

LAWYERS FOR LABORERS

Considered by the Senate in the Form of a Bill for Furloughs

FOR PRINTING OFFICE EMPLOYEES.

A Dull Day in the House, the Calm After the Free Silver Storm.

ANOTHER CONGRESSIONAL WEEK BEGUN

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In the Senate today a bill to include Lot No. 83, Block 80, Hot Springs, Ark., in the public reservation there, was passed. Among the bills reported from committee and placed on the calendar were the following: Appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Pierre, S. D.; to secure the introduction of domestic reindeer into Alaska. Mr. Morgan offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the President for the correspondence with the Agricultural Public Health subject of reciprocity, and for information as to articles exported thereto from the United States on which the United States requires a reduction of the customs duties imposed by the Argentine Republic so as to make reciprocity fair and equal.

The Senate bill to allow 30 days' leave to employees in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was then taken up and discussed. Mr. Sherman said there was some reason why annual furloughs should be given to men in regular, permanent employment under the Government, but none why it should be given to men employed on piece work.

Why Mr. Vest Opposed the Bill.

Mr. Vest was opposed to the whole system. If it were applied to private life it would virtually stop employment throughout the country. He wanted the professed friends of the workmen—those who understand how to manipulate the labor vote—to understand that they would find the passage of the bill a difficult campaign experiment.

Mr. Hale remarked that the workmen of the country had no interest in the matter. They were not at all concerned in the movement. It was all the other way. In passing the bill, the Senate would be legislating in the public interest, but legislating for class interests and against the workmen.

An Amendment Quickly Agreed to.

Mr. Hale in order that the Senate might see what was before it in the matter, and what would be irrevocably demanded, offered as an amendment the insertion of an additional section making the provisions of the law apply to all regular employees of the United States whether they be employed by the year, the month, the week, or the day. The amendment was agreed to, without a division, and then the bill was committed to the Committee on Education and Labor.

House bill to amend the act of August 6, 1888, authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at Burlington, Iowa, was passed. Senate bill to establish a railway bridge over the Illinois river at or near Havana, Ill., was passed.

A Dull Day in the House.

Although the news had gone forth that the Committee on Education and Labor would report a resolution for the consideration of the silver bill, the House galleries were filled with spectators, and there was an air of anxiety pervading the members in the Chamber. The speaker laid before the House a communication from Representative Joseph McKenna of the Sixth District of California, informing the House that he had sent his resignation as Representative to the Governor of California. The communication was read upon the journal. The speaker also laid before the House a communication from D. D. Donovan, of the Sixth Ohio District, stating that on page 2530 of the Congressional Record he was recorded as voting in the negative on Mr. Burrows' motion to lay the bill (silver) on the table. He was not in the hall when his name was called on this or any other roll pertaining to the silver bill. As his physician, Dr. Hazen, had given positive orders that he should not leave his room, he was obliged to write instead of making an explanation in person before the House. The speaker stated that the correction would be made and the communication spread upon the journal.

RAUM AND HIS LOANS.

More Spicy Testimony in the Investigation of the Pension Office—Attorneys and Employes Who Kept Raising J. O. U. Accounts with the Raising Family.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—G. N. Lockwood, a patent attorney of this city, formerly Chief Clerk of the Interior Department, was the first witness called by the Pension Office Investigating Committee, to-day. Witness told of a request that General Raun made to him for a loan of money for a few days, to help him out. He could not loan the Commissioner the money himself, but took him to Mr. Thompson, the President of the National Metropolitan Bank, who he thought might accommodate him. Mr. Thompson refused to accommodate the Commissioner because of some personal feeling against him (the Commissioner) on account of the latter's refusal to promote his work in the Pension Office. He (Mr. Thompson) had expressed to the Commissioner the hope that if it was consistent with his duty he would make the promotion. He did not know whether Mr. Lockwood spoke to the Commissioner about it or not at the time, as General Raun was in the office, but out of hearing. Witness refused to give the name of the lady clerk whose promotion he had asked for. She said subsequently that she had not been promoted, and had been treated a little roughly by Green B. Raun, Jr. Witness stated that he had said he had no confidence in General Raun. The witness declared that he did not seek to compensate or bribe General Raun to secure the promotion. William H. Barker, formerly Chief of the Record Division of the Pension Office, was the next witness. He said there had been charges preferred against him while in the Pension Office of borrowing money from employes and not returning it. These charges followed him to the Treasury Department, where he had obtained a position, and he resigned. Witness said the entire amount of money he had borrowed in Washington was $625, and he had lost $12,000 in speculation. He had received, he admitted, information from W. W. Dudley in regard to stocks, on which he had acted.

Telephoning to Dudley at All Times.

The witness also said that persons in the Pension Office had spoken to him about the telephone of his assistants, using the office telephone after business hours, one of the persons to whom he would talk being W. W. Dudley. Mrs. Fithian had once offered him (Barker) money in return for promoting her. Witness reported the matter to Green B. Raun, Jr., and Mrs. Fithian was not promoted. Witness said he had borrowed $50 from a clerk named Donohue, whom he had a section chief, Donohue, by hitting the money from a clerk named Morse. The note not being paid, Donohue wrote witness a letter during office hours saying that unless the money were paid immediately, Morse would have him (Barker) arrested. Witness paid the money and immediately reduced Donohue to a clerkship, (but without reduction in salary) for insubordination, in writing such a letter during office hours. After a good deal of questioning the witness said Green B. Raun, Jr., probably got a part of the $50, as he and witness were borrowing money back and forth of each other.

Thomas Farrell, an attorney and formerly an agent in the Pension Office, was the next witness. He told of the circumstances attending his discharge and his efforts to secure a reinstatement. He attributed his failure to get back to his refusal to recognize John Raun (son of the Commissioner), as an attorney in a case in which there was a fee of $25 involved, unless he obtained the consent of the Attorney General.

Indiana Claims Advanced Before Election. Witness said that before the election of 1890 there were pension claims from the State of Indiana advanced for a consideration. He cited a case from Columbus, Ind., he had handled, in which Mr. J. J. Dunbar, Representative Cooper's opponent for Congress, was interested.

Regarding the working of the completed files order, witness said that about 5 per cent of the cases that were sent to his division as complete were really complete. The first lot of cases that came along were Lemons' cases, "which always came up smiling with a complete slip." These cases of Mr. Lemons' included many old claims that had been in the office for a long time. Witness regarded the completed files order as a detriment to business.

In concluding a reply to a question, witness remarked that he would like to show in parallel columns his record in contrast with that of the Commissioner in discharging him, and at the same time keeping Theodore Smith and a number of women reputed to be of bad moral character in office. This remark was finally stricken out, and the committee adjourned till Wednesday.

A Close Call.

Mr. J. P. Blaine, an extensive real estate dealer in this city, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of the State during the recent blizzard. Mr. Blaine had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaine sent to the nearest drugstore and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaine regards his cure as entirely wonderful, and says he will never travel again without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.—The (Des Moines, Ia.) Saturday Review. 50-cent bottles for sale by druggists.
