

HUERTA WARNS DIAZ PRISON AWAITS HIM

SENTRIES SENT TO SEIZE DIAZ IF HE TRAVELS

Dictator's Order to Leave Mexico Is Boldly Disregarded and Soldiers Close About House Where Dictator's Rival Is Stopping.

Fearing Huerta Will Seize and Shoot Diaz for Disobeying Order Not to Land in Mexico.

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 23.—Sentries were placed today over the home of Felix Diaz' brother-in-law, where he had stayed since his arrival here, and Diaz was warned that if he tried to leave he would be locked in a cell immediately.

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 23.—General Felix Diaz today boldly disregarded Provisional President Huerta's order to him to leave Mexico.

The situation could not have been more threatening. If Diaz persisted in defying Huerta it was believed another revolution would result.

Life in Grave Danger
The former's strongest friends were urging him to obey Huerta. They were prepared to fight if Huerta attempted violence against him, but they feared Huerta might act so suddenly that fighting would not save his life.

It was in his capacity as president and commander-in-chief of the army that Huerta ordered Diaz, as a general, aboard the gunboat Zaragoza to go to Havana.

In the event of Diaz' continued refusal to go, it was feared Huerta would have him arrested and shot for disobedience.

How Diaz Landed
Diaz was not permitted to leave the Corcoravada yesterday, it leaked out in connection with today's developments, through any good will on the part of the authorities' part, but because officers from the German cruiser Huerta insisted on it.

STOCK MARKET FALLS, RECOVERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—An abrupt decline in stocks marked the opening of the stock market today. Steel was unloaded in blocks several thousand shares, this doing more than anything else to lower the market.

With the exception of Reading, most of the active stocks broke from 1 to 1 1/2. New Haven slumped 3 to 82, a new low record.

The fall in prices occurred during the first hour and the trend, therefore, was slowly upward on largely reduced dealings.

Bonds were easy.

The market closed weak.

FILIPINO TRIBESMEN KILL AMERICAN SCOUTS

MANILA, Oct. 23.—Reinforcements were rushed today to Talipao, in Mindanao, where tribesmen, fortified in swampy jungle fastnesses, have killed, according to reports received here, five Philippine scouts and wounded eight others. Captain Harry McElderry, thirteenth company of Philippine scouts, who was injured in the fighting, was brought here today. It was said he would recover.

TAMMANY MADE THREATS TO SLAY SULZER SAYS WIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Not only was William Sulzer's political ruin sought by Tammany when he defied "Boss" Murphy, but his very life was threatened, according to an interview given out by the deposed executive's wife today.

"Scores of threatening letters were sent to him by Tammany members, evidently at their chief's inspiration," she said. "I usually opened his mail, read these communications and destroyed them, not wishing to worry the governor."

"When it is conceived that the Fourteenth street boss can send threatening messages to the governor's wife to make her try to persuade her husband to stray from the straight path, it can well be understood that we are no longer living in a free republic."

"During the impeachment trial the methods of his persecutors resorted to to get information concerning the governor's most trifling act, and my own as well, would lead one to believe that every semblance of manly honor where women are concerned, had fled, and that we are living in the dark ages."

That the Tammany members of the legislature will try to bar Sulzer from a seat in the assembly in the event of his election on the progressive ticket was stated in despatches from Albany today.

HUERTA DEFIES UNCLE SAM BY ELECTION FARCE

Mexican Situation Extremely Serious—Britain Continues to Annoy Administration, But Other Powers Acting in Accord by Sending Warships

Huerta Will Not Take Trouble of Resigning Before Election—Bryan Warns Dictator.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Huerta is certain to be elected president of Mexico Sunday, according to unofficial advice here this afternoon. His agents have visited every part of the country, it was stated, arranging for big majorities in his favor and for General Blanquet as vice-president.

If true, officialdom generally agreed, Huerta, has virtually defied the United States.

It was said he was counting on British support in the event of his election.

The administration's representative refused absolutely to discuss this afternoon this phase of the situation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Cipher messages received at the state department today reported the Mexican situation extremely serious. President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan discussed them this afternoon.

It was denied that intervention was under consideration. The administration's attitude would remain unchanged, it was said, at any rate until after Sunday's election.

It was added that a statement might be issued next week concerning reports of friction between the United States and England. Administration officials said that such exists is annoying rather than embarrassing.

At the same time that they tacitly admitted displeasure at the British attitude in Mexico, administration officials denied today that they were anything but gratified at the other big nations' view of the situation.

In admitting, by sending men-of-war to Mexican waters, that the Huerta regime has proven a failure, Germany and France have said virtually that President Wilson was right and they were wrong. It has been intimated, too, that the Berlin and Paris foreign offices are considering withdrawal of their recognition of the Mexican dictator.

England's policy, it was agreed, is a different matter. Not only has the London foreign office persisted that it fails to see any reason why it should not have recognized Huerta or for withdrawing recognition now, but

"Dear Sir: Since you have on numerous occasions, taken upon yourself the burden of informing this office how its affairs should be conducted, I feel that you would not consider me presumptuous should I ask you for a little advice upon a few matters of public interest."

