The Third Day's Business Session of the National Photographic Association—Technical Papers and Discussions—General Business.

The third day's business session of the National Photographic Association, which opened in the basement of Horticultural Hall, President Bogardus in the chair.

The President exhibited an old daguerrotype camera which had been procured for the use of the association of Dr. Dickson by Mr. Gallo V. Cheston. This was made at the time that Daguerre conducted his experiments.

Mr. M. A. Root was introduced, who exhibited the first photograph ever made in the State of Pennsylvania. It was made by Mr. Saxton, who was at the time employed in the United States Mint in Philadelphia. When the results of Daguerre's experiments were published in the papers, Saxton read them in the morning, and in the afternoon made the picture with a cigar box, an opera glass lens, and a Seidlitz powder box in which to fume the plate.

Mr. Root also exhibited other daguerrotype plates, showing the progress of the art at different dates, which were the property, and borrowed from the rooms, of the Historical Society. A very early photograph was also shown, made in the year 1833.

A first attempt on silk was exhibited, which was made by Mr. Southworth, of Boston, who was present at the meeting of the association, and recognized the picture, though he did not know that it was to be exhibited.

Several other young men in the morning, connected with the art were shown, which Mr. Root said he intended to donate to the Historical Society.

The President then read his yearly address, which expressed great satisfaction in the present standing of the association and of the art. The association has given us an opportunity to compare our work with that of others. It has put down the selfish man and put up the generous. We are now in a position, members of the association. The time can be remembered when we were ashamed of the craft. We now compare favorably with the European members of the profession. It is a good thing that there are so many young men in our ranks, for that is the promise of great effects. Who can tell what wonders will be exhibited by the photographers ten years hence? Photography is now one of the indispensable. Too many photographers are now being too many varieties of work, and they cannot expect to succeed well in all. The aim of the profession should be high, and no member should do anything to degrade it.

Mr. J. Baker, of Buffalo, was then called upon, who gave, with the aid of blackboard diagrams, a description of his method of lighting the sitter and of the effects which he produced.

Mr. Johnson, of Scranton, being called upon, gave a description of his peculiar method of working in outdoor photography.

The report of the Committee on Apprenticeship appointed last year was called for and read by the Secretary.

The report stated that bound apprenticeship is very unpopular in all departments of trade, and boys when bound out do not take the same interest in the affairs of their employers as they do when they are not bound. A person in that situation depends upon his good behavior. The committee recommend that a three-years' apprenticeship should be agreed upon by the association.

If a student serves that time he should receive a diploma from his employer, the blank forms of which should be supplied by the association. No fixed rate could be agreed upon on account of the difference in the cost of living in different localities, but it is recommended that a small fee be paid first, which should be increased afterwards.

The employe, if for any just cause he should wish to stop his course of studies, should receive an honorable certificate from his employer, stating how long he had to serve. A person presenting such a certificate could then be employed by any member of the association. The committee recommend the formation of a photographic academy for the better education of students.

The report was received, but, previous to adoption, was discussed at length.

It was objected that there was no provision made for cases where the employer himself proved defective.

A motion was made that the report be published, and its adoption referred to the next annual meeting.

A resolution asking that a practical retouching artist be named by his theory at the afternoon session was made and passed.

A motion was made to reconsider this resolution, on account of the difficulty of explaining such a process in public, but it was voted down.

Mr. Baker, of Buffalo, gave a few remarks on the subject of retouching.

Mr. Southworth, of Boston, Mr. Ayres, of Buffalo, Mr. Lyman G. Bigelow, Mr. Fenimore, of Philadelphia, Mr. Bogardus, of New York, and Mr. Baker, of Buffalo, also followed with explanations on the same subject.

A communication was received from Mr. Holmes, of New York, declining to serve as vice-president of the association.

A motion was made that the resignation should not be accepted. Agreed to unanimously.

Mr. Holmes made a short address, giving the reasons why the resignation had been presented, and thanking the association for the honor of the office, by expressing regret that the resignation had not been accepted.

A motion was made by Mr. Spencer that at the next exhibition the exhibitor of a picture exhibit also the negative from which the picture is made, so that it can be seen what class of negatives make the best pictures.

A notice was given of a change in the Institution, to be acted on at the next meeting, providing that all officers be honorarily elected by ballot.

Adjourned until 3 P. M.

HOMOEOPATHIC EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.—Yesterday morning the members of the Homeopathic Editorial Association breakfasted with Dr. R. J. McClatchey, editor of the Hahnemann Monthly, and after breakfast a meeting of the association was held.

