OUR ADVERTISERS.

That the public have appreciated the enlargement and improvement of the NEW NORTHWEST, is clearly shown by the increase in its advertising patronage. The notices below are necessarily brief, as our space is so crowded.

The Aurora Restaurant furnishes a "good square meal" for 25 cents.

The fact that "Rose Pills" are advertised, is evidence of their merit.

Neimeyer, the tailor, No. 162 First street, has a large stock of elegant goods.

Himes the Printer, at No. 5 Washington street, does first-class book and job work.

Alisky & Hegele are furnishing Eastern and Shoalwater Bay oysters in every style.

The announcement of the Mechanics' Fair for 1880 will be found on the preceding page.

Pfunder's Blood Purifier is now recognized as a standard remedy for all disorders of the blood.

Mrs. Dr. Solander undoubtedly has discovered an invaluable medicine—a remedy for diphtheria.

Mrs. Wass, No. 64 Morrison street, has a fine stock of hair goods and a great variety of patterns.

Dr. Keck advertises his celebrated catarrh remedy, and has numerous testimonials as to its efficacy.

G. O. Bailey, North Second and B streets, conducts a general grocery and ship chandlery business.

Dr. Paul M. Brenan's office is at No. 63 First street. His advertisement appears on an inside page.

Wiberg & Kiernan, No. 145 Front street, are constantly increasing their stock of fine boots and shoes.

Ira F. Powers' furniture stores, Nos. 184 and 185 First street, are constantly thronged with patrons.

Sportsmen will find a full line of anything they need at Wm. Beck & Son's, corner Front and Alder streets.

John A. Beck, No. 149 Front street, is a reliable jeweler, and persons needing watch repairing should call on him.

Marshall & Co., the Central Market grocers, do a large business, their stock being well-selected and their prices low.

Burkhardt & Spaulding, corner North Second and B streets, do a general butcher and packing business and supply ships.

O. Conrad & Co., No. 10 Yamhill street, dye and clean by steam all kinds of silk and woolen goods. They also clean kid gloves.

Miss Dr. Angie L. Ford has built up a large practice in this city. Her specialties are the diseases of women and children.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Williams, No. 231 Second street, invite the ladies of Portland to examine their stock of fine hair goods.

Fleischner, Mayer & Co. have now in store their stock of Fall millinery, and particularly invite the patronage of the trade.

The O. T. Co., corner Second and Stark streets, does all freighting and transferring with dispatch. Also, hacks are constantly on call.

Woodward & Magoon, corner Second and Taylor streets, have a first-class livery stable, and keep carriages on call day or night.

Voss & Fuhr, the Washington-street bakers, maintain their reputation of furnishing light and wholesome bread, cakes and pastry.

The office of the well-known lawyers, Dolph, Bronaugh, Dolph & Simon, is in Odd Fellows' Temple, corner First and Alder streets.

Johnston & Holden, at No. 168 Front street, are practical plumbers, and any work entrusted to them is always promptly and well done.

O'Shea Bros., in Central Market, deal in all kinds of fresh and cured meats (wholesale and retail), and are prepared to supply ships.

D. W. Prentice & Co's store, No. 107 First street, is completely stocked with everything which a first-class music establishment should have.

One of the nicest places in the city is Robbins & Yates', No. 229 First street, where is kept everything pertaining to a picture and music store.

C. H. Woodard & Co. are agents for the "Scottish Thistle Medicinal Fumes," said to give almost instant relief from asthma and hay-fever.

Olds & Summers, No. 188 First street, make a specialty of furnishing lamps and oils, crockery and glassware. They are agents for "Hero" oil.

The office of Mitchell & Dement, attorneys-at-law, is on the southwest corner of First and Morrison streets. Mr. Mitchell has returned from the East.

W. W. Espey, the manufacturer of wheeled vehicles of all descriptions, enjoys the well-earned reputation of turning out work not excelled anywhere.

Fishel & Roberts have received their Fall and Winter supplies of clothing, which were manufactured in New York by Mr. Roberts especially for fine trade.

