

Mutt and Jeff Make a New Year's Resolution

By "Bud" Fisher

SOUTHERN OREGON PIONEER IS DEAD

With the passing of James McVay, who died at the home of his daughter in Crescent City, Cal., one of the prominent figures in the early life of Oregon and California is gone.

The early history of Southern Oregon and Northern California was written about the life of James McVay. Probably no other pioneer saw so much of the thrilling days when the country was in the making. McVay first crossed the plains in 1851, locating at Jacksonville, Or., where he spent a year mining on Jackson creek. When the Coos Bay company began the exploitation of the territory now known as Coos county, he, with a party of 100 others, journeyed there in 1852, crossing the mountains between the Umpqua river and Coos Bay. On the arrival of the party, McVay and his brother Joseph, took part in the discovery of the coal mines now operated there. A company was formed but the work was abandoned, owing to the difficulty of placing the product in a market. After abandoning the coal mine venture, he turned his energies toward other lines of endeavor, but the roving spirit and tales of wealth to be obtained in the south lured him.

In company with his brother, McVay, in 1854, journeyed down the coast to the mouth of the Rogue river where they became the original owners of the famous sand mines that gave Gold Beach its name. Wealth was within their grasp when the Rogue river war broke out, and they escaped from the Indians only after they had seen their buildings and mining ditches destroyed. Continuing their travels on down the coast they discovered the famous Dolan mines at Pistol river, remaining there until 1858, when another Indian outbreak resulted in the destruction of their plant, and in the fight that ensued during their escape James McVay was wounded by a rifle bullet.

After recovery from his wound McVay returned to Missouri, where he was married, and then, acting as guide, piloted a large party across the plans to the section now known as Curry county, where they located. In the early '70s McVay moved to the Smith river country, where he established a hotel and was thus engaged at the time of his death.

Died.
W. Henry Applegate, one of the best known pioneer citizens of Jackson county, died at his home on the Dead Indian road, Friday morning, January 3, 1913, at 4 o'clock, of heart trouble. The funeral was held Sunday January 5, at 2 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church, Ashland. Rev. H. T. Chisholm officiating, followed by interment in Mountain View cemetery.

FOR MAYOR

In announcing my candidacy for the mayoralty, I wish to say that, as we have every assurance of a most prosperous year, let us guard against errors in public affairs.

Now, as to the public market, I want to say that I am, and always have been, a strong advocate of the public market. I was among the first of the council to favor and promote it. I feel that the success of our market is due as much to my efforts as any other member of the council. I shall, if elected, use every honorable effort to make it a continued success, as I realize the great benefit it is to both producer and consumer.

Now, as to the saloons. So long as the state and the city license them to do business, they are entitled to do so; but I am a strong advocate of law enforcement, as the laws exist, and when the laws are wrong, we have a remedy. It's up to the public. I firmly believe in development and progress, but not to the extent of reckless extravagance. We must guard against this recklessness, but not to the extent of retraction. I am strictly opposed to any special privileges as to locations, persons or corporations, but adhere rigidly to the best interests of the public.

I believe that the same consideration is due to the ladies as to the men, in all our public affairs.
(Paid Advt.)

W. W. Eifert
For the information of the voters of Medford, I take this method of announcing my position on the principal questions of interest to the people of our city.

If elected, my time and services will always be available to the public and suggestions and criticisms will at all times receive most careful consideration. When ever it is apparent that the majority of our citizens are united in opinion opposite to my individual views, I will yield to the majority, regardless of my personal opinions.

Our public market should be encouraged and developed along such lines as will result in the greatest advantage to the community.

Our laws regarding sanitary conditions should be actively enforced, and supplemented by others if the existing ordinances are inadequate.

My experiences have convinced me that the suggestions offered from time to time by the women of the community, even before the right of suffrage was extended to them, have always been of value, and should receive the utmost consideration.

Our present laws regulating the saloons and the sale of liquor, and such other restrictions as the council or people may hereafter enact, should be rigidly enforced, and if found inadequate, or insufficient, should be amended.

Our water rates should be revised so that the cost of maintenance, and the necessary contributions to the sinking fund may be equitably distributed among the consumers, but no surplus should be accumulated at the expense of the rate payer.

The work of the finance committee and of the other principal committees of the council should be open to suggestion and subject to criticism, and the criticism, suggestions, and co-operation of representatives of our various civic bodies should be invited and encouraged in such work.

If elected I pledge myself to use my utmost endeavor to carry out the ideas outlined above, and to give Medford an impartial, progressive, business administration.
(Paid Advt.)

J. E. Watt
"At the solicitation of many citizens I have decided to become a candidate for the office of mayor at the coming election in January. In this connection I wish to state that if elected, I will use my best efforts to give the city a clean business administration."
(Paid Advt.)

C. E. Gates

During the last ten days a number of citizens have called upon me, requesting me to become a candidate for mayor of the city of Medford. After due consideration and consultation with citizens in all lines of business, I have decided to announce myself as a candidate for said office. I therefore present to the voters of Medford, for their consideration, my platform, which is as follows:

An honest, open and above-board, clean cut business administration.

A fair and square deal at all times. Equal rights to all. Special privileges to none.

A genuine peoples public market. Regarding the liquor question. Personally I do not drink, never have, but as long as the government, state and city license saloons, and under strict regulation they obey the law, they are entitled to protection. Should they persist in disobeying the law, their license should be revoked.

A careful accounting of all finances. All disbursements subject to public inspection and open for publication by the city press.

Due consideration of all petitions for and against public improvements. A rigid practice of economy, except when such economy has a tendency to retard progress.

I will further all progressive matters of general improvement for the city, but such must come within the scope of good business.

I shall endeavor to use my best efforts for the keeping of the city in a sanitary condition at all times.

Whereas, after years of struggle, the women have been given the privilege of exercising their rights of citizenship, due consideration will be given them on all matters of public importance. Should I be elected, I assure the people that I will be mayor in fact as well as name. I will not be the tool of any clique, and will be influenced only by what I believe to be right and equitable. If the above platform meets with your approval and you believe I am capable of filling the office, I will appreciate your support.

C. E. GATES.
