Here is a remedy it is claimed, that will knock the spots out of the chills and fever and build up an appetite that will make a man eat a keg of nails: One-half ounce of Peruvian bark, one-half ounce of rhubarb, and one pint of pure Holland Gin. Fire in the Jail. Wednesday evening last at about 10 o'clock the alarm of fire was given. Citizens crying in the streets, people came rushing from all directions to ascertain where the fire was located. It was soon found to be in the jail. Investigation showed that a straw tick in an upper cell had caught fire from some cause or other, perhaps from a pipe, as there were several prisoners in the cell. The cell was full of smoke. A few quarts of water quenched the fire. Res of this fire, a lot of scared people, and a hole burnt in an old straw tick. Fifty to a hundred men had assembled on the outside of the jail.

Fire!! HOLIDAY GOODS!!! Fire!!! Fire is a good servant and also a good thing to clean up old stock. Every one in Elk county knows that ours was thoroughly renovated on the morning of Sept. 29th. No old, powerless inert drugs or patent medicines. No old-fashioned, shop-worn Fancy Goods in ours. After many vexatious delays we are aloft again. Since the fire we have made two trips to the eastern cities gathering up a new stock of Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, etc., which will soon be as complete as before the fire. We spent considerable time in looking over all the novelties in Holiday Goods (and they are many) and carefully selected a stock which for Variety, Elegance, Utility and cheapness will not be excelled anywhere. The salesman for the largest house in that line in Philadelphia paid us the compliment of saying we had "ordered the finest and best selected stock of Holiday Goods shipped by them this season outside the city," and they "could not fall to sell to a critical, tasteful and discriminating trade." We know by experience that we have in Ridgway and vicinity a trade who appreciate fine goods. We have catered to the Holiday trade for many years and can truthfully say that for variety and elegance our present stock far surpasses any we have ever offered before. And although we will labor under the disadvantage of not having as elegant quarters to display them in, this will be more than balanced by careful selection and variety. We invite our friends to call and see our goods and look over the novelties. Will be glad to have all come whether they buy or not. Will welcome young and old and although we need your help and patronage (and appreciate it too), will not rely solely on your sympathy, for which we thank you, but are well aware that the natural inclination of everyone is to buy where they are best served for the least money. And shall endeavor in the future as in the past to merit your patronage, and have you that while you are extending a kindness to us you are serving your own interest as well. We may be found between the court house and Mercer's meat market, on Court street, Ridgway, Pa. A. C. CRAIG.

Elk County Teachers' Institute.

Teachers, School Directors, and Friends of Education: The Sixteenth Annual Session of the Elk County Teachers' Institute will be held in the Court House, Ridgway, Pa., beginning on Monday, December 18th, 1882, at 3 P. M. and closing on Friday, December 22nd, 1882, at noon. It is with pleasure we announce the program for the next annual session of our Institute. Every teacher whether professional or inexperienced feels the need of the mental and social stimulus of these annual gatherings. Our Institutes thus far have been well attended and the interest taken in them has bordered on enthusiasm and that our next gathering shall lack none of the old time fervor, but rather show an increased zeal in our earnest hope. Much in the past has been done by our Institutes for our schools and teachers. From them we have gleaned the richest gems of thoughts upon all subjects pertaining to our professional life. The most erudite and gifted lecturers of the land have been present upon these occasions thrilling us with their eloquence and leading us into broader fields of knowledge by laying before us the results of their research. The Teachers' Institute is beneficial, transmuting life and character into every department of our school work, giving teachers, directors and people higher ideas and better thoughts in regard to all important educational subjects. It is elevating in a social point of view and promotes harmonious action and good fellowship among the co-laborers in a common cause. It is true that our Institutes, like other creations of the finite and mortal, are not altogether faultless. We simply promise to do our best and being made wiser by experience at home and abroad we should and will make each succeeding Institute better than the former. The coming session will be second to none ever held by us. It is true that we are not personally acquainted with all the talent engaged but to employ only those individually known to us, would be a preposterous notion. Before closing arrangements with any of our workers however we made diligent inquiry concerning their competency. They are pronounced good in their special spheres and without forebodings of any failures we unreservedly introduce them to you. The work done will be of the most practical character. We have done our part and nothing but a faithful performance on your part remains to be done. Will not all teachers attend? Be enrolled the first day and be found in the seats assigned you at every session.

