THE END OF THE REIGN

Leading Russian Paper Declares the Rule of the Czar Is Terminated

St. Petersburg, June 15.—The Russ today declares the government, without the people's support, is impotent to continue the war, and will be compelled to accept any terms. Only a national assembly, it insists, can now save the situation. It adds: "All decent classes of society are unanimously of the opinion that the present regime is done for, and that we must begin the history of a new Russia, a Russia for the people."

CHASED BY A BIG BEAR

Schooner Carmencita Being Run Down by a Revenue Cutter

San Francisco, June 15.—The United States government is threatened with suits for large amounts by F. J. Woodside, R. J. Ryan and other prominent shipping men, who were indicted for alleged conspiracy to catch seals in violation of the law, resulting in the stamp of piracy being placed on the schooner Carmencita. The accused not only deny that they owned the Carmencita, but that she has not done anything contrary to the law of the United States. Nothing has been heard from the Carmencita, which is somewhere in Behrin Sea, with the revenue cutter Bear in pursuit.

Cannot See Tolstoi.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—The government has declined to allow Count Tchertkoff, Tolstoi's representative in England, to have an interview with the famous author. Tchertkoff came from England on purpose for the interview.

A Thing Of Beauty

The Summit Town and Country Ladies' Shirt—A thing of beauty because of its natty, pleasing, graceful lines of style. A joy forever because of its delicious freedom of action; for that delightful artistic mannish effect, which is neither unsightly or common place. No fussing with endless uncomfortable stocks or collars, no time lost in dressing, just a button or two, a bright, soft tie knotted under the collar, and there you are, neat and attractive, ready to work or play. A combination never before attained in woman's wear, and, because of it, a necessary permanent part of every woman's wardrobe.

View these reproductions from life; note that same jaunty, smart effect, whether it be for street, house, school, office or athletics; whether it be worn in silks, batiste, challie, mohair, flannels, linen or other desirable cloths; whether it be in white, red, blue, green, brown, champagne or any of the great array of color creations. It is a practical, sensible idea, a thing that is here to stay, good for today, tomorrow, forever. A garment that discriminating dressers characterize as being a royal contribution to woman's comfort. Try one and become a willing devotee of the Town and Country Ladies' Shirt.

EAST AGAINST WEST

Secretary Taft Thinks the Pacific Coast Prejudiced Against Chinese

Oxford, Ohio, June 15.—Secretary of War Taft delivered the address at the commencement exercises of Miami University today. He spoke of Roosevelt's effort to terminate the war in the Far East as a distinct gain to our national prestige. He referred to the indiscriminate enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws, contending it was better to disregard the unreasonable demands of a portion of the community in the far West, who were deeply prejudiced, and to insist upon extending due justice and courtesy to a people from whom we are likely to derive immense benefit in the way of international trade. In the efforts to catch the coolie labor the United States was exposed to contumely and insult, and many merchants and students who had a right to come to the United States. On the subject of the Philippines he said he did not for a moment contend that for years they would prove anything but a burden to the United States. They had been forced upon us against our will, he declared, as trusts to be administered, and we should be recrossed to our high duties as a nation if we failed to meet the obligation. We believe that ultimately self-government is best for all people, and that all people can be prepared by constant labor and attention to enjoy the blessings of civil liberty.

STRIKE STILL STAYS

Chicago Grand Jury Getting Busy but Situation Remains Unchanged

Chicago, June 15.—Evidence of establishing conspiracies on the part of labor leaders is said to have been furnished today by John C. Driscoll, who resumed his testimony before the grand jury. The jury is prepared today to get at the vital evidence on which indictments will be based, if the charges are corroborated. Driscoll, according to District Attorney Heady, will furnish the names, dates, places and victims of the alleged conspiracies, and may be forced to go before the grand jury and talk. The state board of arbitration has not given up hope of settling the teamsters' strike. Today it is announced the board had formed a peace proposition which had been accepted by the teamsters, but rejected by the employers. Its terms were not made public.

When the grand jury adjourned for lunch State's Attorney Heady said: "The grand jury this morning received evidence from Driscoll that will keep this office busy for a week issuing subpoenas." He intimated that the subpoenas would include some very prominent men in the labor ranks and business circles. Driscoll's testimony began with his first connection with labor matters in 1892. He asserted that probably 50 per cent of the labor leaders in Chicago had received money from him as intermediary for the settlement of strikes, or to ward off impending difficulties. Many of these leaders, he claimed, received money regularly, some every week. He denied that he ever paid a cent to anybody to call a strike. He recited the history of the National Biscuit strike, hotel and waiters, street car, coal teamsters, office and building strikes.

