Diseases Brought by Emigrants.
Dr. Allan McLaughlin, United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, in an article on "Immigration and the Public Health," in which he discusses the various diseases introduced into the country by immigrants, says:

"The most important of these diseases, because of its frequency, is trachoma. Of the total number of cases of loathsome or dangerous contagious disease found in immigrants, 77 per cent are due to trachoma and 10 per cent to favus. Several years ago the prevalence of trachoma in the poorer districts of our large cities, and particularly among the foreign-born population, caused numerous requests from medical men engaged in eye work in various parts of the United States that trachoma be placed in the list of excluded affections. This was done in 1897, with the result that a great many suffering with the disease were taken from among the steaming immigrants and deported. It was then discovered that ordinary steaming aliens suffering from trachoma were being transferred to the cabin while en route or after being refused passage in the steerage at the port of departure would be sold a cabin passage, with the assurance that cabin passengers were not inspected at the port of arrival. To check this practice and to make the inspection of cabin passengers complete, an inspection of cabin passengers was instituted in the fall of 1898.

"The cabin inspection has been very successful in preventing evasions of the law, but many steamship companies were still apparently careless of the diseased condition of immigrants to whom they sold tickets. By the last immigration law (1903) a penalty of $100 is imposed upon the steamship companies for each diseased alien brought to our ports, provided the disease evidently existed at the time of the immigrant taking passage and could have been detected by ordinary medical skill. This penalty has had a salutary effect in causing the steamship companies to institute a more rigid medical inspection at the European ports of departure. Formerly the presence of a diseased alien in the steerage was a matter of more or less indifference to the steamship companies, as they could carry him back to Europe if deported, and still make a profit on the price of his original passage."

A Daredevil Ride
often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., "caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Bucklen's Arnica's Salve quickly healed it." Soothes and heals burns like magic. 25c at J. C. Perry, druggist.