Olds & King, the Third-street merchants, offer for sale a complete assortment of house furnishing goods. Particulars may be found in our advertising columns.

Isador Gumbert, of the Golden Rule Bazar, 172 First street, asks the attention of hotel, restaurant and housekeepers to his large stock of crockery and glassware.

G. W. Biles & Co. have opened a neat boot and shoe store, the Columbia, at No. 171 Second street, in Centennial Block. Their stock is large and well-selected.

Shindler & Chadbourne, First and Front streets, between Morrison and Yamhill, display a varied assortment of fine furniture and bedding, carpetings, oil-cloths, etc.

In the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company's windows, corner First and Yamhill streets, are continually shown handsome new styles of furniture and carpets.

Newberry, Hawthorne & Co., dealers in agricultural implements and wood and steel goods, are ready to supply anything the farmer or the mechanic may desire.

Lewis & Strauss, No. 123 First street, are displaying a mammoth stock of millinery goods, which they invite the public and the trade to examine before purchasing.

A. Lobe & Co., No. 169 First street, in addition to keeping a large stock of lamps, unbreakable chimneys, crockery, glassware, etc., are agents for the Edison oil and the tubular lamp, which, without a chimney, is warranted to burn in the fiercest gale.

Oldendorff & Huebner, corner First and Washington streets, succeed Woodward & Connell in the brokerage, insurance and real estate business. Both are experienced business men.

Oregon Kidney Tea does what is claimed for it, and is having such an extensive sale that the proprietors, Messrs. Hodge, Davis & Co., have doubled their facilities for its manufacture.

The traveling public will find the O. & C. R. R. Co's time schedule of the arrival and departure of trains, and the sailing days of the O. R. & N. Co's steamers, regularly published in this journal.

A partial list of the various articles sold at Salinger's Cash Auction, No. 210 First street, for 10 cents, is published in this issue; also, a small number of the other good bargains to be found there.

The Occidental Restaurant is now conducted by Mr. Cohen, and the table is supplied with the best the market affords. The rates for board are low, as will be seen by consulting his advertisement.

F. E. Beach & Co., No. 103 Front street, succeed Coggins & Beach as agents for the Averill mixed paint and the San Francisco rubber paint. Their stock of doors, sash and blinds is large and varied.

Professor White states in his advertisement the advantages given to scholars of both sexes at the Business College. Every word in it is true. Young ladies, as well as young men, should avail themselves of its advantages.

Those who are called upon to fulfill the melancholy duty of rearing a monument to departed relatives or friends, will be readily accommodated by Mr. Wm. Young, the marble worker, on the corner of Front and Pine streets.

PERSONAL.

To H. J. MCCORMICK—Sir:—After you had admitted that your knowledge to secure the arrest of a person for selling liquor without a license was not gained in a very reputable manner, you ought not to have blackened your confession by the lie that several citizens of Corvallis had brought that matter to your attention. Those fellows who worked the case up with you are the same set who made you acquainted with what you call "my reputation"—a set who rank far beneath me in the estimation of every candid and respectable citizen of this town. All my actions are performed openly and in broad daylight, and not under the mask of a hypocrite of your and your informers' caliber. This, probably, is the most notable difference between me and men of your stamp. My liberal ideas and unveiled actions will stand a favorable comparison with your mockery. E. W. FITZNER.

Corvallis, September 18, 1880.

FATHERS AND MOTHERS, ATTENTION!

A SURE CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA DISCOVERED.

CLARENDON HOTEL, Portland, Oregon, September 11, 1880.

This is to certify that I have witnessed Mrs. Dr. M. J. Solander's treatment of diphtheria in the family of D. C. Davis, of Wallowa Valley, Union county, Oregon, and that I, as an individual, have implicit confidence in her ability to cope with and master this home-desolating scourge, diphtheria. J. J. BLEVANS.

Address for two months, Salem.

On Friday night, Senator Conkling opened the Garfield and Arthur campaign in the Empire State by a speech in New York City.
