NO MORE HANGINGS FOR WASHINGTON

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 22.—Governor Ernest Lister this morning signed the bill abolishing capital punishment in this state. The law will go into effect June 11.

Some doubt had been felt about the governor's signing the measure because its companion bill, to prohibit the pardoning of a murderer unless he shall have served at least 20 years in the penitentiary, was overlooked by the legislature and did not come to a final vote.

Representatives from every fruitgrowing section in Oregon, Washington and Idaho are present at the conference being held here. They will conclude tonight.

Get Busy

In order to reduce a surplus in certain lines of stock I will, for a few days only, offer Cornice, Anjou and Howell pear and Jonathan apple trees at prices that will make you sit up and take notice.

There has been an unusual demand for Bosc pear trees and, while I still have a fair stock of this variety on hand, the heavy demands for the Bosc have left a surplus in certain other lines of stock.

This is not a blood-and-thunder, price murdering, bankrupt sale—not at all. I have had a splendid trade, double the volume of trade I had expected under present conditions, and with ideal grounds and my new 24x60 ft. packing house I am better prepared than ever to take care of the demands of my patrons.

This is my loss, your gain. The goods are guaranteed to please and the price will be right. This is not a job lot of stock, but is high grade goods in every way. I simply have a surplus in certain lines of stock and in order to get this stock into the hands of planters that can make use of it and do it quickly I am marking the goods so the price cannot stand in the way of a deal.

Remember these special prices apply to the varieties named above and are subject to withdrawal without notice when the surplus has been reduced to normal conditions.

I still have a good stock of shade trees ranging in price from 15c to 60c. Splendid shade trees going by the way at 25c and miles of street parking in the city without a shade tree. Now what do you know about that?

I do not make roses a specialty, but carry double the stock of any dealer in Southern Oregon.

Remember everything leaving this nursery is guaranteed to PLEASE. If the stock does not PLEASE make a holler and make it quick and to ME. All stock is properly handled and a visit to the yards will convince you if you have any doubts.

The roots of all stock are given a mud bath and properly protected before leaving the yards. This costs me time and money and means dollars to the planters, and me also, for by giving the stock proper care I get the trade.

If you are in need of anything in the nursery line write or phone me, or, better still, call at my place of business, one block east of the new Main St. bridge.

You are always welcome, whether you buy or not.

CONFESSES AND GOES TO PRISON

SEATTLE, Wash., March 22.—Having the very depths of his soul, asking for no leniency, but pleading for the forgiveness of the little girl whom he mistreated, her parents, his own wife and family, and all Christians, Adam J. Mayer, a well known local mission worker, started Superior Judge James T. Ronald and a courtroom crowded with spectators here today by a most spectacular and dramatic confession, in which the man reviewed his life from childhood, blaming his immorality upon a man who led him astray in early youth. He was sentenced to from 18 months to 10 years at Walla Walla. Mayer was arrested Wednesday and charged with mistreating his young niece, two years ago.

The statutory establishment of a minimum wage of at least one pound weekly for agricultural laborers is looked for in England.