Remember that Deputy State Superintendent Henry Houck wishes to shake hands with every teacher in Elk County on Monday evening. His grasp is warm and hearty and his words encouraging, you will not soon forget them.

Shooting Affair at Washington D. C.

Dispatches from Washington under date of Nov. 29 and 27, give accounts of the shooting of J. A. Wilmot, by his brother-in-law J. P. Angey, whom many of the citizens of Ridgway will no doubt remember. The shooting took place at the St. Marc Hotel on Saturday night. One of the four bullets fired by Mr. Angey at Mr. Wilmot pierced the lungs of the latter and he was taken to the Providence Hospital. It is thought he will recover. Angey was at once arrested and is now in jail. He says that he is the traveling agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York for the western district of Pennsylvania, with his headquarters at Pittsburg. He avers that many years ago Wilmot swindled him out of $30,000 on a real estate transaction, and that he proposed to him a criminal enterprise in which he refused to join. Because of this refusal Angey says Wilmot wrote letters to the Equitable Company that created a prejudice against him. The company threatened him with dismissal unless he could prove the falsity of the accusations, and he came here to procure a retraction from Wilmot. The latter, it is said, admitted the untruth of his statements, but declined to retract them. In the dispute that followed revolvers were drawn and Angey claims that he fired in self-defense. The story told by Wilmot is in direct variance with Angey's. Wilmot says he was shot because he refused to endorse $30,000 worth of paper that his brother-in-law desired to use in all speculations.

Washington, November 27.—The Pennsylvania insurance agent, Angey, who shot his brother-in-law, Wilmot, at the St. Marc Hotel, Saturday evening, was arraigned in the Police Court to-day, but owing to the critical condition of his victim, the preliminary hearing was postponed. Subsequently the prisoner was taken to jail and placed in a cell, adjoining that formerly occupied by Guiteau. Advice from Providence Hospital, where Wilmot was taken after the shooting, represent his condition as critical, the wound in his lung being considered the most dangerous. Angey expresses no contrition for his act, but, as he puts it, "I am only sorry that I did not kill Wilmot outright. It's enough to drive one mad to think what I've suffered at his hands. He threatened to kill me a number of times, and I was afraid of him. My letters to my wife were intercepted and destroyed and all communication between us broken off. He is a gambler and a villain, and has been engaged in a number of fraudulent schemes, among which were the Real Estate Trust and Loan Company and the Five Cent Insurance Company. He was put under bonds for attempting to shoot his wife's mother, and I can prove a number of swindling operations on his part in New Jersey. He is a scoundrel and I wish to see his accomplice he has done his utmost to ruin me."

Burglary in Clarion. (Brookville Republican.)

Some time during the early hours of Wednesday morning of last week, burglars entered the store of A. W. & C. F. Corbett, in that place, and carried away money, goods and notes to the value of $3,000. The robbers forced open the double doors of the warehouse with a jimmy. Passing through they cut out a panel of the door leading into the store, and reaching the vault, a hole an eighth of an inch in diameter was drilled through the vault door close to the dial, and so as to escape all rivets, bolts or metals on the inside and open into the inside of the lock, showing themselves professionally acquainted with their business. Powder was blown into the aperture and a fuse set off. The work was neatly done. The inside cap of the lock was blown off and a slight twist of the wrist on the knob threw back the bolts and the door opened. About $300 in money belonging to the firm was taken; Lan G. Corbett lost about $200 and notes amounting to $2,000; J. A. Albright $150; A. K. Page $15 in gold and some bills; and the individual members of the firm small amounts. The papers in the vault were all looked over and scattered over the floor. Full suits of clothing, dress goods, overcoats, silk handkerchiefs, cigars, etc., were taken amounting in value close to $900. The goods were loaded into a wagon and hauled away. The ground was frozen and there is no clue to the direction taken by the thieves, nor any suspicion as to who they are.

Pennsylvania News.

