60,000 LUNATICS TIED BY WEDLOCK IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, June 12.—Declaring there are between 60,000 and 70,000 certified lunatics in England who are bound by the marriage tie and whose wives or husbands, as the case may be, are doomed to a life of celibacy, Lady Willoughby de Broke, vice president of the Divorce Law Reform Union, today announced that Sir David Brynmor Jones has consented to introduce in parliament a bill which will extend the grounds on which divorce may be granted. At present, infidelity is the essential ground of every absolute divorce proceeding. Lady Willoughby today explained the proposed changes. "We base our demands for the changes on the general ground of human happiness and morality which cannot be served under the present laws. It is true that legal separations which prevent remarriage are granted for persistent cruelty, continued desertion, habitual inebriety, neglect to maintain, etc., but this is not enough. It is preposterous to demand that innocent victims of drunkards, wife beaters or lunatics be forced into a life of celibacy or immorality. We maintain that whatever justifies lifelong separation also justifies absolute divorce with the privilege of remarrying by the innocent party. We believe with the royal commission, which recently completed an exhaustive inquiry into this question, that absolute divorce decrees should be granted for infidelity, desertion for three years, cruelty, insanity after five years' imprisonment, habitual drunkenness found incurable after three years, and imprisonment for life."

CLAIM RED SOX SPIKED CLEVELANDERS

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—Charges that the champion Boston Red Sox are so sore at their position in the American league race that in yesterday's long game they deliberately tried to cripple the Naps were freely made here today when the Cleveland contingent arrived from the Hub. Joe Wood, the Boston star pitcher, is blamed for part of the trouble. Wood "beated" Larry Lajoie during the game, almost "beating" Manager Joe Brunningham, who was on the coaching line, and two other members of the Cleveland team were spiked. Neither of the latter were seriously hurt. The Naps declare there is an evident conspiracy among the Boston men to cripple those teams which lead them in the pennant race.

ORLIE RUSH OF ASHLAND DROWNED IN ROGUE RIVER

Orlie Rush, 25 years old, of Ashland, was drowned in Rogue River Wednesday afternoon just above the Gold Ray dam when the boat in which he and his father, C. G. Rush, were attempting to extricate two fishermen capsized throwing all four men into the deep water. Mr. Rush and his son were fighting at Gold Ray when two fishermen unable to get their boat loose from a submerged tree trunk called for help. The two men got in their boat and rowed out to assist them. As Rush and his father stood up attempting to pull the stranded craft free the swift current swung the boat about throwing the men out and capsizing the second boat. The father called to the other men to help his son but it was too late.

NORMAL ALUMNI PREPARE TO MAKE STATE CAMPAIGN

The seventeenth annual reunion of the alumni association of the southern Oregon state normal school took place in the assembly hall of the Ashland public library Monday evening. It brought together a good attendance of the live spirits and the enthusiasm manifested kept the meeting in session until midnight. Two former presidents of the school, W. T. Van Scoy of Ashland and R. F. Mulkey of Medford, as well as J. W. Millan, J. A. Bish, Miss Kaiser, Homer Billings, J. P. Wells, Mr. Holmes, Mrs. Perenzi and others spoke. A letter from Worth Harvey of Cottage Grove filled the meeting with enthusiasm and hope. The remarks bore upon the matter of the methods of getting upon the merits of the issue before the voters of Oregon and practically every resource available was touched upon. One factor of especial virulence and character looked to for help was the Rogue River Valley University Club. Appeals were also sent out to the alumni associations of the various schools and colleges and colleges, teachers institutes, and other organizations whose purposes are germane to the purposes of the general uplift. A committee on resolutions consisting of Mr. Mulkey, Mr. Van Scoy, Mr. Wells, Miss Julia Fielder, Mr. Billings and Miss Kaiser was named. To meet some expense incident to keeping up the preliminary campaign during the summer $15 was subscribed and Miss Lydia McCall, Miss Julia Fielder, Miss Benlah Caldwell, Mrs. Susie Praecht and Roy Walker were appointed to solicit the balance from among the members of the alumni. During the evening Miss Floy Cambers and Mrs. Roy Walker sang solos and a quartette consisting of Roy Walker, J. H. McGee, Mr. Wilson and W. A. Schwimley also favored the audience. Mrs. D. Perenzi came to the meeting with punch, wafers, etc., and her "number" was also duly appreciated. Fred C. Holmes, Jr., was re-elected president for the ensuing year and Miss Ethelyn Hurley was elected secretary and treasurer. The following committees were appointed: Executive committee—Fred C. Holmes, Jr., Mrs. D. Perenzi, Prof. J. P. Wells, Mrs. Geo. F. King, G. H. Billings. Committee on Information and Campaign Material—To consist of former presidents and members of the faculty. W. T. Van Scoy, B. F. Mulkey, Harry Schaffer were named with request to further organize the committee and put it to work. The executive committee was empowered to organize the campaign committee which will be statewide in its scope.

