier and many of my old comrades will say ha! ha! A Demo-Popocrat, etc.

And here I will say for all my old comrades, I respect you for your past deeds of valor, and feel that the fire of battle has welded our hearts together. But such political leaders as J. H. Mitchell of Oregon and W. H. Doollittle, of Washington, feigning to take up the cause of the common people till there is a legislature elected in their favor then they shake off their mask of pretended kindness and we see them as they are—the opposite. They come to us in a mask of kindness and sanctified voice and say, remember the "grand old party" in such a way and tone as to impress us that our duties are to "party;" and many stand on the party plank Others of us can not see it in that light and cannot lay down our principles for "party." I am for Bryan and "American Independence," while McKinley is for "Dependence," and looks to England for succor. Politicians must learn to follow true patriotism and not party. Then, our country will be prosperous and our people happy; here we all mount the same platform and make the mountains and plains ring with "My Country 'tis of Thee," etc., from Maine to Oregon. On the financial question, I have tried to find out what is the best for all the people. I have read and heard both sides, and am convinced that the free coinage of both gold and silver will give us more dollars and less patches. The McKinleyites call "free coinage" the white elephant; well, its on its way to Washington with W. J. Bryan, and it will make a sure trip and better than the golden calf with McKinley. They will be weighed in the balance and McKinley will be found wanting more votes or gold. And now I wish to say a word to the christian voters. Are you going to put your conscience on the throne and show your colors for the common people or will you dethrone conscience for the money power. There is no party. It is Bryan and American independence or McKinley and un-American dependence. I do not favor giving offense, except it follows the discharge of duty. I ask you, hear the cry "no money, no work;" go to the city and see the destitution and want, then in the language of Peter: "Gold and silver I have none but such as I have I give thee." Then vote to give free silver and a change from nothing to do, or shall we vote for the gold standard and present conditions? JESSIE T. BENNETT.

ADDRESS BY GOL. F. DRAKE.

Next Wednesday Eve, Under Auspices Students' Bryan Free Silver Club.

On next Wednesday evening, Oct. 28, in the Armory Hall, Col. F. V. Drake, of Portland, will address the people of Salem and vicinity on the issues of the day, under the auspices of the "Students' Silver Club" recently formed by students attending Willamette University. The entire management of the meeting will be left in the hands of the club which is sparing no pains to make the affair a decided success. C. K. Brandenburg, the able and earnest president of the club, is working hard to bring the affair to a most satisfactory and successful conclusion.

That the meeting may have more of a student's aspect, it has been decided to have two ten-minute addresses delivered by a young lady and a young gentleman member of the club. Several musical numbers will be arranged for, and a complete program will be published later.

At a meeting of the club last evening a committee of three young ladies was appointed to solicit young lady members of the school. A committee on music was also named to provide several selections that the program may consist of a variety of members, and add greatly to the entertainment and pleasure of the audience.

Further announcement of the meeting will appear later.

Colvig at the Armory.

Notwithstanding many other attractions in the city last night, an audience of fully 500 of Salem's most intelligent people greeted the Bryan speaker, Hon. Wm. M. Colvig, at the armory last evening, and the speaker's solid shot was heartily appreciated by all present—Republicans included. Mr. Colvig made some strong points on the labor question, showing that our country is least protected against foreign labor, and proving that this was of greatest importance to the prosperity of the country. He showed that the great issue is bimetallism, and discussed that subject very effectively. At the close three hearty cheers for Bryan and the speakers.
