"BILL HAYWOOD FOR PRESIDENT"

FORMER LABOR LEADER
CHOICE OF SOCIALISTS

Eugene V. Debs Has Climbed Into Haywood Baudwagon—Man Charged With Complicity in Steunenberg Murder Will Probably Lead Forlorn Hope—Boom Started While He Was in Jail at Boise.

Chicago, May 9.—"Bill Haywood for president!" This is the battle cry of the socialists who are gathering in Chicago today for the national convention of the party, which will begin tomorrow. While a few of the more conservative members of the party are opposed to the Haywood boom, the rank and file is for him. Eugene V. Debs, the Indiana man who in past campaigns has led the socialists to defeat, is among Haywood's most devoted adherents and was the first to suggest his nomination.

At that time Haywood was still languishing in Boise jail, charged with being the leader of the "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners and with having hired Harry Orchard to slay ex-Governor Steunenberg and a score of others. Since his acquittal, Haywood has been touring the country in the furtherance of his presidential boom. For a time he was paid by the Western Federation of Miners as its traveling representative, but he was recently dropped from the rolls and no longer has any official connection with the union.

For the first time since the socialist party became a factor in American politics, every state and territory of the Union will have delegates in tomorrow's convention. These delegates will represent only the holders of the little red cards of the party who are paid up and in good standing. As the most revolutionary of American parties and one which proposes to overturn the existing industrial order, the organization has no source of income other than from the workmen who mainly comprise its membership, and each of these is required to pay a small sum monthly as dues.

While the party received 406,230 votes in the last election when Eugene V. Debs was the presidential candidate, the dues-paying membership is only about 40,000. Only these will have any voice in tomorrow's convention.

Party leaders declare that they expect the socialist vote this fall to be double that in 1904, and that in case the old parties should nominate conservative candidates, a socialist victory is among the possibilities. Not many of the delegates, however, seriously consider the election of Haywood, but they assert that he will receive the support of many thousands of nonsocialists who will take that method of expressing their disapproval of President Roosevelt's characterization of the labor leader as an "undesirable citizen."

COMING.

Beecher & Stanley's Big Revival of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

Beyond a doubt the grandest production ever attempted of this great moral drama. Beecher & Stanley are beyond question qualified to rank as the foremost producers of the day. Every play they have revived has added fame and given to the stage a wider field of influence and intellectual force. In their revival of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" they have crystallized all their power as noted producers and bring forth a gem of dramatic construction and human interest.

"EAST LYNN" PLEASURES.

Favorite Old Play Attracts a Large Audience to the Oregon Theater.

"East Lynne," that old favorite which is ever new, attracted a large audience to the Oregon theater last night and a first-class performance was witnessed.

The company presented the old favorite in a creditable manner and it was highly appreciated. The same play will be presented again this evening and tomorrow evening "Thorns and Orange Blossoms." Bertha M. Clay's greatest success will be presented for the first time.

Between acts some excellent moving pictures and illustrated songs are given at the Oregon. Last night the pictures were especially interesting, being the reproduction of a boxing bout. The same excellent pictures will be presented this evening.

ON STRENUOUS TRIP.

Don Steffa, of Oregon Journal, Handles Campaign Stories.

Don Steffa, assistant city editor of the Oregon Daily Journal, is here today with Governor Chamberlain and party. He has been with the governor during his senatorial campaign, but was unable to be with him on his trip up the country yesterday.

Since the governor started upon his campaign a week ago he has covered the state from Vale, Malheur county, to this city and he is now working westward and he will close the campaign in the Willamette valley.

WALNUTS

Mr. Thomas Prince, the Walnut king of Oregon, made a careful examination of the

FURNISH-COE LANDS

and emphatically endorsed walnut culture here.

Several parties are putting in peaches and English walnuts. Peaches begin bearing in three years and are at their best in eight years. Walnuts begin full bearing in eight years. At this time the peaches may be thinned out and in a few years be entirely eliminated. Walnuts produce with little care for a hundred years, and a good orchard is worth from $300 to $1,000 annually.

Remarkable Admissions

Made By the Foremost Prohibition Journal in This Country.

The National Prohibitionists of Chicago and New York, in their issue of January 9, 1908, quoting the statistics, showing the revenues from beer and spirits during 1906 to have been $199,025,913, and in 1907, $215,904,720, in an editorial makes the following comment: "It seems to us that these figures teach, as clearly as anything can be taught, that the kind of prohibition which we have had up to the present time is not a cure for the drink evil and does not even approach a cure. We are frequently told that many millions, a third, perhaps a half of the population of the United States, live under prohibition. The statement is true only in a very modified sense, and the showing of the article in question emphasizes its lack of exactness.

"In strict fact, no part of the United States today has real prohibition. The sale of liquor is forbidden in certain sections; the manufacturer of liquor is also forbidden within limited areas. The forbidding is made good so far as the manufacture is concerned, in the greater part of the so-called Prohibition territory, and we begin to have considerable sections of the country where comparatively little liquor is sold, but the results of drink selling in the wider sphere of its influence still reach the whole country, and to a very large extent, through Interstate commerce and other means, drink-selling goes on through the whole country."
