

STORM CAUSES A HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE PROPERTY DAMAGE TOTALS MILLIONS

MANY STEAMERS LOST ON LAKES; CREWS PERISH

Entire East Under Blanket of Snow From Two to Ten Feet Deep—Zero Weather Prevails—Much Suffering Throughout the States

Coal Famine Adds to Suffering—Large Steamers Wrecked and Those Aboard Lost

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Enormous damage was done and many lives were snuffed out by the blizzard which swept the lake region Sunday and yesterday and was but just beginning to subside today.

Losses both of property and lives were greatest on the lakes, where shipping had not closed and sailors were caught by surprise by the earliest storm of such severity within the memory of any of them.

Revised estimates today placed the number of the storm's dead at from 60 to 100. The value of the property destroyed could only be roughly guessed, but amounted to millions.

Snow Blankets Land

Throughout the storm-swept region telephone and telegraph wires were down everywhere. Snow in drifts from 2 to 20 feet deep covered the country, and through it trains were creeping, hours late, or stuck fast, completely stalled. In Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Columbus and Pittsburgh street car services were suspended or badly disorganized; lighting plants were partly out of commission, and supplies of food and fuel were running short through the jobbers' inability to reach retailers and the retailers' helplessness to make deliveries to their customers.

The thermometer was but a few degrees above zero and suffering was intense.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—That scores perished in the storm which has been sweeping the Great Lakes since early Sunday was feared here today.

All on board the unidentified steamship on Gull Rock, Manitowish Island, in Lake Superior, were believed to be doomed. Life savers failed in repeated attempts to reach the stranded craft. The vessel's crew were washed when dawn broke today and the members of the crew could be seen, lashed in the rigging. It was believed there were 28 on board. Several were thought to be dead already from exposure.

The 600 freighter sighted yesterday, floating bottom upward off Port Huron, was identified as the Amos Clarke of the Livingston fleet. Life savers said they thought the vessel carried a crew of about forty and were convinced that all were drowned.

Liner Sinks in Lake Messages from Sault Ste Marie said the Tomlinson liner James Davidson had gone down off Gross Cape Point, Lake Superior, presumably.

HUERTA'S CAUSE REPUDIATED BY GREAT BRITAIN

Reported That England Intends Immediately to Withdraw Recognition—Ambassador Page Expresses Appreciation for Asquith's Speech

Hands-off Policy Advocated by the Premier—No Disposition to Thwart America's Mexican Policy

LONDON, Nov. 11.—That England intends immediately to withdraw recognition of President Huerta of Mexico was reported in diplomatic circles here today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Ambassador Page, America's diplomatic representative in England was understood today to have expressed to Premier Asquith the Washington administration's appreciation of a strong "hands off Mexico" speech made by the Premier at the London Lord Mayor's annual banquet last night.

Asquith even went so far as practically to apologize for England's recognition of President Huerta. The British government had neither the will nor the power to intervene in Mexico, he explained, and had to transact business with some one, so recognized the only individual who seemed to represent what government actually existed. That England had the slightest disposition to thwart America's Mexican policy, however, he emphatically denied.

The address was generally taken in diplomatic circles here as a repudiation of the anti-American Mexican policy which Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey was regarded, almost without exception, as having followed and as an implied assurance that there will be a distinct change in the foreign office's method in future.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—Runs continued today on the Banco Nacional and the Bank of London and Mexico.

Soldiers with loaded carbines guarded both institutions and herded the excited depositors in and out. Despite their clamoring for specie, they were paid mostly in bank notes, which, as no one knows whether there are silver reserves to redeem them, were very grudgingly received.

This afternoon the Greater Medford club ladies are making ready for the distribution of 10,000 rose cuttings tomorrow morning to the school children, who will plant them in the yards of their homes.

Owing to the pressure of other business Professor O'Gara was unable to deliver his talks as scheduled.

Mexican Outlook Brighter—European Diplomats Join Lind in Bringing Pressure to Bear Upon Dictator—England Changes Front

Wilson Suggests to Powers Wisdom of Starving Huerta into Submission—Bryan Enlists Other Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Mexican outlook seemed brighter today.

Though Secretary of State Bryan last night made public the text of President Huerta's message to the Mexico City diplomatic corps, refusing to retire, the impression nevertheless prevailed that he was about to do so.

European diplomats were said to have joined American Embassy Lind and Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy in bringing pressure to bear on the dictator that he was weakening.

England Changes Front

England was reported about to withdraw its recognition from Huerta. The Washington administration was rejoiced over a speech by English Premier Asquith denying that England was trying to thwart America's Mexican policy. Ambassador Page thanked Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey for the speech which had an element of sarcasm in it, since everyone considered it Grey's policy that Asquith was repudiating.

President Wilson was understood to have suggested to the powers the wisdom of starving Huerta out by refusing him more loans, and France was reported to have agreed.

To Starve Huerta Out

Secretary Bryan told the ministers from Central America that the hemisphere's peace might depend on a settlement of the Mexican difficulty and they promised to support the American policy.

The gunboat Wheeling was on its way from Vera Cruz and the battleship Louisiana was ordered to follow it to Tuxpam, where a rebel attack, with possible danger to foreign property and lives, was feared.
