"FOUR YOUNG EXPLORERS," or Sight Seeing in the Tropics, by Oliver Optic. Price, $1.25. The preceding volume of the series left the hero, Louis Belgrave, and his friends at Sarawak, in the island of Borneo. The four young men here spent three weeks in hunting, fishing, and adventure, visiting the Dyak villages and learning of the manners and customs of this interesting people. On leaving Borneo the explorers decided to make the trip to Bangkok in the steam launch where they arrived in safety. From there the reunited party went on to Saigon in French Cochinchina, across the China sea to Manila in Philippine Islands, and thence to Hong Kong, Shanghai, and Peking in China. They inspected all the points of interest in the places visited. Amid such new and varied surroundings it would be surprising indeed if the author, with his faculty of making even the commonplace attractive, did not tell an intensely interesting story of adventure as well as give much information in regard to the distant countries through which our friends pass and the strange peoples with whom they are brought in contact. This book, and indeed the whole series, is admirably adapted to reading aloud in the family circle, each volume containing matters which will interest all the members of the family. Mr. Adams, on his trip around the world, is at present in China at the very point where this narrative ends, gathering material for the continuation of the All-Over-the-World Library.

McClure's Magazine for 1897 has for a leading attraction "A New Life of Grant" by Hamlin Garland. Of course, it will be lavishly illustrated. Mr. Garland is a regular prairie cyclone in strength and power of expression. With indefatigable industry, coupled with modern methods, he has collected materials for what the publishers consider the "first authoritative and adequate life of Grant ever published."

The Bookman in yellow, black and green covers is a delight from cover to cover for December and in fact for all the year. Dodd, Mead & Company have erected to themselves a monument that is a glory and pride, pride to each and every American lover of letters. The criticisms, the contributions, the illustrations, the reviews, and the book news—each department is complete in its way. We shall make up a club for the new year at a reduced rate and shall be glad to take anyone's order.

The Kindergarten Magazine is worthy the Christmas season, with the following table of contents: As a supplement it brings a lithograph reproduction of Edwin Blashfield's "Bells." The leading article, well illustrated, is on Japanese Kindergarten. The editor contributes a sketch of the Brookline, (Mass.) schools, listing them as well equipped, well developed and well poised. "A Christmas Wonder Story," telling why the chimes rang, is an exquisite and reasonable bit of literature by Raymond Macdonald Alden. Other interesting articles are "How the World Made Ready for the Christ Child," "A Twentieth Century Gertrude," several Christmas carols with music and words, and a thoroughly valuable literary department. Kindergarten Magazine, monthly published by Kindergarten Literature Company, Woman's Temple, Chicago. Subscription price $2.

McClure's Magazine for December contains an account of Nansen's hard adventure in getting 195 miles nearer the North Pole than any other man. It is written by Cyrus C. Adams, of the New York Sun, one of the best geographical authorities in the country and will be illustrated with portraits of Nansen and his associates, views of his ship within and without, and other pictures.

An Historical work that has occupied the energies of Mr. Edward Eggleston for nearly sixteen years, is announced to be published soon by the Appletons. The general title is, "A History of Life in the United States," the first volume—"The Beginnings of a Nation"—dealing with the causes and motives of the seventeenth-century migrations. In announcing this important work the publishers deem it necessary to call attention to only two facts; one, the modern interest in life and character; the other that, Mr. Eggleston is conspicuously the best-equipped student of the life and character which have gone to the making of American history. It is not too much to expect that the appearance of this work marks an epoch in American historical literature. [Price $1.50.]

"The Coming 'First Lady in the Land' is the leading feature of the December Midland Monthly (Des Moines): Before the recent campaign closed the publishers of this popular Magazine commissioned Mrs. C. E. McLeod, of Cincinnati, to visit the McKinleys at Canton, and obtain pictures and data for a sketch of the then probable "First Lady in the Land," and her family and home. The visit was entirely successful, and the well written and profusely illustrated article in the December Midland is the result.

The December Kindergarten Magazine of Chicago has for leading papers Kindergarten in Japan, London, New York and Brookline, Mass. The article on the famous Brookline schools is from the pen of the editor of the Magazine. To show what interest this great educational reform has awakened, we need only refer to the fact that the "review of reviews" devotes two leading illustrated articles to the subject in the current number.

"The Bookman" has been such a tremendous success that the rival publication, "The Book Buyer," published by Chas. Scribner's Sons, has rented one of the first pages of the former publication, and offer their magazine three months ending January for 25 cents. The last time we saw the "Book Buyer," it was a beautiful publication, and it is no doubt more beautiful now. Many of our readers will want the three numbers referred to, which contain special features.