T. S. Williams, of the Carrollton News, has been sued for libel. The charge is made by a man named Kink-head. Hyman Finnebrook, a single man, aged thirty years, living near Williamsport, was found dead in a Williamsport hotel, having taken a dose of strychnine. No cause for the suicide is known. A man named Martin, of Tarport, McKean county lost his way recently while hunting and was found several days afterwards almost dead with his hands and feet frozen. It is said that a survey will soon be made for a proposed narrow gauge railroad from Gaines in Lycoming county, up to the west branch of the Pine creek and down east fork of the Sinnemahoning, through Potter and Cameron counties. William Devereux blew out the gas before retiring at a Williamsport hotel. In the morning a servant endeavored to waken him and noticed gas escaping from his room. The door was broken open when the young man was found in an unconscious condition, and it was with great difficulty that his life was saved. Samuel McIntock, of Frankford, has entered suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to recover damages for the loss of a foot. He sustained an injury in that member some time since while alighting from a car which made amputation necessary. He claims $29,000 damages. A few days ago while Henry L. Brackbill, of Landis valley, Lancaster county, was engaged threshing at a neighbor's, his coat sleeve caught in the thrasher. The coat, shirt and under shirt sleeves were torn off and another workman hearing him groan, saw his danger and stopped the machinery. It was a narrow escape. John McF. Johnston and Nellie Scott were arrested in Pittsburg on Sunday for hugging and kissing each other on the street. The officer told them to desist as people were coming home from church. This riled them and they abused the officer and then continued to hug and kiss the more. They had no explanation of their conduct to make in the morning and were fined $5 and costs each. A Renovo telegram says that a sad and fatal accident befell Mr. McClellan Wertz, son of Mr. Thompson Wertz, of Shintown, Wednesday morning. He, with several companions, was out on a deer hunt on Hughes run. About eight o'clock Mr. Wertz and John Dennison were leaving the cabin—their headquarters in the woods; the former going outside first, discovered that he had forgotten his gloves, and turning around, he called to Dennison to hand them out; while doing so he (Dennison) had his gun in hand, and from some cause it was discharged. The ball, which was of large calibre, entered the abdomen of Wertz, a little to the left of the navel, and apparently lodged in the spine near the small of the back. Dr. Hall was called to the case and rendered all aid possible, but the wound was a fatal one, and the young man died Thursday, after lingering and suffering over twenty-four hours. Deceased was nearly twenty-one years of age, and was considered by all who knew him as a steady and clever young man. Last Friday afternoon a young man named Louis Vink, aged twenty-two years, was killed in the lumber woods, at C. A. Ardell's camp, about fifteen miles from Driftwood. He was killed by a falling tree; a tree which had been cut down, in falling struck another tree, which tree struck the third one, and it was this tree which fell upon the unfortunate man and broke his neck. The body passed through this place in charge of a brother of the deceased, on his way to Holly Springs, Cumberland county, Pa. Mr. Ardell says that Louis Vink was the only man killed on his job inside of nine years, and during that time he has had over five thousand men in his employ.—Driftwood Gazette.

In several localities in this county a fatal disease has been making sad inroads into the hog crop, some of the farmers losing nearly all of their stock from its effects. The result of this condition of things has been a demoralization of the market, in fact there has been no market for dressed pork up to this time, and the indications are that many will be slow to make purchases during the season, through fear of getting a diseased article. As far as we have been able to learn no remedy for the trouble has been discovered, and the disease is nearly every instance proves fatal.—Brookville Republican.

Almost every store in the country has on its counter, a show case of Dr. Day's medicines. By a glance at the display, it will be seen that direct acting remedies are offered for many every day complaints, and as they are all the results of study and experience, their worth may be relied on. Dr. Day's Liver Pills are taken in a different way from any other pill, and only a trial is needed to prove their great superiority in all cases of liver complaint and constipation. Dr. Day's Cold Medicine has great power over colds and sore throat, and persons subject to quinsy need not have their tonsils break if they take this remedy in time. The show case contains a number of others, but special attention is called to Dr. Day's Cure for Piles, as having a greater curative influence over the parts implicated, than any other medicine known.

A Miracle. Whenever there is an extraordinary occurrence—a team runs over a child without hurting it; a mechanic falls from a third-story window, and in a week after he is up again, we are wondrous to exclaim, "what a miracle!" So when Mrs. T. S. Eberline, then of Allegheny City, Pa., had been sick with Consumption for a very long time, had been told by several of the best physicians of that city that her time was but for a few hours, that she must die, and when the use of but one bottle of Peruana in a week's time placed her on her feet again and made her the heartiest eater of the family, all the people around, as with one rejoicing voice, exclaimed, "What a wonderful miracle!"