"I am anxious to know the proper course for this office to pursue should it find that titles to several hundred thousand dollars' worth of

THE ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP WHICH BURST, KILLING TWENTY-SIX

THE ZEPPELIN L-2
The explosion of nearly a ton of gasoline fuel in the central "gondola" of the new Zeppelin dirigible battle ship of the air, "L-2," while she was 900 feet above the earth at the Johannisthal aerodrome, near the German capital, killed twenty-six of the twenty-seven men who were making the test flight in the new monster, mortally injured the other and reduced to wreckage the formidable air cruiser upon which all Germany was pinning its hopes for the supremacy of the air.

No more appalling disaster of the air has ever occurred since man first learned to fly. This was a twentieth century disaster. For when the great white shape floating serenely in the sky and churning its way toward nearby Berlin at a forty-mile rate was suddenly rent asunder by a succession of blinding flashes nearly a dozen aeroplanes were darting about the vault of the sky like swallows surrounding a condor.

247 ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSION IN MINE SHAFT

Many Charred and Burned Bodies Recovered by Rescuers Working to Save Buried Miners in Stag Canon Coal Mine in New Mexico.

Fans Working to Clear Out Poisonous Gases—Is Property of Phelps-Dodge Company.

DAWSON, N. M., Oct. 23.—With giant ventilating fans forcing fresh air into the No. 2 shaft of the Stag Canon mines as fast as engines will drive them, rescuing parties were still working furiously this afternoon to reach the 247 men believed to be imprisoned in the workings as a result of yesterday's explosion.

It was estimated that there were 287 miners at work on the various levels of No. 2 when the explosion occurred. Five men in the upper level got out at once. The rescuers had brought fourteen more to the surface by 8 o'clock this morning. Besides the living men, twenty-three corpses had been counted.

Three Survivors Found
This afternoon three more survivors were found. To reach the surface with them the rescuers would have had to carry them through several galleries where the air was heavy with poison. In their weakened state it was deemed unsafe to expose them to it, so they were wrapped in blankets and fed and cared for by succeeding shifts of rescuers, as they followed one another into the mine.

It was admitted that there seemed small likelihood of finding more survivors in the mine, but the rescuers were taking no chances. They were determined that every man should be accounted for.

Most of those who still lived were horribly burned. The bodies of the dead were charred by fire beyond recognition. They were left where they lay, to remain until the searchers had satisfied themselves there were no more still alive to be saved from the mine.

Huge Fans Working
Mine officials said they were hopeful the fans would soon clear the workings of gas. Experts said they were probably right, but that if there was fire in the mine the draft would only spread the flames more rapidly.

Until eighteen months ago the No. 2 Stag Canon mine was considered one of the safest in the country, the then superintendent, Joseph Smith, insisting on safety appliances ahead of all else. He was succeeded by McDermott, himself now entombed, who increased coal production, but was reported to have allowed the safety equipment to fall into disrepair.

Dr. James Douglas, general manager of the Phelps-Dodge company was reported this afternoon on his way on a special train from Douglas, Ariz., to Dawson with nurses and life-saving apparatus.

MONTEREY, Mexico, Oct. 23.—A messenger from General Carrazan, the rebel commander, arrived here under a flag of truce today and demanded the town's surrender. It was refused and he left. THAW INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY BY GRAND JURY

Probers of Flight From Matteawan Return Indictment, Upon Which Thaw Will Be Extradicted and Ultimately Be Returned to Asylum.

Thaw Refuses to Worry, Saying That as He Is Insane in New York He Cannot Be Legally Indicted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White was indicted on a charge of conspiracy today by a grand jury which investigated his sensational escape from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane. His indictment means, it was believed here, that he will be extradited from New Hampshire and ultimately returned to Matteawan.

William Travers Jerome testified before the grand jury and later conferred with District Attorney Whitman.

Others indicted on the same charge with Thaw were Richard Butler, Michael O'Keefe, Roger Thompson and Eugene Duffy. Justice Gagegan issued bench warrants for each of the indicted men.

Moore Grossman, one of Thaw's attorneys, said:
"Harry Thaw was committed to Matteawan as an insane man and he cannot be convicted on conspiracy. I do not believe the indictment will stand or affect the proceedings in New Hampshire."

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 23.—Harry K. Thaw, the fugitive from Matteawan, refused to get excited over his indictment on a conspiracy charge before a New York grand jury today.

"Doesn't it appear grand?" asked Harry, "that no indictment against me is legal, because Judge Seabury of the supreme court of New York last April instructed a grand jury that I must be considered, under my commitment to Matteawan, as irresponsible? What answer can they make to that?"

Governor Felker was out of town and no expression could be obtained from him regarding Thaw's indictment.

MRS. EATON TO DEFEND HERSELF

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial here for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, probably will take the stand in her own defense when the case is resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It was not believed her daughter, Mrs. June Keyes, would be called.

The prosecution rested its case yesterday and it was believed Mrs. Eaton would be the first defense witness called. The defendant, it was expected, would recite the story of her life since meeting Admiral Eaton while acting as nurse for his first wife in Washington.

It also was expected that the defense would call distinguished naval officers to testify that Admiral Eaton drank heavily for years and ate arsenic.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—Miss Lena Uksala was released today on her own recognizance and Miss Lena Furtog and Miss Margaret Rice were held on $25 bail on charges of attempting to make speeches on the streets in the congested district. The latter two women refused to accept bail. They were arrested last night.