BEST THERE IS

Sounds like a broad assertion; but some of our customers who have traveled say that our Ice Cream Soda is the best they have found any where. Pure fruit flavors is what does it.

GOOD LIVELY SHOW

Caged Wild Man Undertakes to Eat up the Balance of the Crowd

Vienna, June 15.—Three persons were killed and 18 seriously and 40 slightly injured as the result of a fight at a performance given by a traveling show at Derogyhas, Hungary. A pheasant boy volunteered to act as a subject for the "cannibal act." Several were bitten by a caged wild man. The casualties occurred during a fight caused by an attempt of relatives to rescue the boy.

MEET ON THE POTOMAC

Russia and Japan Will Settle Peace Times in Washington

Washington, D. C., June 15.—Washington has been selected for the place for holding the peace conference between Russia and Japan.

President Roosevelt has issued the following: "When the two governments of Russia and Japan were unable to agree on either Chefoo or Paris, the President suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting of the plenipotentiaries, and the President has accordingly notified both governments that Washington will be selected."

SWEDEN ABSORBS IRELAND

Shamrock and Snow Shoe Unite and Norway Isn't in it

Windsor, England, June 15.—Princess Margaret of Connaught, niece of King Edward, was married today to Prince Adolphus, of Sweden, the Swedish crown prince. The ceremonies were performed at St. George's chapel grounds, at Windsor castle, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Bishop of Oxford and several other ecclesiastics officiating. The streets and houses of Windsor were beautifully decorated with flags and flowers, and the chapel was filled with royal and distinguished guests, including the diplomatic corps. Members of the British and Swedish royal families occupied front seats in the chapel. The brief service of the Church of England was used. Following the ceremony the party drove to Windsor castle in the state carriages, being escorted by the Life Guards. A reception was held in the state department of the castle, after which a wedding dinner was served. The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in Ireland, and then go to Sweden.

SMASHED THINGS

St. Petersburg, June 15.—It is learned from authoritative sources that the official report of Rojestvensky's recent defeat, which was kept from the public, says that the Russian sailors were in a discontented mood throughout the entire voyage. Every prisoner on the ships, which were filled with mutineers, was released just before the battle. When Admiral Nebogotoff surrendered the sailors of his squadron broke out in open revolt, raided the officers' cabin, and smashed everything they could lay hands on. Not until the Japanese boarded the vessels was order restored.

VALLEY IN THE CITY

Marion Poured a Flood of Happy People into Portland

Salem day! That was yesterday. All morning the street cars were busy carrying the 1200 down to the depot, where, even at so early an hour that The Journal man had not "got there," the ten big coaches were filled with the beauty and youth of Marion county, whose cheeks and eyes were bright and sparkling from the morning ozone. The big platform was filled with an overflow crowd, who looked anxiously at those chattering and smiling on the other side of the car windows, and when the 7:15 train pulled in from Jefferson with seven big coaches there was a scrambling to get aboard that reminded one of a Republican convention. And then the seven cars pulled out and backed in again, and took the long string of coaches off for a day, Salem day, down at the exposition. Two big locomotives, one baggage car and 17 coaches, loaded to the doors, carried Salem's delegation. It was a jolly crowd sure, for there were no "vacant chairs" to cause a tear of sorrow. Indeed The Journal man saw some situations due to crowded conditions that made him wish he was also of the crowd. But a hard fate, and an unlucky draw at the straws forced him to stay at home and write of those who went in such cheerful mood as he could muster.

Ruminating on the ills of the world, the hard luck one plays in, and, incidentally getting all those harsher feelings softened by the scent of rose and beauty of lawn, the freshness of the morning and the unlimited ozone that poured down from the Cascades. It seemed when the train pulled out that all Salem had moved to Portland, yet going back to town one had to wonder if any one had gone. There were a thousand away, but, though a faces set two seemed lacking, when one stopped to figure on the situation, there did not seem to be any missing from town. Owing to the stores being closed the town had a quiet look, a sort of Sunday aspect, as in the old times, when the balloons were wide open on the side; but really the people who down to the city under the blaze of the tall tower lights can never realize how little they were missed.

Program at Portland.

This was carried out to the letter on the portico of the beautiful Oregon building. Mayor Waters was introduced by John H. Albert, in a fitting speech; he responded briefly, and introduced Col. J. H. Bigger, who made the formal address, setting forth the glories of the Capital City. The Stewart quartet covered itself with glory, and was the star number on the program, and when they sang the songs of glory about the old flag, that emblem waved over the heads of the crowd, and there was the greatest enthusiasm. Hon. J. M. Shelly, of Eugene, was present and spoke eloquently for the capital of the state. The train left for Salem at 10:30 p. m., and was filled to its utmost capacity. The crowd was
