

PACIFIC HIGHWAY HIT BOTH WAYS

Grants Pass Boosting Coast Line and Klamath Interior Route—Both Diverting Travel from Jackson County—Bonds Needed to Cinch It

Need for prompt action by Jackson county by voting the road bonds to secure for it the Pacific Highway and the tourist traffic is shown by the strenuous efforts being made to divert the travel to the east and west routes. The Klamath Development company is flooding California with circulars warning tourists to keep away from the Siskiyou route, while Grants Pass has joined Eureka at Crescent City in the effort to divert tourist traffic from Southern Oregon and its scenic beauties, to the coast.

Josephine's Efforts

The Josephine County Good Roads association, of which E. H. Richard is president, G. W. Donnell treasurer and W. P. Quinlan secretary proposes to station men along the Pacific Highway to divert tourists over the "Grants Pass-San Francisco Highway." The letter heads have an outline map of the highway with the following legend:

- Advantages of taking Grants Pass-San Francisco Highway:
- Better roads
- Better scenery
- Less dust
- Less heat
- Better fishing
- Better hunting
- Better camping and 80 miles of the biggest trees in the world, the Redwood.

Crater Lake, the great object of the tourist traffic is forgotten—so are the marble halls of Oregon which Josephine county has not yet had the enterprise to make accessible by a highway.

Klamath's Gentle Knock

The Klamath Development circular reads in part as follows, copies being sent every garage and auto owner in California:

"Do you know why Northern California does not get its fair share of automobile travel? Partly because we do not make known some of the best and most interesting trips we have.

"For instance you have heard the Portland road north of the Oregon line condemned for steep grades, sharp turns and rough stretches taking in about half the route. Do you know that the Klamath Falls-Central Oregon route avoids this hard traveling?"

"This route turns east from the main line of the Southern Pacific at Montague, Siskiyou county, and leads to Portland via Prathers, Mt. Hebron, Keno, Klamath Falls, Crescent, Bend, Prineville, The Dalles and Hood, traversing the scenic Klamath Lake region and the new empire of Central Oregon, ending with a beautiful trip down the Columbia river.

Send Maps Out Free

"The entire 400 miles from Montague north are practically all first-class roads. Though a comparatively new country great progress has been made in road building. During the past two years Klamath county has spent between $400,000 and $500,000 for building and improving roads, and the other counties proportionately. The result is a good automobile road through a beautiful open country replete with scenic interest. You will be doing a favor to anyone you direct via this route.

About a year ago we sent you one of our auto road maps giving this route in detail. If you have lost or mislaid your copy or could find use for an extra one we would be glad to mail you another with our compliments. Remember follow the road to Montague, Siskiyou county that goes over the hill to Klamath county, the road is splendid now.

"Yours very truly,
"S. O. JOHNSON.

JEROME IN JAIL FOR POKER GAME

Harry Thaw's Prosecutor Pinched for Gambling at Coaticook—Given Same Cell as Thaw Had—Kept in Jail Hour Before Release on Bail.

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 5.—William T. Jerome, former district attorney of New York City and the man who sent Harry K. Thaw to Matteawan and kept him there, was arrested here today on a charge of gambling. Representatives of New York state here who are seeking the deportation of Thaw, asserted Jerome's arrest was part of a plot hatched by the fugitive's attorneys.

Jerome was led through the streets with a hostile mob of hooting men and boys at his heels. He was locked in the same cell which Harry Thaw occupied when he was first arrested here.

Played in Poker Game

Jerome was not permitted to receive visitors, and spent his time pacing his cell. Dr. Kieb, superintendent of Matteawan asylum, was greatly aroused over Jerome's arrest. He called United States Consul Daniels over the long distance telephone in an effort to arrange for the attorney's release.

While Jerome's automobile was waiting yesterday in the expectation that Thaw would be ordered deported, the newspaper correspondents started a poker game, in which Jerome it is alleged, joined. The game was played openly, while a hostile crowd looked on.

Residents of Coaticook mostly sympathize with Thaw, and Milford Aldridge, a prominent citizen, notified the police that Jerome and several others were gambling.

Admitted to Jail

Jerome was arrested early today at the Coaticook Hotel after Aldridge had declared that he saw money passed between the players. Jerome betrayed no surprise over his arrest, and accompanied Patrolman John Andrews to the jail without a word of complaint.

Jerome was admitted to jail by Magistrate McKee after spending an hour in a cell. The case against the attorney probably will be continued to permit him to conclude his work in the Thaw case here.

Thaw's attorneys denied that they were responsible for Jerome's arrest. Jerome's bail was set at $500. His case is set for 9 o'clock tomorrow, when he may be dealt out the maximum punishment of one year in jail under the technical charge against him of "common gambling on railroad property."

Newspaper men who played poker with Jerome say the game was "penny ante" with a ten cent limit. They declare that Jerome lost fifty-four cents.

William T. Jerome left Coaticook this afternoon in an automobile. His destination is not known.

THAW ORDERED TO BE DEPORTED

Immigration Board Finds Prisoner Subject to Expulsion—Writ of Habeas Corpus in Montreal Bars Deportation. It is Reported.

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw was found deportable on two counts by the immigration board here this afternoon and was ordered deported immediately. Thaw's counsel at once entered an appeal. It is stated that a habeas corpus writ obtained in Montreal will bar Thaw's deportation.

The grounds for his expulsion from Canada are, first, that he entered Canada by stealth, and, second, that he has been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years.

