

HOW WEST SPENT HIS VACATION AT HIS SEASIDE RANCH

(Special Correspondence)
SALEM, Ore., Feb. 26.—Governor West is still limping from a sprained knee received rubbing stumps on his Canon beach ranch Saturday.

"How did you do it governor; sliding down 'in a hole'?" he was asked.

"No, I did that climbing out of the hole," he retorted.

Speaking of the excitement caused by his disappearance the governor said:

"This is the first time I ever heard that the governor of this state must get permission from the legislature whenever he wants to go away for a day or two."

Hiked for Seaside

"I was on the job here for forty days and nights waiting for the legislature to do something, and as my desk was clear of all legislative work last Friday I decided I needed a rest and to go down to my ranch near Canon Beach and cut some brush and perform other clearing up work."

"The time I spent on the ranch was such a lovely one. The roar of the ocean was delightful—much more pleasing than the roar of the legislature one hears about here. All day Saturday I spent about the ranch. In so doing I sprained my knee. In the evening I sat and watched the fireplace listening to the yarns, stories related by some friends and neighbors."

"On Sunday I sat and watched the fireplace some more, and also listened to canned sacred music. Of course in view of my moral and vice crusade on, no one would expect me to travel on Sunday."

Horse Threw a Shoe

"On Monday I started on my return trip to Salem, departing from the ranch on horseback for Seaside where I could catch a train. But that horse threw a shoe en route. It was then up to me to either disappoint the legislature or hurt the horse, so I decided on the former course, and turned back."

"I walked as far as I could, then I met a farmer from whom I got a horse. The horse wasn't shod and the road was rocky. It was a question of speeding the horse and hurting its feelings or letting him take his time and hurting the feelings of the legislature. I decided in favor of the horse."

"While I was riding along I overtook a man on a loaded wagon. He was going to let me pass when he recognized me."

"No I won't do it," he yelled at me. "I've got you just where I want you. The longer I keep you here the longer I keep the legislature from raising our taxes."

"And you can believe me, I didn't run across any taxpayers down there who cared whether I got back to Salem or not. They weren't worrying about the appropriation bills not being signed."

BASS SOLOIST MAKES A DECIDED HIT

The public is responding splendidly to the new policy of the Ugo theatre management in making a change of soloists each evening. Last night H. W. Brooks of this city, a bass soloist of true ability, appeared for the first time and made an instantaneous hit with his audience. Mr. Brooks will sing again next Saturday evening.

Miss Catherine Murphy will be heard this evening. She sang last Sunday evening in a very pleasing manner. Carl Mittleberger is on the list, as is Fletcher Fish, as soloists. Others will be secured. Variety will be sought."

The "Rusty Hinge" Quartette will sing on Friday evening. This quartette composed of Messrs. Fish, Lawrence, Mittleberger and Merrill, is a ton notcher.

LOCAL SOCIALISTS TO HOLD SOCIAL SESSION

Local socialists will hold their first social dance and card party this evening at 7:30 in Smith's hall on North Grape street, in which a novelty program has been arranged by the ladies' committee. Light refreshments will be served by the ladies. The whole program will be as informal as possible and everyone is welcome. Several impromptu talks will be given by well known socialists from Germany, Montana, and nearby towns. The comrades from Germany being one of the original twelve to organize the party in 1869.

WOLGAST IS DUE; KING SAYS HE WILL BUY RANCH HERE

Ad Wolgast, ex-lightweight champion of the world, is due in Medford in the next day or two for the purpose of concluding the purchase of a 1500 acre stock farm near this city. It was originally announced that he would reach Medford Wednesday evening but his arrival may be delayed a few days.

According to Jack King, the Portland trainer who has just returned from San Francisco, Wolgast was better pleased with what he saw of Medford and the Rogue river valley than any other section of Oregon. King states that Wolgast intended to return to Medford to close the deal.

A return match between Wolgast and Murphy is now unlikely owing to the demands of the two boys for big money.

REDDY RECEIVER OLD CHANNEL MINE

GRANTS PASS, Feb. 26.—Upon the application of lien claimants, Judge Calkins has appointed Dr. J. F. Reddy as receiver for the Old Channel Mining company, a corporation holding one of the most noted of the placer mines of the Galice district. Numerous labor and material claims had been filed against the company during the past winter.

