THE LILY OF THIS VALLEY.

General William Lilly is being urged to present himself at the next Republican State Convention as a candidate for Congressmen-at-Large and we sincerely hope that he will do so. We can think of no more suitable or stronger candidate, and do not hesitate in saying that he is the strongest man that could be named in the anthracite coal fields. Gen. Lilly is an honored and respected gentleman, and his name is known in every household of this section. We envy Much Chunk in the possession of such a man and will do all in our power to help place him in the position the thriving little town would have him strive for. As a Republican Gen. Lilly cannot be challenged, and as a man of personal character he stands equally high. We feel confident that he would sweep this valley, for his record in connection with the Miners' Hospital at Fountain Springs is such that the miners in this section could not withhold their support from him without subjecting themselves to a charge of base ingratitude. Gen. Lilly was one of the original projectors of the Miners' Hospital at Fountain Springs, has been its unwavering friend since its establishment, and is now the honored president of the noble institution. It is the policy of the miners to stand by their friends and, therefore, we say "Amen!" to the suggestion of Gen. Lilly as a candidate for Congressman-at-Large.

Endorsed by the people as a safe, reliable, harmless and cheap remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

LAST DAYS OF LOPPY.

The Murderer Will Probably Be Executed--d To-Morrow Morning.
SING SING, N. Y., Dec. 7.--The indications to-day are that Martin D. Lopy, who awaits death in Sing Sing prison, will be called upon to meet it to-morrow, at daylight. There seems to be no doubt that he will bear the ordeal with the same fortitude that has characterized the conduct of five men who have preceded him in the fatal chair. He is cheerful and comparatively happy.
The Rev. Mr. Law, Chaplain of the Tombs and Rev. Mr. Edgerton, Chaplain of Sing Sing prison, have spent most of the day with the condemned man administering to him the spiritual comfort he seems to welcome. He has become a devout Presbyterian, although prior to his confinement he was an infidel. He no longer expects pardon, as he was told by Rev. Mr. Law yesterday morning that Gov. Hill had refused to grant it.
He has repeatedly said that he would not accept a commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life, and does not desire a respite. He is docile, and has never given the keeper any trouble, and all the prison officials agree that he is mentally far superior to any of the men who have thus far suffered the death penalty in Sing Sing.
Lopy still affirms he is innocent of the crime. The Rev. Mr. Law says that he believes the condemned man is honest in his assertion, and that he has not the faintest recollection of having killed his wife and sister. His reasons for the belief are that Lopy was stupidly drunk at the time, and that he was subject to epileptic fits, the result in losses of memory.

The preparations for the funeral have all been made, and four deputies and four witnesses are here. They are Isaac Fuller and Prison Physician J. R. Branaman of Dannemora Prison; Prof. Lady of Columbia College, one of the State Lunacy Commissioners, and the Rev. Mr. Law. The Dannemora officials are here to get points preparatory to the execution of Cal Wood, who awaits death within the walls of that prison. Warden Brown has drawn the dead line about the prison, and will use the same precautions to insure secrecy that he employed the other time.

The witnesses will be met at the depot and taken to the prison in his private conveyance, and hauled back after the execution in the same manner, in order to prevent newspaper men from having access to them. He positively refuses to give the names of those who have been invited. The only sign to the outer world that the execution has taken place will be the flag that is hoisted as soon as it is over. It has been determined that two, and possibly three contacts will be had, as was the case with Wood, Jugler, Slocum and Sailer.

Phoebe Cousins Threatens to Sue.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.--Phoebe W. Cousins has threatened Mianie F. Wayfield, editor of the "World's Fair Visitor," a semi-monthly publication here, with a libel suit if she publishes the "slandering" portions of the proceedings of the Lady Board of Managers, which met in Chicago last September, and ousted Miss Cousins from her position as secretary of the board. Miss Cousins has also notified Mrs. Palmer, president of the board, and the "fraudulent secretary," as she calls Mrs. Cook, that if the charges made against her last September are published in the report of the board, she will also bring suit for libel against them.

The Night Police Seem to Have Old Offenders in Custody--A Clue to Other Unlawful Acts.