Thaw was evidently in a cheerful frame of mind when he resumed the stand, in his own behalf, at the forenoon session.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 5.—It is authoritatively reported here this afternoon that Judge Gervais of the king's bench court has issued a habeas corpus writ requiring the immediate production before him of Harry Thaw. It is stated that the order was obtained by Attorneys Laflamme and Greenhalgh, two prominent Canadian lawyers retained by the New York fugitive. It is reported that the writ of habeas corpus was issued here on the ground that Thaw is an escaped lunatic, not an immigrant, and therefore does not come under the power of the Dominion immigration.

HEART SMASHER NOW HOUSEWIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 5.—Instead of pronouncing pretty little fuzzy-haired Vivien Lyons insane today, Superior Judge Van Nostrand and Doctors Lusting and McGettigan effected a more startling transformation. They changed this butterfly heart smasher, with the aid of two sober minded club women, into a would-be housewife of the deepest dye.

The men and women who testified were unanimous that Mrs. Lyons is perfectly sane except when drinking. It was when the judge urged upon her the wisdom of refraining from excesses that Mrs. Mary Vaughn and Mrs. Frances Gibson of the women's political league, offered to give the butterfly a chance to transform herself once more into a humdrum but safe and happy little grub. Mrs. Lyons, with real tears dimming her eyes, accepted.

WRECK DUE TO BAD MANAGEMENT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 5.—Coroner Mix resumed today his secret inquest into the Wallingford wreck. Flagman Murray of the wrecked train, was still without bail. President Howard Elliott of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, it was said, played tennis while the inquest was in progress yesterday.

Division Train Dispatcher Kelley testified that five trains, crowded with passengers, were packed on ten miles of track, despite the fog. He said four trains were on the tracks between Wallingford and Airline Junction when the first section of the White Mountain express was sent on the same tracks. The crash then followed, he said. The company depends upon signals, Kelley testified, to keep the trains separated.

CAMINETTI CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Closing Arguments in White Slavery Trial Concluded—Judge Duplicates Instructions in Diggs' Case and at Noon Jury Begins Deliberations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 5.—Whether F. Drew Caminetti of Sacramento is guilty or not guilty of breaking the Mann white slave act by taking to Reno, Nevada, Lola Norris, also of Sacramento, "for immoral purposes," probably will be determined here before night by a jury in United States Judge Van Fleet's court, which took the case at 12:10 o'clock today.

Up to 12:45 o'clock the jury deliberated on the four counts in the indictment against Caminetti and at that time Judge Van Fleet adjourned court until 2 p. m.

As in the trial of Maury I. Diggs, the defense too an exception to the court's charge as a basis for an appeal to the higher courts.

At the conclusion of his instructions Judge Van Fleet impressed upon the jury that they were not to allow sympathy for the family of the defendant to tincture their judgment.

This followed shortly upon the interruption by Mrs. A. Caminetti, Sr., wife of the United States commissioner general of immigration and mother of the defendant, who rose during the proceedings to object passionately to a part of Government Prosecutor Sullivan's argument.

The salient points set out in Judge Van Fleet's instructions were that it was sufficient to establish the guilt of Caminetti if the jury found that he had aided in securing the transportation of Lola Norris and Marsha Warrington from Sacramento to Reno, whether he actually had anything to do with buying the tickets or not.

CRAWFORD SUES STATE BOARD

Attorney General Brings Suit Against Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer to Recover $16,518 in Prison Revolving Fund.

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 5.—Suit was instituted in the Marion county circuit court today by Attorney General Crawford against Governor West, Secretary of State Olcott and State Treasurer Kay to recover $16,518.83, which is alleged in the complaint to have been unlawfully expended out of the penitentiary "revolving fund" by the defendants. The suit is the outcome of a bitter fight, following charges made by the Portland Evening Telegram that West had misappropriated something like $10,000. West several months ago passed the matter up to Crawford, telling him to proceed against himself or the Telegram, after an investigation.

The suit indicates that Crawford finds the governor was wrong and is evening up political scores. Kay and Olcott have already attempted to get from under by asserting that they remonstrated with the governor for making the expenditures and finally passed a resolution last November to cease the illegal use of the funds.

It is alleged in the complaint of the attorney general that the secretary of state drew warrants on the state treasurer in his sum sued for at the request of the governor and the state treasurer honored the warrants without sanction of law. The board directed Kay to enter and credit in his books of account all money received from the sale of brick by officers of the penitentiary and all moneys received as rent from the prison foundry in the so-called revolving fund.

Crawford charges that the money so paid out was done so without legislative authority and that no appropriation covering the same had ever been made. West is chiefly blamed in the complaint, it being charged that the claims were incurred by his direction "pursuant to pretended authority."

Governor West said this afternoon that the board only followed the practice of preceding boards, and that if this board did not handle the funds properly then the preceding boards are in the same fix and suits should be brought against them. This would bring in as parties defendant the Chamberlain administration and Chamberlain as governor, Dunbar as secretary of state and Steel and Moore as state treasurers and also Gatens as private secretary of the governor.

The Bowerman administration would also be liable with Bowerman as governor, Benson secretary of state and "Pat" McArthur as governor's private secretary.

The lots to be sold are those held by owners who have not paid assessments for municipal improvements such as paving, sewers, water-mains and sidewalks during the past ten years. Delinquent certificates have been issued against all the properties, but no bidder took them up at the certificate sales.