The following were present:—I. T. Tabbot, of Boston, and W. Tod Helmuth, of New York, of Chicago, of the United States Medical and Surgical Journal; S. Lillenthal, of New York, of the North American Journal of Homeopathy; T. C. Duncan, of Chicago, of the Medical Investigator; Bushrod W. James, of Philadelphia, of the American Homeopathic Observer; T. P. Wilson, of Cleveland, of the Ohio Medical and Surgical Reporter; and Messrs. Berke and Tafel, publishers. The association, after transacting business relating to the improvement of homeopathic medical journalism, and electing officers, adjourned to meet at the next session of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

MUSIC HATH NO CHAINS.—Three Italians, named respectively Pedro de Gillo, J. Antonio, and Joseph Picarneri, the two former fiddlers and the latter a harpist, struck up a duet strain, and kept at it steadily for one hour. In this brief space more blunders were made in the accounts of the various firms than had hitherto occurred in years. The proprietors one by one admonished these zealous troubadours that they could not keep at it steadily for one hour.

Finally they were driven out of Bank street, but to the honor of the firms in question, they appeared in Strawberry street, on which their establishments have a front, and struck their instruments reverentially. Upon this they were arrested and fined by an alderman.

PURTY TREATS.—Mary Ann Slates yesterday stole some clothing from a sister boarder in a house in St. Mark street, near Eighth. Officer Carrigan arrested her, and she was held to answer.

John Devlin invaded a toyshop on Fourth street, near York avenue, and stole some playthings for which offense he was held to answer by Alderman Talcott.

HOMOEOPATHY.

Twenty-eighth Anniversary of the American Institute of Homeopathy.—The Woman Question Before the Institute.—They are Admitted Members.

The Institute began its fourth day's session at 9 o'clock this morning, in the usual place, with Dr. J. J. Youlin, of Jersey City, in the chair.

After the reading of a few announcements Dr. N. R. Morse, of Salem, Mass., arose and said:—

Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the meeting to the constitution of this body. It is contained nothing in regard to female physicians. Article 9th of the by-laws prescribes on what conditions a physician may be admitted a member of this institute. The article in question says nothing whatever as to the sex or color, and according to its reading a female or colored man is entirely eligible to membership here, provided he complies with the other qualifications which we are all required to possess. Now we can alter the by-laws by a vote of the majority of those present.

In Boston, on June the 9th, 1869, a resolution was adopted by the institute reading thus:—

Resolved, That properly qualified physicians, men or women, are eligible to membership of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

It is not, I think, to be doubted that the by-laws say nothing about it, the Institute has virtually resolved to admit females to membership, and in view of these considerations and in order to put the matter beyond all doubt I now move that article ninth of the by-laws be amended so as to distinctly carry out the intention of the Boston resolution.

Dr. McManus, of Baltimore—I move to lay the resolution on the table.

Dr. H. M. Smith, of New Jersey—I do not see the necessity of pressing this matter just at present. The Bureau of Statistics have several amendments to the by-laws, which will be duly reported, and the question about the admission of females will be one of them. I therefore hope that Dr. Morse will withdraw it at present, and let the subject come up at the proper time.

Dr. Morse then withdrew his motion for the present.

Dr. C. H. Von Taylor, of Harrisburg, presented and read an extract of his paper on an "Operation for the removal of an abdominal fibroid tumor."

Dr. J. S. Lord, of Poughkeepsie, from the Bureau of Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene, presented the report of the bureau and an article of his own on the "Physiological significance of a cell of three parts."

Dr. Smith here presented the report of the Bureau of Statistics, and in it was contained the amendment making the alteration of article 9 of the by-laws, admitting female physicians. The report was received, and the recommendation of the bureau was unanimously adopted. The result was of course, applauded.

After the transaction of business of no public importance, the meeting proceeded to take up the resolutions of Dr. Verdi, which were offered yesterday, and which were made the special order for to-day at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Verdi addressed the meeting on his resolutions.

Dr. Pemberton Dudley, of Philadelphia, said that he was not yet prepared to discontinue the organs, but he was in favor of guarding the institute. The oration is a valuable aid to us. By it the public are taught our principles, and he thought that nothing would be gained and much lost by abolishing it, even if an orator would deliver sentiments which are not held in general acceptance.

Dr. Dudley here offered the following as a substitute for the resolutions of Dr. Verdi:—

Resolved, That the committee be appointed at each annual meeting, the chairman of which shall be a resident of the county in which the next meeting is to be held, who shall examine the address to be delivered at the report, whether approved or disapproved, and such report shall be in order at any time after the conclusion of the President's opening address, and no address disapproved by the committee shall be delivered from the platform of the institute, except by a vote of the majority thereof.

This resolution was voted down.

Dr. Koch then presented the following as an amendment:—

Resolved, That the "resident physicians" of the places of meeting of the future sessions of the institute are not expected to give a public entertainment to its members.

This was ruled as being out of order as an amendment, but might be offered as an original resolution.

Dr. F. H. McManus, of Baltimore, offered the following substitute:—

Resolved, That the subject of every annual address shall be confined to medical and scientific subjects, to the exclusion of all matters either political or religious.

This was voted down, and the resolutions of Dr. Verdi being put they were adopted by a large majority.

Dr. Verdi here addressed the meeting and invited the institute to hold its next anniversary in Washington; Dr. Beckwith presented the claims of Cleveland, Ohio, and Dr. Koch read an invitation from the Secretary of the State Society of California to close the institute to meet in San Francisco next year.

