ARTISANS DISTRICT MEETING.

Capital Assembly Initiated 25 Candidates Last Evening—Elaborate Banquet.

One of the most elaborate musical and literary programs which has been given in the city by local talent was rendered last evening in the assembly hall, after the business of the Artisans' district meeting had been finished. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there were many out-of-town visitors present to witness the local assembly initiate the 25 candidates, who were shown the mysteries of Artisanry, and to be entertained by the members of Capital Assembly and friends, after the business meeting closed. The lodge was honored by the presence of Supreme Master Artisan Hudson and Supreme Superintendent Morrow, who delivered addresses during the evening. The Artisan orchestra of this city, led by Charles Kurth opened the program with a selection, which was well received by the large audience.

A male quartet, composed of Messrs. Pierce, Ellis, Knowland and Parker, sang "My California Queen" in a manner, to use a trite expression, that brought down the house. It is useless to say that the violin solo by Professor LeRoy Gesner, Salem's talented violinist, was appreciated, and given a hearty encore. Mr. Gesner is a genius of rare musical attainments whose numbers always please even the most critical audience. He was accompanied by Mrs. C. D. Carnes, Salem's accomplished pianist, and was compelled to respond with a recall number.

Chester Catlow kept the audience in a roar of laughter by relating a story of a society swell calling on his lady love and sitting down on a sofa cushion which was smeared with glue. Mr. Catlow is a pupil of Dean Savage, of the Willamette University college of oratory, and has a pleasing and forcible manner of address that fascinates his hearers.

Probably the number most appreciated was "Faust," which was beautifully rendered by Mr. LeRoy Gesner and his stringed quintette. To say that the musical organization is composed of the following musicians is enough, Miss Lillian Stege, first violin; H. N. Stoudenmeyer, second violin; Edward Capper cello; R. Turney, string bass and Professor Gesner, viola.

Cooke Patton, the prince of entertainers, took an impromptu place on the program and entertained the crowd with hypnotic stunts in his usual able manner. After the program the members and the few invited guests repaired to the dining hall, where one of the famous Artisan banquets was served.

Cures Winter Cough.
 J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by D. J. Fry.

Last Monday Evening.
 There was a social hop given last Monday evening in the Elks' hall by Mr. R. G. Hunter and L. C. Stringer that will not be forgotten by those who attended for some time. Mr. Hunter and Mr. Stringer have already gained their fame as entertainers from the three dances given by them while they comprised the social committee of Company M, O. N. G. The dance last Monday evening was simply another one of their usual successes. The Peerless orchestra rendered service that was most fascinating to the dancers. The significance of the hop being held in the beautiful hall of the Elks, is of itself enough to convince anyone that all which would be presented would be the best in Salem to make the affair an elaborate success.

PRESENTS OF PAPER.

May Be Made at Home in a Few Hours.

It is not too late to make attractive Christmas presents at home, even if the selection has been delayed until the last few days, for the woman who is ingenious can fashion decidedly effective gifts out of cardboard and bright colored paper, and by choosing practical and artistic models can turn out just as acceptable articles as those made by experts.

In making paper gifts the amateur must remember that, though the actual work is easy, consisting only of cutting and pasting, this must be carefully done or the materials will be spoiled and the labor wasted. For this reason the simplest kind of models should be decided upon as gifts to be made in a hurry, for the easier they are to fashion the less difficult the task will be.

If an envelope holder should be chosen as a gift, the work on it would require but a short space of time and really no skill, for it can be made of three or four pieces of cardboard cut square, round or with the upper edge in scallops. One of these pieces—the one that is to form the back—should be at least one-third wider than the other two, while the second piece need not be more than two inches deeper than the last or third one. The width of all three must of course be the same.

When cut to please the fancy, paste on decorative crape paper in a light shade of tan, blue or pink on which there are bright colored flowers, such as red roses and yellow chrysanthemums, tied prettily with long ribbon.

When the paste is thoroughly dry, an edging of heavy paper or tape to finish the pieces at the top should be added. At the bottom or about an inch from the edge of each two holes should be made, one on either side, for through these openings ribbons that tie the pieces together are run. The ribbons are made into pretty knots and help decorate the holder. Through two holes at the top of the large piece of cardboard a ribbon is fastened with bowknots, so that the holder may be attached to the wall or a desk—wherever it will hang conveniently.

Quite as serviceable as the holder and equally appropriate for man and woman is a blotter for a desk. It is made of a square piece of cardboard, over which a light blue or delicate pink blotting pad is placed. This is held down by four decorative corners made of cardboard covered with crape paper in pretty floral designs. These corners are made like right angled triangles to fit the square edges of the bottom and are attached to the latter by fine wires.

A Knitting Needle Case.
 A most suitable present for a lover of knitting is a case in which the different sizes of needles may be kept and preserved from rust when not in use.

The outer cover, composed of any pretty material, may be as elaborately worked as you like. It must be cut a little longer than the length of the longest needle it is to hold, and about three times as wide as it is long. In making the case you will be guided by your own or the recipient's usual requirements in the way of knitting needles, as one or two sizes may be preferred to the entire "set."

The lining should be of wash leather. Choose a piece with a not too aggressive yellow tint and not "thin" in places. Cut it to the size of the case and allow half an inch over to be pinned out and show over the edges.

Before fixing in, place a moderately wide piece of leather down the center piece and make as many runnings across it as will correspond with the number of knitting needles the case is destined to hold. If desired, the leather lining need only meet the edges of the case, which may be bound with ribbon. The case can be rolled up with not in use and tied with a ribbon from the outside. These cases can be adapted for various uses by regulating the size of the center runnings, into which can be slipped embroidery silks as well as knitting needles, and such a case lined with oil silk would make an admirable brush holder for a student in water color painting.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. J., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by J. C. Perry, druggist, 50c.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.