At about one o'clock yesterday morning a Polish man with blood streaming down the side of his face from an ugly wound on his head ran up to Policeman Jacob Davidson Main street and begged that a search be made for two young men who had brutally assaulted him at the lower end of the street.
Davis was directed to "the rocks" and was joined while on his way there by Policeman Williams. After watching about an hour the police located the parties wanted in one of the rows of houses on "the rocks" that faces the Lehigh Valley railroad. Warrants were secured from Squire Williams and the two policemen entered the house with the man who had been beaten. Two tall and well-built young fellows were found in bed. They were brothers, known as Chris and Michael Mack, and they were recognized by the victim and two friends. The slight resistance of one of the men was soon overcome and the two were placed before Squire Williams.
The victim of the assault and his two witnesses swore that when on their way home they were accosted by the Macks and a fight ensued, during which the latter resorted to throwing large pieces of rocks and the complaint was severely cut on the head.
The accused stoutly denied their guilt, but the evidence was of such a character that Squire Williams felt justified in committing them to the lockup. Subsequently each furnished $500 bail for trial.
The police say that lately frequent reports have been made of highway assaults and robberies in the neighborhood of "the rock," but they have been powerless to act on account of the victims being unable to identify their assailants. The perpetrators have made a practice of lying in wait for drunken Poles and Huns going home. If the victims are too drunk to fight they are robbed without ceremony, but if they are able to give resistance they are tapped on the head with a "billy," and bag or piece of rock and "put to sleep" until the highwaymen get a chance to go through their pockets. The Macks, say the police, have been under suspicion for some time and it is believed that they can be convicted in the present case. The victim and his witnesses were under the influence of drink, but they were sober enough to identify their assailants and tell straight stories to the "squire."

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY.

Sermon in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday

The Methodist Episcopal church celebrated the seventh anniversary of the dedication of its new church Sunday. The chancel was very tastefully adorned with potted plants and flowers. The preacher of the day was the Rev. J. B. McCullough, D. D., editor of the Philadelphia Methodist, who discoursed eloquently on the "Mystery of Godliness" from I Timothy, III 16. "Without controversy great is the mystery of godliness, God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory." The world is full of mystery. He who refuses to believe anything he cannot understand, can never be sure of anything. Paul concedes the mystery of godliness--that is, the mystery of the fact that divine plan by which God seeks to make men godlike. If it were not a mystery to our finite comprehension it would be unworthy of the great God and impossible of belief to finite man. Let--God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory. This manifestation of God is the basis of the Christian scheme. But--He was also justified in the spirit. Again and again the spirit of God bore testimony to his sonship--the descending dove at the baptism and the glory of the transfiguration were not only for the sake of the spectators but for his own sake. The cloven tongue of Pentecost and the descent of the Holy Spirit were to justify the faith of the disciples in the incarnation. So that we are not left to the historical proofs of the incarnation--which are as credible as the proofs concerning Caesar and Napoleon--we have the spirit he has given us to whisper assurances of our acceptance with God. He was seen of angels--that is recognized by angels as the Son of God, and became the subject of their holy ministries. These angelic spirits are sent forth to minister also to the heirs of salvation. 4th--He was preached unto the nations. The gospel was intended to be a universal religion and forthwith the disciples went everywhere preaching the gospel--the church is going to-day. The need of the world now is for saved men and women everywhere--in the family--the shop--the store--the mine to preach Jesus the Son of God. Every hearer is a divinely constituted preacher--"let him that heareth say come." 5th--Believed on in the world--there is no greater mystery than this. Think of the millions who worship and hang their hopes upon a man who was crucified nineteen hundred years ago. 6th--Received up into glory--there he lives to intercede for us. The sermon produced a marked impression on the large congregation. Next Sunday morning the Rev. James Morrow, D. D., secretary of the Penna. State Bible Society, will preach.

Great Sale of Tickets For the Teachers' County Institute Entertainment on Saturday Last.

