WANTED SOME MONEY

Albuquerque, Sept. 30.—After a chase extending across the continent a special officer of the Santa Fe railway arrested George W. Barrett last night at Thornton, on the charge of blackmailing prominent railway magnates, and capitalists in different parts of the country. It is alleged Barrett wrote threatening letters to Paul Morton, president of the Equitable, in which he demanded $5000. On his person were found letters from big trust companies in St. Louis, New York and Chicago. Barrett is a negro, and apparently of fine education. He put up a desperate fight, but was overpowered. He claims Cleveland as his home, and says he is working for John D. Rockefeller. The indications are he is demented, and he will be examined as to his sanity.

Commencing September 1st

The Southern Pacific will sell special tickets to Portland and return, account Lewis and Clark exposition; rate: One and one-third fare for round trip, $1.85. Limit: Thirty days, but not later than October 31, 1905.

WILLAMETTE DEFEATED.

Local Team Makes a Good Showing in the Mixup.

By the small score of 12 to 0, the Stanford University football team Saturday defeated the Willamette eleven in the first game of the season for the local team. The score would be a good one under any circumstances, and under the conditions which the Willamette team was forced to play it was a remarkably close game. By the hardest kind of playing the southerners were enabled to score only one touchdown in each half.

Reports from California state that the Oregonians were able to go through the opposing line time and time again for big gains, but fumbles at critical points cost them dearly. With a sub behind the line, and being the first game Rader ever played at quarterback fumbles were to be expected. Stanford had the advantage of a former game this season, and two coaches, which were two important factors in the winning of the game.

The remarkable strength of the Willamette team was a great surprise to the Stanford people, and the game gives Willamette a place in football with the biggest teams on the coast.

Stanford last year defeated Oregon by the score of 35 to 0, Multnomah 30 to 0 and the University of California 17 to 0. A glance at these scores will be enough to show that the supporters of the local team have just cause to be proud of the showing made.

The next game will be with the University of California next Saturday, at Berkeley, and, while the Willamette team will be stronger by that time, it is also conceded that they will be up against harder proposition, for California has a much stronger team than last year.

We Can Help Both.

An education along practical lines, such as may be secured at the Capital Business College, of this city, is of untold benefit to both young men and young women. It may mean the difference between success and failure. If interested in a training that will make your services worth more in the business world and open opportunities of promotion to you, we can help you. Send for catalogue, or, better still, visit the school and talk with the principal. Students are entering daily.

WANT TO MEET JIM

Portland, Sept. 30.—Portland's commercial and business organizations are not overly pleased, speaking generally, with the prospects for the Hill banquet to be given Monday evening at the American Inn. A strong sentiment is aroused which is antagonistic to the manner in which this event has been taken from the hands of the commercial bodies and the directorship assumed by the Lewis and Clark exposition officials. The principal reason assigned for this ill-feeling is that the banquet will be made a social affair, and the invitation list contains but 600 names, while a large number of persons, including prominent shippers, bankers, merchants and financiers are anxious to meet Mr. Hill and receive him as would fittingly show the esteem in which he is held here as the promoter of a project in building the north-bank road, which stands foremost among the factors for future development of the Northwest.

The following statement of President H. M. Cuke, of the Commercial Club, shows in a large measure the prevalent sentiment. He said:

"The character of the entertainment, we respectfully submit, is wrong. The people should have had an opportunity to meet Mr. Hill. I am confident that a public reception would have brought out 5000 and more people, any one of whom would have been eager to meet Mr. Hill, but I do not believe that a 500-plate spread at the American Inn will be any measure of the popularity that the people of Portland would like to extend to Mr. Hill. I deem it exceedingly proper that the hospitality of the city of Portland should be extended under the auspices of the Lewis and Clark exposition, but that it should be in the form of a welcome broad enough to meet the demands of the occasion, and include the commercial and industrial life of the city."