The greatest excitement prevails throughout the city and a new revolution is expected to break out at any hour. The authorities are overlooking no precaution to suppress uprisings and have ordered all citizens to be in doors before ten o'clock at night.

PANTAGES BILL THIS WEEK IS GOOD

The Pantages vaudeville at the Page last night was up to its customary high standard, and delighted a large audience. It included five numbers, all of which drew their full share of laughs and applause. Beaumont and Arnold, late of the "Miss Nobody from Starland" company, had a dancing and singing sketch, and some jokes that were new. Their dancing was graceful and their singing good. Jewel and Jordan were whistlers and imitators of everything from a mosquito to a monkey. The Makaranko duo, a Russian man and woman, combined both comedy and art in their sketch. The songs in the native Russian were much more enjoyed than their English attempts. Triscary showed that he was indeed a master of the hats and coins, as well as of his gloves and cane. He was a skillful juggler and balancer. Miss Ruth Chandler proved that she was a comedienne in every sense of the word. Her sketch was filled with lots of good humor, and her impersonations were excellent. The performances will be repeated again this afternoon and evening.

CHRISTY NIELSEN HERE IN HANKY PANKY

Few prima donnas have had such an interesting career or rapid rise as has been the lot of Christine Nielsen, of Lew Fields' All Star "Hanky Panky" Company, which comes to the Page Theatre one night, Friday, June 20th. Born in California twenty-five years ago, she studied assiduously, and was finally pronounced as "ready" by her Italian teacher. Going to New York, she made her debut as "Babetta" with Frank Daniels in "The Belle of Brittany," and finished that season in the All Star "Mikado," with Fritzie Schaff, Christie McDonald and herself, as the "Three Little Maids." The following season brought two failures in five weeks, "Madame Troubadour," and the ill-fated "Two Men and a Girl." Surely this was discouraging but again proved the old adage about "the dark cloud with the silver lining" etc, for without interruption has Miss Nielsen featured in seven conspicuous successes in succession: "The Balkan Princess," "The Kiss Waltz," "All Star Pinafore," "The Wedding Trip," "Two Little Brides," Gilbert & Sullivan's "Patience," and last, but not least, Lew Fields' All Star "Hanky Panky." Incidentally, Miss Nielsen is only loaned to Lew Fields until such time as she is called upon to sing again in the All Star Gilbert & Sullivan Revivals.

GOVERNOR PROBES I. W. W. INVASION OF PAPER MILLS

OREGON CITY, Or., June 12.—Governor West left here early today after fully investigating the circumstances surrounding the invasion of the paper mills here by a number of men believed to be socialists and members of the Industrial Workers of the World. The governor stated that the situation was tense, but that at the present time he had no intention of sending militia to quell any disturbance which might arise. It was understood that fifteen members of the local National Guard are under arms ready to respond in case of a riot call. Despite statements of the mill owners that the activities leading up to the visit of fifty or more men to the mills early yesterday morning and through alleged threats or violence, causing them to cease operations for several hours, was without local support, it was learned that the employees are dissatisfied with conditions and that the visit in a number of cases was not unwelcome. It also became known that the men in the mills were reduced sixteen cents a day in wages when the eight hour day went into effect. It was understood that although the corporations had granted the men an eight-hour day voluntarily, they were compelled to work through this period without food or rest time. The mill employees are unorganized, however, and have made no formal demands on the companies involved. The city authorities have called a halt on street speaking, and Burns and J. D. Ramsley, socialists from Portland, are under arrest for attempting to hold street meetings. Fifteen men are under indictment today in connection with the disturbances at the local mills early yesterday.

