

NIGHT EXTRA

Evening Ledger

NIGHT EXTRA

VOL. I—NO. 62

PHILADELPHIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1914,

COPYRIGHT, 1914, BY THE PUBLIC LEADER COMPANY.

PRICE ONE CENT

German Aid Rushed to Poland—Relief Ship Fund Complete 300 Bodies Voice Commuters' Protest—25 Perish in Shipwreck

SCENES AND EVENTS IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS ARRIVING BY EXPRESS

It is estimated that 100,000 turkeys arrived in the city yesterday. Wells-Fargo Express Company wagons are shown here unloading several crates at 24th and Chestnut streets. Price range from 28 to 32 cents per pound.

A CRATE OF FINE GOBBLERS

The recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease has had little effect on the turkey crop. There will be plenty for Thanksgiving.

WIFE OF CHIEF BRITISH AVIATOR
Among the prominent arrivals on the steamship Adriatic from Liverpool last Friday was Mrs. Claude Graham-White.

SOUTHERN BELLE ENTERS CAPITAL SOCIETY

Miss Elizabeth Harding is the daughter of W. P. G. Harding, of Birmingham. She is one of the belles of the Southern city. This winter she will spend in Washington, where her father is a member of the Federal Reserve Board. She has already made her bow to society in Washington.

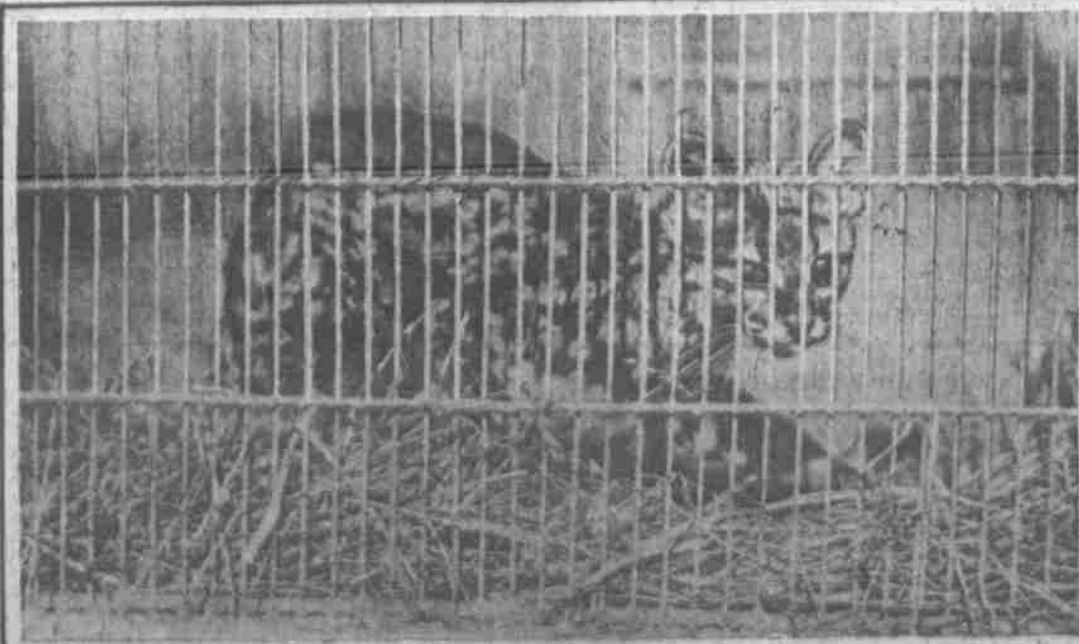

FORTY-TWO RABBITS FELL TO THIS PARTY

That rabbits are still plentiful in Monroe County is evidenced by the photograph, showing the results of a two-day gunning trip into the mountains near Stroudsburg by four Quakertown gunners who succeeded in bringing down 42 rabbits, five pheasants and one woodcock. The party consisted of William and Charles Binkley and Harry and William Derstine.

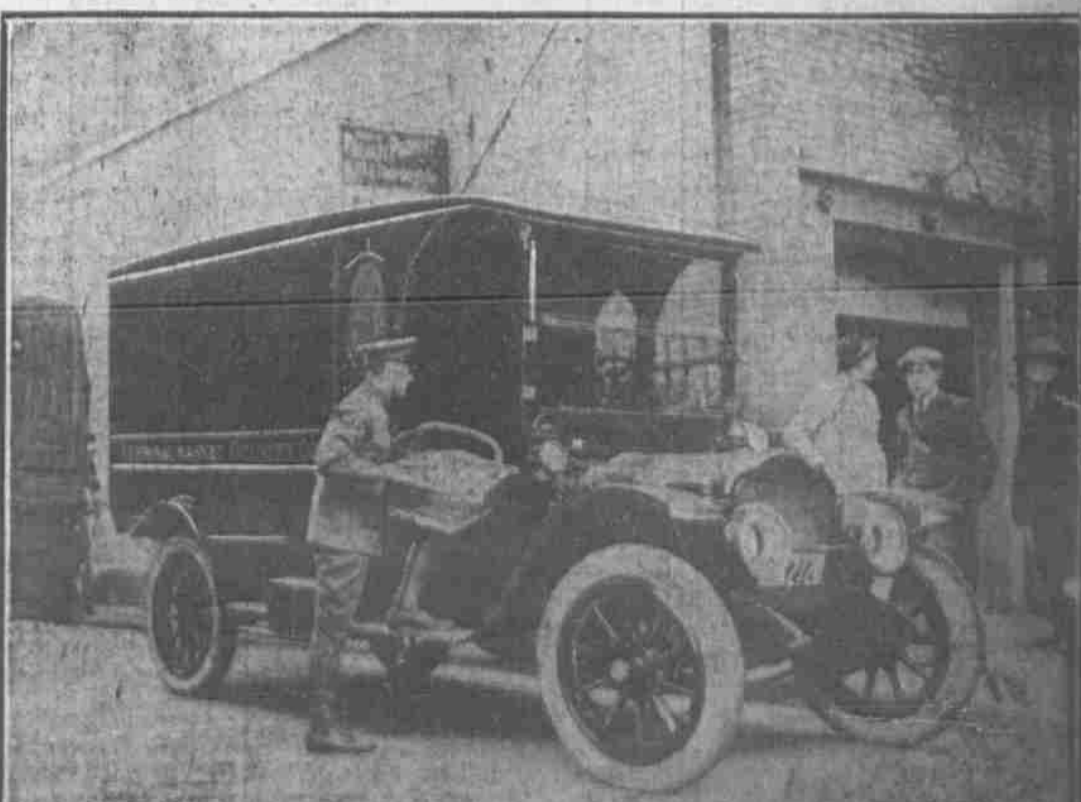

ART EXHIBIT FOR BENEFIT OF WAR SUFFERERS
"The Mother of the Dead," by C. S. Pietro, one of the exhibits at the New York sculptors' and artists' exhibit for the benefit of the war, tells its own story with a dignified simplicity and pathos.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA TO PHILADELPHIA

The ocelot is the nearest approach to the Indian tiger that the continents of North and South America can supply. This specimen is another brought by the University of Pennsylvania expedition from the Amazon region. He is not as large as the tiger, but almost as bad-tempered.

FIRST OF NEW AUTO FLEET FOR MARKET DELIVERY

Very handsome is the new motor high-speed car of the Terminal Market Delivery Company. It is finished in green, red and gold, with the attendants in olive drab uniforms. More cars will be added rapidly.