These suggestions were discussed at length, and Dr. Verdi stated that it was highly necessary to go to Washington, in order to counteract the influence of homeopathy with Congress. He stated in this connection that the allopathic physicians last winter utterly disgraced themselves, the police having had to be called in.

Dr. Ball, of New York, was rather in favor of Washington, as there are a couple of resolutions before Congress which are of much importance to homeopaths.

After a vast deal of voting, resolutions, and reconsiderations, the fight being between Washington and Cleveland the latter was finally decided, by a vote of 53 to 47, to meet in Washington, a substitute of Dr. Payne having accomplished that object.

The institute then went into an election for officers. For President, Dr. I. T. Tabbot and Dr. J. Youlin, of New Jersey, were nominated.

The tellers appointed were as follows:—Dr. Pemberton Dudley, T. F. Smith, B. W. James, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Hunt, of Camden.

During the counting of the ballots the following were nominated for Vice-President:—Dr. S. R. Beckwith, Cincinnati; Dr. F. B. Mandeville, Newark, N. J.; Dr. R. J. McClatchey, of Philadelphia; Dr. Verdi, of Washington; and Dr. G. E. Sparhawk, of Vermont.

The tellers here reported a vote for President from which it appeared that Dr. Tabbot received 70 votes, and Dr. Youlin 40. The former was declared elected, and the vote made unanimous.

The following were nominated for the position of General Secretary:—Dr. T. C. Duncan, Chicago; R. J. McClatchey, Philadelphia; R. Ludlum, Chicago.

Dr. Rodman was of the opinion that many believed the election yesterday was perfectly regular, and in order to avoid a dispute on that question submitted as a substitute that the election of the ladies yesterday be confirmed.

Dr. Bebe replied that the institute could not confirm an illegal act.

The institute, however, passed almost unanimously the substitute of Dr. Rodman.

The names of the ladies admitted were Mercy E. Jackson, Harriet Judd Sartin, and Harriet A. French.

The resolution of Dr. Koch, which at a previous stage of the proceedings was declared not in order, was here submitted by the doctor and adopted. The text of the same will be found above.

Dr. Beckwith, of Cincinnati, made a motion to the effect that all papers and addresses which have been presented to the convention be referred to the Publishing Committee, with power to publish the same.

The motion was amended cutting out the annual address.

Dr. Verdi submitted a motion to the effect that when the convention adjourns it adjourn to meet on the 22d of May, 1872. Agreed to.

On motion of Dr. Berger the name of Dr. Thomas Hewitt, of Pittsburg, who is now serving out a term in the Western Penitentiary for producing a criminal abortion, was stricken from the roll of the institute. Agreed to.

A number of biographical sketches of deceased homeopathic physicians were here presented by Dr. Barlow, and were referred to the discretion of the Publishing Committee.

Dr. B. W. James submitted a number of votes of thanks to the newspapers and the managers of the various institutions in this city, who have extended the hospitalities of the same to the delegates of this institute.

Dr. Ober, of New York, here arose and said:—

We have come to Philadelphia feeling very sadly that one we loved (he referred to the late Dr. Walter Williamson) is not with us this morning. I should very very much to adjourn until some proper notice be taken on this subject. The speaker moved that a committee be appointed to draw up suitable resolutions on the decease of Dr. Williamson. Adopted.

Dr. Duncan presented the report of the Bureau of Organization, Registration, and Statistics. In the report was a recommendation of a change in the by-laws, introducing the delegate system, which was vigorously opposed. This portion of the report was on motion laid upon the table.

The committee appointed to draw up resolutions on the death of the late Dr. Williamson presented their report, with a series of resolutions of condolence.

The committee submitted the report of the Bureau of Foreign Correspondence.

The President elect, I. T. Tabbot, then announced the names of those composing the different bureaus, which are to report next year, and the institute adjourned to meet again in May, 1872.

A DISPENSARY AND HOSPITAL IN BEDFORD STREET.—The Bedford Street Mission, by a formal and unanimous vote at the last meeting of its directors, have this week opened a women's hospital and dispensary, which will be run in connection with the mission. The board have made themselves responsible for the rent of the entire new building, No. 613 Alaska street, and in it beds have been fitted up for the use of lying-in cases, and on the first floor a dispensary has been opened for the free distribution of medicines to the poor generally. The hospital and dispensary have been placed, by vote of the board, under the entire control of Mrs. Dr. Keller, who also has medical advisory assistance, among whom are Mrs. Dr. Longshore, and students and professors from the Women's Medical College. Articles of furniture or clothing, and medicines are greatly needed in the hospital, and any donations which the committee may be inclined to give will be thankfully received.

A PANIC AT A CHURCH.—Last night a large number of persons gathered at the German Church at Franklin and Thompson streets to witness the anniversary exercises of the Sabbath-school. While these were in progress some person started the report that the walls were falling, and directly ensued a general exodus from the church. The crowds of women and children rushed pell-mell from the galleries and the auditorium. