 Articles of Incorporation
 Granted Enterprises Backed

 Portland and Sandy River Electric Company, of Portland; capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, M. F. Donohoe, Dan J. Malarkey, Charlotte Ohle.
 The Iron Dyke Copper Company, incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania, with a capital stock of $500,000, filed a declaration of intention to do a general mining business at Homestead, Baker county, Oregon. A power of attorney was given to Frank E. Pearce to manage the business in Oregon.

Smiles
 That was a very pretty thunder shower this morning.
 To be in season The Capital Journal has a new summer dress.
 At Salem launch parties are the rage. The pleasures of the river are dawning on our young people.
 A few more poor devils convicted of timber land frauds, while the great corporations steal their millions of acres.

Those boys who got up West Salem park—call it Riverside park, boys—are the right stuff. They can do things without a government appropriation.
 We look for a statement in the Harriman time cards of the future like this: "The population of Salem is not 5000 as published heretofore, but nearer 20,000."
 The city of Eugene, without a mile of street car track, is advertised in the Harriman folders as having 6000 population, while Salem, with about eleven miles of electric road, is set down at 5000!

The newest Harriman advertising book, "Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and their resources, 1906," gives Salem a population of 14,000. That is more nearly right than 5000 as given in the blue folders.

Every Heart Beat

Forces about 8 ounces of blood out of the heart, and sends it coursing through the veins to the remotest part of the body. This is the amount required by nature to nourish and sustain your body. Every ounce less than this means a shortage in nature's supply of building-up material. A weak heart cannot meet this demand, and consequently you suffer. If your heart skips a beat, or flutters, palpitates, pains you, or you have shortness of breath, you may be sure that the heart is working imperfectly.
 Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will strengthen the heart muscles and nerves.
 "I had been a great sufferer for 15 years. At the time I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I had been confined to my bed for four months. I had many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop beating, necessitating the calling of a physician to resuscitate me. After finishing the first bottle the sickening spells had ceased, and I took altogether five bottles for a complete cure. I now enjoy perfect health, and am very grateful for this wonderful medicine, for it is the means of my being with my family now."

MORE LAND FRAUDS

Hendricks of Wheeler County is On Trial Now, and Who Next?
 The trial of Hamilton H. Hendricks, ex-United States commissioner, lawyer, president of the Butte Creek Land, Livestock & Lumber Company, and prominent citizen of Fossil, Wheeler county, for subornation of perjury of witnesses began before Judge William H. Hunt in the federal court yesterday.
 The entire forenoon was occupied in empanelling a jury, and it was noon when the last man took his seat in the jury box. Judge A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, represented Hendricks and United States Attorney Bristol represented the government.
 Six men were excused during the examination of jurors, three by the government, two by the defense and one for cause. Brice Wilson, of Washington county; J. A. Hatton, of Clackamas, and Arthur A. Harris, of Portland, were peremptorily excused by District Attorney Bristol. Harris, it was believed, was too well acquainted and too closely connected by business relations with ex-Senator Winlock W. Steiwer, who is a defendant in another case in which Hendricks is also indicted, and who is also a friend of Hendricks. Emanuel S. Brubaker, of Mount Tabor, was excused for cause, on the ground that he is in the employ of the government as superintendent of the postal station at that place. Taking testimony began in the afternoon.
 Hendricks is being tried for suborning George W. Hawks and Clyde Brown to commit perjury when summoned before the United States circuit court grand jury in January, 1905. It is alleged that Hawk and Brown were homestead applicants for land in Wheeler county, and that they were taking up the land with a view to transferring it to Clarence B. Zachary, manager of the Butte Creek Land, Lumber & Livestock Company, of which Hendricks was president.
 In a case under investigation by the grand jury against Winlock W. Steiwer, Hamilton H. Hendricks, Clarence B. Zachary, Adolbert C. Zachary, Charles A. Watson, Clyde E. Glass, Blinger Hermann, John H. Hall, Edwin Mays, Franklin Pierce Mays, Clark E. Loomis and Edward D. Stratford for conspiracy to illegally fence government lands, Hawk and Brown were examined as witnesses, and it is alleged that they were suborned by Hendricks to go before the grand jury and swear that they were taking up the land for themselves, when, according to the government theory of the case, they were taking it up for the purpose of turning it over to the company, upon which to build a fence to enclose Government land.

 Hendricks maintains a law office at Fossil. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon.
ASYLUM SAFE AND SANE.
 Everything Ship-Shape Today at Dr. Calbreath's Retreat.
 With the exception of a few holes through the roof, through which the unfortunates may study astronomy, everything is in splendid order at the Oregon insane asylum. Few marks of the fire of yesterday are in evidence. The beds and carpets that were saturated with water, were at once spread in the sun and were dry by night.
 The inmates occupied the wards in the north wing last night as usual.
 Dr. Calbreath, superintendent of the institution, says that the repairs made necessary by the fire, will be commenced as soon as he can procure the material, and he is of the opinion that the damages will not amount to more than $5000.