The autobiography and personal recollections of Geo. T. Angell, published by the American Humane Educational Society, of Boston, forms an interesting and valuable pamphlet. Mr. Angell will go down to his grave, (we doubt if he ever dies and he is not likely to as he is now in his 74th year) doing more good in the world than any minister of the Gospel or any government we have ever heard of. He has not only carried on a crusade all over the United States in favor of protection of dumb animals and against unnecessary cruelty and neglect, but he has the honor of making the first successful fight against adulterations in articles of commerce. Mr. Angell circulates millions of pages of educational matter to educate the people to kindness through the newspapers, and we only wish he would systematically attack the schools, colleges and churches and convince them that true kindness of heart is a more important part of education than algebra, or religion even, without it.

"Mac," a dog's true story, with portraits from life, by Mrs. Mary Johnson, author of "Aloha and other poems." H. H. Carter & Company, pub., 5 Somerset street, Boston. It is pleasant to think that this talented writer has not considered herself above chronicling the life of a dog and embalmed his memory in a beautiful volume. There is in it a great deal of what might be termed dog-love. Did this lady know all the dogs in the city of Boston? Fanny and her pups and finally the individual canine named Mac are all interesting and dog friends will call this the best dog book since Marshall Saunders wrote "Beautiful Joe." It is a handsome quarto with several photographs reproduced from life.

"ON THE STAFF," by Oliver Optic, Price $1.50. Lee and Shepard, Boston.

This volume is the fourth in the series of "The Blue and the Gray—on Land," and carries the hero of the preceding volumes, Dick Lyon, in his new position as a staff officer, into new and fresh fields, and amid scenes of a more stirring nature. The long and rapid march of the army under Buell to the assistance of Grant at Shiloh, the desperate conflict and final victory of Pittsburg Landing, and the march to and siege of Corinth, are all fully described.

In those days history was made day by day, and boys were transformed into men in a single night. Dick's position was not an exceptional one for the times, and he made the best use of it, gaining the respect and praise of his superior officers and another step in rank ere the volume closes.

In these volumes Mr. Adams conveys to the youthful readers of the present day a realistic view of the exciting scenes and events of that memorable national period. The main incidents are historically correct, and Oliver Optic's fascinating fashion of clothing the facts of history in the garb of fiction is here delightfully set forth. Sturdy patriotism is the keynote of the motive of these tales, and the author inculcates in a convincing yet alluring manner the great lessons of honor, duty, and love of country.

"The Flower that grew in the Sand, and Other Stories," by Mrs. Ella Higginson. The Calvert Company, Seattle, Wash. This beautiful volume is a credit to the Pacific coast, in its illuminated bindings, Japanese paper with uncut edges and gilt top and letterings. But none too good for the author of these eleven short stories. Can we claim her for Oregon? She must have been to the land of Web-foot, for she has caught some of the strange beauties of our land with its misty, its mountains and its waterfalls. Yet the Oregon City story has a savor of New England, that might define her a Yankee. Mrs. Higginson is a writer of great skill—almost the force at times of a Greek tragedy and the directness of a Sophocles. There are tragic silhouettes like the story, "whence the book takes its name. The 'Takin' in of Old Mis' Lane," and "The Cuttin'-Out of Bart Winn," or "In the Bitter Root Mountains." Then there are pieces of rare humor, that teach their lessons of homely morals in a pleasant manner. A number of stories are founded on local events of interest to people of Western Washington and Oregon. Mrs. Higginson is more than an artist. She is a Christian and humanitarian. Many a thoughtless soul will be pierced, many a careless heart will quail at her remorseless exhortations of shame. But it is all done without severity or bitterness. The homely joys and sufferings of the commonplace people, that go to make up the little backwoods communities, are not too small for her genius, which is rather great enough to take cognizance of them. The West can feel proud of Mrs. Higginson, even as an acquired resident, as can the canyons of Idaho feel honored by the presence of Mary Hallock Foote. These transplanted men and women reach a larger growth in the magnificent forests and mountains of the West.

"Bushy, a Romance Founded on Fact," by Cynthia M. Westover. The Morse Company, New York. Cream canvas cover with gold medallion and forty illustrations. Shall Bushy become a national character? There are mining plays without number but the little girl heroine of the Rocky Mountain gold diggers has never been sketched. Now she appears full of life, cuts off rattlesnake heads, sinks nail heads in the walls of log cabins with her revolver, saves the miners from death, swims rivers on her pony, catches Mexican horse thieves and does all manner and sorts of things that could be expected from a book heroine at large in a mining camp. There is a successful air of realism pervading the whole story that makes it readable and holds the interest to a finish be it old or young.

