SENATORS VISIT SCENE OF RIOTS AT COAL MINES

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 12.—Changing their plans at the eleventh hour, the senate sub-committee investigating strike conditions in West Virginia coal mines today decided to personally visit the scene of warfare.

Accompanied by attorneys for both sides and newspaper men, the committee left at 10 o'clock this morning for the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek districts.

Former Governor Glasscock, who was scheduled to testify here today, wired the committee at the last moment that he had missed his train and would be unable to appear.

The committee then decided to devote the day to inspection and probably will examine a few witnesses.

Before leaving for the mining districts the sub-committee held a ten minute session. John Goldsborough, a miner in the Boomer fields, asked aid from the committee. He said his mail was being tampered with, his letters opened and that he and his family were driven out of their home because he volunteered to testify at the inquiry. The committee will investigate Goldsborough's story.

ONLY 25 PER CENT OF WAR VETERANS AMONG SURVIVORS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Of the great army of veterans of the Civil war, who passed in grand review before President Grant at the white house to the number of nearly 2,000,000, at the close of the hostilities, less than 25 per cent were alive to participate in the annual Thirtieth of May celebration last month. Upon request of the United Press, officials at the Pension office today looked up the records of veterans of wars of the United States. This compilation showed that on May 30th last, there were in various parts of the world 457,000 survivors of the civil war. On the same day there were less than 1000 survivors of the Mexican war. There is not the name of a single survivor of the war of 1812 in the Pension office records, but there are about 200 widows of veterans of the second war with Great Britain who are today drawing pensions.

The average age of the civil war veteran today is 71. According to the average death rate of the veterans of that conflict it is estimated that there will be 40,000 less civil war pensioners next year than there were this year, and that the deaths for 1915 will number approximately 50,000. In ten years, Pension office officials declared today, the United States will be paying no more pensions to civil war veterans. In five years it is expected there will be no more Mexican war veterans.

In the last two years it has cost the government about $200,000,000 annually to pay pensions, and this year it costs more owing to the new "dollar-a-day" pension law which has become effective. Last year the outlay was about $154,000,000, which included the upkeep of the pension office here.

WASHINGTON'S NEW LAWS IN EFFECT

SEATTLE, Wash., June 12.—The mothers' pension law, the lazy husband act to make "loafing spouses" work for the county to support their wives, the Iowa red-light law, the prohibition of fake advertising, the abolition of trading stamps and coupons with sales, the abolition of capital punishment, the initiative, referendum and recall (except for judges)—these and other laws to the number of 184 go into effect today. About 150 of the new laws are appropriation measures.

Under the mothers' pensions, indigent mothers are to get $15 per month where there is but one child, and $5 monthly for each additional child. Under the "lazy husband" act, loafing husbands will be made to work for the county and their wages, not to exceed $1.50 per day will go to their families. Under the new law, Governor Lester will appoint a state industrial commission of welfare, which is to regulate the conditions of labor and fix minimum wages for women.

ORLIE RUSH OF ASHLAND DROWNED IN ROGUE RIVER

Orlie R. Rush, aged 25, of Ashland, an employe at the Bonton Bowers ranch, was drowned in Rogue river in a rifle opposite the Bowers ranch, about two miles above Gold Ray dam, Wednesday afternoon. His body had not been found Thursday afternoon, although six men were searching for it. Rush and his father, C. G. Rush, were fishing from a boat. In attempting to assist two other fishermen whose boat had caught in a submerged snag, the boat capsized. Young Rush, who was unable to swim, sank at once and was not seen again. He had on heavy hip boots which evidently drew him down. Search for the body continued until midnight and was resumed at daylight. The drowned man was formerly a car repairer in the Southern Pacific shops at Ashland, a brother of Virgil Rush and popular among a wide circle of friends.

APPLES TRUMPS IN LONDON NOW

Feed H. Hopkins has received a letter from W. Dennis & Sons, the great English fruit merchants, containing good news of foreign market prospects. Mr. Dennis says: "From reports to hand it would appear that the prospects are for a big crop of apples in your district. We are looking forward to handling a good proportion of it during the coming season. Apples are trumps here at the present time, Australian and Tasmanian fruit realizing any where from 10s to 14s per box. There is a failure in the French soft fruit crops and there is nothing in the way of fruit here at the moment but apples and bananas."

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN TORE HER CLOTHES

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Malone, N. Y. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a lot of good. I first heard of it when I was a girl and I always said that if I ever had female trouble I would take it. I suffered from organic inflammation and would have spells when I would be in such pain that I would tear my clothes. One day my husband got the neighbors in to see what the matter was but they could not help me. My first thought was for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sent my husband out for it and took it until I was entirely cured. I am a woman of perfect health and my health and happiness came from Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. You may rest assured that I do all I can to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends." — Mrs. FRED STONE, Route No. 3, Malone, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Men become attached to their Studebakers—proud of them. Because they realize that a Studebaker is built on honor and with an experience in wagon building that dates back to 1852. Studebaker wagons are a result of that long experience, coupled with a desire to build the best wagons, not cheap ones. And when your dealer says "Buy a Studebaker—there's no better wagon made" he's giving you the verdict of a million farmers. He is not asking you to try an experiment.
