

A ROW IN SWILLTOWN

John Gribble Shot While Resisting Arrest.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES INFLICTED

Three Bad Men Who Found Officer Seafeldt Too Much For Them—Bound Over.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning a disturbance occurred on First street, near the Music Hall, as a result of which one John Gribble now lies in the county jail with his avoirdupois increased by an ounce of lead, and with him are two companions named Miller and Ellison. The three were before Judge Osburn yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace and resisting an officer, and were bound over in the sum of $500 each to await the action of the grand jury. Officer Seafeldt, who was instrumental in landing the men in jail, gives the following account of the affair:

About 3 o'clock, or a few minutes before that hour, he walked past the Music Hall on his rounds, and saw six men near the door, four on one side and two on the other. Remarks were made by some of the party about fighting, and the officer stopped and awaited developments. The man talking first was Gribble, and his intended victim was an individual known as "Pete." Gribble asserted that he could whip any one in Astoria, and seemed especially desirous of trying his prowess on "Pete." The latter declined, however, on the ground that he preferred sleeping to fighting, and with the intention of going to bed, moved away. Gribble then said he would make "Pete" fight, and proceeded to take off his coat, but no encounter could be provoked in that direction. A minute or two later a man named Iverson came along, and was grossly insulted by Gribble. Officer Seafeldt at once stepped forward and placing his hand on Gribble's shoulder, told him to consider himself under arrest. "The — you say!" said Gribble.

"That's what I say," said the officer, who then called on one of the men with Gribble, named Miller, for assistance. The officer did not want to hurt the man, and so told Miller. The latter's reply was, "You be —," and turning to Gribble, continued: "Don't you go with the — — he can't take you."

Ellison, another of the crowd, then stepped forward, saying, "You bet he can't take you," and began to take his coat off. Ellison's brother interfered at this juncture to prevent trouble with the police officer, and Gribble made an effort to escape.

A scuffle ensued, and the officer was grabbed from behind by one of the men. After some trouble he succeeded in getting out his whistle and blowing for assistance. Alex. Grant and Fred. Kelley responded, and the officer turned Gribble over to them and went after Miller. The latter ran behind his companions, and getting close to Kelley and Gribble, threw himself between them with the idea of accomplishing Gribble's release. Officer Seafeldt then drew his club and knocked Miller down. Gribble got loose at this juncture and started up Benton street pursued by Seafeldt. Turning suddenly, the fugitive struck the officer in the forehead, knocking him down, and falling himself at the same time. Seafeldt grasped Gribble's leg and endeavored to get a firm grip on him, but without avail. Both men then arose, and Gribble attempted to swing his right hand across the officer's chin. Seafeldt at once drew his revolver, and called upon his man to desist under penalty of being shot. Gribble ceased fighting but began running, and the officer fired the ball, as it was afterward learned when the man was examined by Dr. Walker, entering the leg about three inches above the popliteal space, ranging upward and lodging near the hip joint.

One of the Ellison brothers was held in the meantime by Kelley and Alex. Grant, and the officer started to jail with him.

Miller, upon hearing the shot, ran up Main street to Third, up Third to Cass, and down Cass to Second, almost running into Seafeldt's arms as he came up Second street with Ellison. Seafeldt succeeded in getting both to the jail, and then, with Captain Hallock, who had heard the disturbance, went after Gribble, finding him near Joe Leathers' boatbuilding concern. When it was learned that Gribble was shot, he was taken to the office of Dr. M. M. Walker and the wound probed. The ball was located, but the doctor did not think it advisable to cut it out, as it will probably gravitate toward the surface and be removed without much cutting.

Gribble, who is said to be a deserter from the British navy, is a very powerful fellow, and gave the officer a great deal of trouble. Miller and Ellison have caused several disturbances before, and recently Miller started out to demolish a number of Chinese washhouses. At that time Captain Hallock got hold of him and gave him a lesson that he did not forget for at least a couple of weeks.

A GOOD THING

is always imitated. This is a well-known fact, and, therefore, it is not strange that the country has been flooded with condensed milk, said to be just as good as the Gail Borden Eagle Brand.

Experience has proven that it has no equal. It stands to reason that the superior facilities of the New York Condensed Milk Company, with persistent, conscientious, scientific study of the production of milk, give it a decided advantage. Consider this.