The box office of Ferguson's theatre was opened Saturday for the sale of tickets for entertainments to be given in the theatre on the evenings of December 14, 15, 16 and 17, under the auspices of the Teachers' County Institute. Before the sale commenced there was drawing to decide the positions of purchasers in the line. One hundred were present to participate in it and an equal number of slips was placed in the hat. H. W. Timman, drew number one, and Michael Whiteaker drew number two. The line was then formed and the box office was opened at 10:30 a. m. By 11 o'clock tickets for every seat in the lower part of the theatre had been sold. Sale of tickets for seats in other parts of the theatre will hereafter be made at Kirtin's drug store. The entertainment course promises to be the most successful of any heretofore held in this town.

Superintendent Freeman has appointed a committee to arrange the exhibit of local school work in Ferguson's hall and another committee to assist the teachers of other places in properly displaying their school work. The latter exhibit will be in the same hall. It is the desire of the superintendents and school teachers that parents should give these exhibits their attention.

Lillian Kennedy To-night.

Miss Lillian Kennedy and an excellent company will appear at Ferguson's theatre to-night in "She Couldn't Marry Three." The standard of the entertainment is overshadowed in the following references to Miss Kennedy by the New York City papers:
Miss Lillian Kennedy is clever and brightly. She will no doubt make her mark.--New York Herald.

Miss Lillian Kennedy is a very charming young woman with much dramatic perception.--New York World.

Miss Lillian Kennedy, as Bess, worked hard last night and earned every bit of the applause which was showered upon her. She is a very graceful little dancer.--New York Evening Sun.

Miss Lillian Kennedy's songs and dances were well received.--New York Evening Telegram.

Miss Lillian Kennedy, whose bright face, vivacity, good figure, sweet voice, graceful dancing and clever acting, is the great factor as Bess in the comedy, "She Couldn't Marry Three" has succeeded in greatly pleasing the New York patrons.--New York Daily News.

She can dance, sing, and act.--New York Stage News.

PERSONAL.

Rev. H. G. James spent today at the city seat.
Squire Shoemaker attended court at Pottsville to-day.

Henry Shaffer is doing jury duty at Pottsville again this week.
Miss Edith Miners returned home Saturday after spending a week with friends in St. Carmel.

T. Shuman, the South Main street druggist, is attending to business at Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Edward Morgan and his daughter, Annie, of Shaversfork, are the guests of relatives in town.

Frank Carey, of Pottsville, is en route for the P. & R. C. & I. Co., was a visitor to town this morning.

Mrs. C. G. Palmer, who spent the past few weeks visiting friends in various parts of Luzerne county, returned to town Saturday afternoon.

A Townsman in the South.
Mr. James G. Hutton, of town, is now in the Yankee city (of the South, Tallapoosa, Georgia. His health is already improved by the change. He has found that the climate in that section is splendid, the water fine, and the mineral springs have medicinal qualities that are highly beneficial to liver and kidney troubles. Mr. Hutton has purchased some property at Tallapoosa for himself and can look after property for others who may wish to invest there. The place offers excellent opportunities for investments. Mr. Hutton will cheerfully furnish information and maps of the town. Many bazars for investors are at hand now. There is a good opening for a feed and hay business, also for a furniture business and a first class grocery. Mr. Hutton wants a man in Shenandoah to represent Tallapoosa. All inquiries should be addressed to James G. Hutton, Tallapoosa, Ga.

A Gum Boot Case.
The collecting of old gum boots to keep the half a dozen cheap Polish shoe shops in town supplied has been pushed with such vigor the past few months the articles are almost at a premium and, in consequence of this, some enthusiastic collectors have not been particular as to whether the boots that have strayed within their reach have been old or new, and where new ones have joined the collection it has been without the knowledge of the owner. Scores of miners in the First ward have complained of losses to Squire Monaghan. It is the custom of the majority of miners to take off their boots before entering their houses and leave them at the steps, outside. Several have complained that they have hardly dropped the boots before they have mysteriously disappeared. This has been accounted for by the fact that peddlars have been encouraging boys to bring them all the old gum boots available. On Saturday a First ward Pole reported that a pair of gum boots he had worn but a few days had been stolen. Constable Toomey found the boots in the possession of Mike Kupper, a Jew peddler, who said he purchased them from a boy for four cents. Kupper was held on a charge of receiving stolen goods and will be given a hearing to-night. He promises to produce the boy who sold the boots to him.

Now Try This.
It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs.