GARRETT REPLIES TO LETTER WRITTEN BY MRS. STUCKER

Medford, Ore., June 11, 1913. Hon. Oswald West, Governor of Oregon, Salem, Oregon. Dear Sir: Since you have seen fit to publish the letter written to you by Mrs. Faith Whitaker Stucker relating to the farm purchased from me, which letter imputes dishonor in the transaction on my part, I deem it my duty to answer the same so that you and the reading public may know something of the other side of the case. About three and a half years ago I sold to W. E. Stucker eighty acres of land situated about four miles from Medford for the agreed price of $26,500.00. The place was in good condition, twenty acres being in bearing orchard, and was considered a good buy. In fact the same day after I closed the deal with Stucker I was offered the same amount by a man who has since bought and paid for a $30,000 farm in this vicinity. Stucker paid me $7,500 cash and received a title bond conditioned for the payment of the $19,000 balance in six yearly payments bearing six per cent interest. In April 1911 Stucker came to me with a proposition to sell forty acres of the unimproved portion of the tract to one Peter Young for $6,000, this amount of course to be deducted from Stucker's indebtedness to me. Mrs. Stucker is correct in saying that I thought $6,000 too little for forty acres of this land, but I reluctantly consented to the sale solely to accommodate Stucker. Young paid $3,000 leaving a balance of $3,000 still due from him, so that I have received on the entire tract $10,500 and not $12,500 as stated by Mrs. Stucker. This $3,000 payment was the last made on the contract. It has been more than two years since Stucker paid a cent of either principal or interest. It certainly is not my fault that the fruit crop failed, if it did fail, but Mr. Stucker told me that he received more than $700 for apples last year. When I farmed the place I did not depend entirely on the fruit, but raised a general crop. I raised stock and corn and hay, and in fact made money even if the fruit failed to hit. I sold $25 worth of hay per acre off the part sold to Young. Stucker has depended solely on the orchard and has even neglected that, having failed to prune it for two years. He might have sold hay, dairy products, hogs and grain to advantage, thereby making at least enough to live well and keep up his interest. Instead, however, he has allowed the place to get rank and has destroyed more than half a mile of good plank fence. Only last year Stucker twice refused $21,000 for the forty acres (less the forty sold to Young for $6,000) so that he could have realized a net profit of $500 for the purchasers agreed to pay the agent's commission. Claude Miles and J. E. Barkdull were the agents and will verify this statement. Instead of Stucker's trying for the last three months to get me to "make some action," I have for a much longer period been trying to get them to at least pay up the interest. Last January I called Mr. Stucker over to see me and tried to reach some kind of an agreement with him. He then proposed that I buy his equity, which of course I refused to consider, as I did not then, and do not now, want to take the place back. In March I went out to the place to see Stucker in regard to the taxes and overdue interest, but got no satisfaction. I have been very lenient with Stucker and never made but one request that anyone could construe as harsh, and here it is: I asked him to give me a mortgage on his year's crop to secure the interest which is overdue for two years. Instead of complying with this, he wanted me to furnish the money to cultivate, spray and harvest the crop. Of course I would not do so and leave the management to a man like Stucker. There was a time when I would have considered paying something for Mr. Stucker's equity in the place, but under existing conditions of the orchard I would not feel justified in offering him even $500. The truth is I don't want to receive the place back at all and I only wish that there were some visible prospect for him to pay for it. If he would even

FLOODS SUBMERGE CANADIAN TOWN

TETE JAUNE CACHE, B. C., June 12.—Due to a sudden rise in the Fraser river, Tete Jaune Cache is today under water; boats are being used on the main street for removing furnishings from the buildings close to the water front and several structures have been washed from their foundations. Heavy rains during the last few days have resulted in a phenomenal rise in the river, and yesterday when the residents awoke they found that the water was lapping around their doors. Water on the main street is now six feet in depth and the river is still rising. No lives as yet have been lost, although several narrow escapes are reported, where men in boats narrowly avoided being swept into the river by the roaring current. Most of the buildings in the submerged area have been vacated, the furnishings and other goods being removed to higher ground.
