BULL MOOSERS LOSE LEGISLATURE'S CONTROL

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 14.—With the election of Howard Taylor as speaker of the house and Pinney Allen as president of the senate by a combination of democratic and republican votes, indications today are that the combine will control the legislature throughout. The progressives were defeated decisively on the election of the officials and were worsted again on the fight to reform the house rules. Despite this, the "Bull Moosers," after a caucus last night, decided to continue the fight to break the "Canon-like rules which give the speaker arbitrary power in shaping legislation."

HAMMOND SUED FOR $211,000 TIMBER CUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The government today instituted suit against A. B. Hammond multimillionaire lumber king, to recover $211,000 and interest gained by Hammond from federal lands in Montana. The government maintains that several lumber interests which Hammond controls cut and removed twenty-one million feet of timber from the Blackfoot and Hell Gate districts without a warrant of any kind.

WILSON GRILLS TRUST LAWS OF NEW JERSEY

Governor Bitterly Arraigns State Laws Fostering Combines—Corporation Laws of State Notoriously in Need of Alteration.

People of State at Mercy of Corporations of Every Kind and Remedy Must Be Provided.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—The legislature convened here at noon today, most of the opening session being devoted to the reading of the last message which Gov. Woodrow Wilson will send to the legislature. The senate elected James Fiebler president pro tem, and he will automatically succeed Wilson as governor March 4.

Grills Trust Laws Governor Wilson's message bitterly arraigned the state laws fostering trusts. He praised the progressive legislation enacted by the last legislature, and urged the present session to keep abreast of advanced methods.

Wilson's message said in part: "The corporation laws of the state are notoriously in need of alteration, for they are manifestly inconsistent with the policy of the federal government. As they now stand, instead of checking monopoly, they actually encourage it. It is our duty and opportunity to amend those statutes, not only in this matter but also in such a way as to provide responsible officials for the supervision of the whole process of incorporation, who will put salutary checks upon increase of the issuance of securities not based upon bona fide valuation."

At Mercy of Trusts The people of the state are at present, moreover, at the mercy of investment companies of every kind. Securities of any and every sort can be sold in New Jersey by irresponsible persons and the purchasers must depend upon their own investigations to ascertain whether they are bogus or based upon good business. They should have the protection of the law. Investment companies should be put under inspection and regulation by the state, and no one should be allowed to sell securities in New Jersey without public license issued from the department exercising the rights of inspection and regulation. New Jersey is very late indeed in affording her people this protection.

The plan of the syndicate is to promote horse-racing, bull and cock fighting, gambling and prize fights.

SHERIFF SINGLER HOLDS UP CANON

At near midnight on the S. P. tracks at a particularly lonely point a half mile this side of Phoenix, Verne Canon of Medford looked into the muzzle of a gigantic revolver Sunday night while a dark lantern illumined his features, and fervently prayed that the earth might open and swallow him whole. When a voice behind the revolver growled "hands up" Canon ceased even to pray and, with his fingers pointed at the stars above, waited for the inevitable. "Well, I'll be god-danged, what are you doing here?" came from the supposed holdup man and, behold 'twas none other than our hero Sheriff Singler on the trail of the Phoenix bandits.

Canon explained his mission so far from Medford as one of a purely social nature, and Singler was satisfied, but not until he had deputized Verne, who joined in the hunt for the bandits. The two sleuths hunted down all the clues obtainable and returned in the early morning minus their quarry. "It's no pleasant experience to be taken for a highwayman" says Verne "and the business end of a revolver under certain conditions looks mighty imposing."

You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in ginseng and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula. STOMACH'S VITALITY IS MURDER DEFENSE

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 14.—Depending on the newest medical theory that the stomach will digest food even after the body is dead, attorneys for Wm. Flegle, convicted of killing his sister, are today fighting in court to free the wealthy young farmer. They offered the testimony of doctors of Chicago, who examined the woman's stomach after disinterment and said that she had been killed at least three hours after she had eaten a meal. The fact that the food was digested shows this, they say. The state's attorneys are attempting to disprove this by showing that the stomach was pushed around while the surgeons were probing for the bullet. No motive is known for the crime. Flegle is making his appeal for a third trial, the last time having been sentenced to ten years.