The report of America's Relief Expedition to Asia Minor under the Red Cross is received. This beautiful illustrated document recording the work of Miss Clara Barton in Armenia will be mailed to any part of the United States or Canada for 30 cents. Address National Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

AUMSVILLE.
Chas. F. Hein, our popular merchant, has treated himself to a fine carriage horse—one of Mrs. Peck's best Mason Chiefs—this proves to our minds that Charley is enjoying prosperity as well as other business men of our town.
Our church going people have been enjoying a series of sermons, by Mrs. Madril, a lady formerly from the East, but now living at the Capital City. She promises to be with us again, and we hope she will.
Rev. Alderson, of Salem, was in our city Monday, visiting his daughter, Mrs. Pierson and other friends.
O. H. Gilbert and C. Mitchell drove over to Salem last Monday morning, to look after business.
F. L. Pound, and daughter spent Monday in the capital city.
A dance at Gilbert's hall last Friday night, was well attended, considering the weather.

L. St. C. Fitzpatrick, a portrait and fresco painter, lately from Victoria, but formerly of 98 Eighth street, San Francisco, while painting in the building occupied by the Baker City National bank, fell through a skylight 18 feet, breaking several ribs and sustaining other injuries. It is thought that he will die.
The electric plant at Milton has suspended.

POLITICS.

Some of the Features of the Local Field.

No election ahead for a year and a half; but the "professionals" are busy making cabinet officers, slating county and state officers, and federal appointments for McKinley.

The Statesman which is claiming to be the only McKinley organ, is very silent about the failure to revive the Dinley bill, and the failure to get the Silver Republican senators into the caucus. One day it reads all the Silver Republicans back into the party, next day it reads them out.

The fact remains they were spotted at the recent Republican city primaries and refused the right to vote there, unless they were acceptable to the "gang," "sufficient recantation, confession and promises of loyalty to the old flag and an appropriation alone put silverites in good standing, and few Americans will do that.

How to kick the silver men all out of the party yet elect Mitchell with silver Republican votes is the Republican problem in Oregon.

THE BRYANITES, or silverites as they are offensively styled by the high-tariff gold claqueurs are enjoying the situation.

They have been waiting for the excitement of the November election and the city election to pass away but will now call their forces together, and begin an educational campaign that will last until the election of the next congress.

Whether they will confine their labors to shaping up the national issues or take part as an united reformer in county and state affairs is not yet known. No new party ever had such a loyal force of workers without pay or had such a loyal following among the people.

The American Bimetallic Union is founded on a solid principle and cannot be scattered or shattered by any hostile force. The chairmen in this county are a unit for consolidation, and the local workers in every precinct are ready to take hold of the work with enthusiasm.

The Bryan forces at the Capital City will soon be called together and will undoubtedly form a strong social and political organization. At his own request Mr. Bryan's name will be dropped and the principle he stands for will be emphasized.

The Ladies' McKinley club at Salem announces an early meeting at which flax culture and the erection of a flax mill will be discussed, and it is hoped an early completion of such an enterprise will result. The McKinley ladies club seems to be wide-awake and determined to carry on their work.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant but acts as a tonic and alternative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Fred A. Legg's drug store.

A Draw.
New York, Dec. 10.—Tommy West, of Boston, fought a nineteen-round draw with Joe Wolcott, the colored welter-weight, at the Marlborough club, last night.

Bryan Will Speak in Chicago.
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—W. J. Cryan has accepted the invitation of the Chicago Democrats to speak at their banquet on January 8th.

One reason why women are so generally troubled with some derangement of the distinctly feminine organism is that as girls they learn nothing about their own physical make up. Parents are waking up to the importance of education of this kind, and young women are becoming more and more able to take care of their health.

Carelessness in girlhood causes the greatest suffering and unhappiness in after life. Little irregularities and speakness in girls should be looked after promptly and treatment given at once. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription promotes regularity of all feminine functions, makes strength and builds up a sturdy health with which to meet the trials to come. The "Favorite Prescription" is not a universal panacea. It is good for but one thing. It is directed solely at one set of organs.

"I have been a sufferer from female weakness for six years. I grew worse; had severe cutting pains in left ovary; also in left side of stomach. The pain in left side was constant. I would have light spasms previous to monthly period and when the spasms were on I would suffer from severe soreness all over and could bear nothing to touch me.