The court has also recently approved the claim of J. R. Harvey of this city to a 10-85ths interest in the Old Channel Mining company, he having brought action against Thos. W. Browning, Geo. Sanders, et al. to establish his right in the matter, and the affirmation of his contention followed. Mr. Harvey was already owner of one-sixth of the stock in the company.

These orders of the circuit court put the affairs of the Old Channel in a fair way to settlement and the adjudication of the claims against the company should follow with the least possible delay. Dr. Reddy is well known as a thorough-going business man, and under his direction the Old Channel will undoubtedly see the end of its difficulties.

MAYOR ARGUES FOR BONDS WITH FISTS

Interest in the bond election at Eagle Point reached the fighting stage Tuesday when Mayor William Von der Hellen of that place mixed it for several rounds with Charles Haward, a P. & E. brakeman. Haward held forth against the advisability of bonding Eagle Point for $10,000 to improve the streets and the mayor took exceptions, using right and left swings to emphasize his objections. Spectators separated the men before the issue was thoroughly fought out.

The election is called for Friday, Feb. 28, and has stirred up no end of discussion and excitement.

SUPREME COURT UNTANGLES OREGON SAVINGS BANK CASE

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 26.—Decisions in the famous Oregon Trust & Savings bank cases have been handed down by the supreme court. In both cases, the decree of the lower court is modified.

In the principal case, in which Thomas C. Devlin, as receiver for the Oregon Trust & Savings bank, against Walter H. Moore and Henry A. Moore, appellants, while Elmer E. Lytle, W. H. Copland, L. O. Ralston, Leo Friede, Albert T. Smith and W. Cooper Morris were also defendants, the decree of the lower court is changed as to Henry A. Moore, who is out held liable for the losses of the bank. The decree of the lower court is affirmed as to Lytle, Copland, Ralston, Friede and Smith, who were not held liable.

Morris was held liable for the funds but he did not appeal.

"RAILROADS WILL FOLLOW WHEN YOU HAVE IRRIGATION"

"You fellows should build your irrigation system and good roads first, then you will get the railroads you need."

This in substance is what Portland business men think of the local situation, states J. W. Dudley, who has just returned from the north. He reports business at Portland and Seattle good.

"The Portland business men are closely in touch with conditions here," states Mr. Dudley, "and know of the movements on foot. But they all say that the valley should secure irrigation and good roads first, then the railroads will follow."

HOURLY SERVICE ON VALLEY RAILROAD

An hourly service on the Rogue River Valley railroad has again been put into effect and according to Will Barnum it will be continued indefinitely regardless of competing automobile lines. This makes it possible to make a hurry up visit at the court house. The hourly service will be of advantage to taxpayers who will be visiting the county seat in force next month.

"We find that the people demand an hourly service," states Mr. Barnum, "and so we have put one on which will remain indefinitely."

RAPID FIRE MOTOR RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

A special time schedule on Rural Route No. 3 is to be provided by Uncle Sam for O. G. Vroman of this city who has just received his appointment as a carrier. Vroman will cover the route on a motorcycle which he has especially fitted with equipment to carry 100 pounds of mail. As the cycle make rapid time a new time schedule is to be provided.

The route is 26 miles long and the present schedule calls for a return to the postoffice not earlier than 2 p. m. each day. Vroman can cover the route easily by 10 a. m., so a special schedule is to be provided.

HAVE YOU GOT YOUR COLD YET?

Have you got your spring cold yet? Everybody's coughing! An epidemic of plain old-fashioned colds is raging in the city and sneezes, coughing and sniffling is the order of the day. Drug stores are doing a rushing business with cough drops.

The colds are due, the doctors say to the change in weather. During the past month of sunshiny days, the people were too quick in responding with spring apparel.

PAGE MAY START NEW BLOCK SOON NEAR NEW THEATRE

Dr. F. C. Page is contemplating the erection of a one story brick building at the southwest corner of Main and Riverside. The building is to be of white brick and built on a foundation strong enough to permit the addition of more stories in the future. It is understood that a tenant is already to take the building when it is completed. Is the erection of the opera house Dr. Page took time by the forelock by providing a firewall, chimneys and supports to hold beams for a building to the west, should he decide to build one. The lot west of the opera house has long been vacant save for a foundation which abuts that of the new theatre.
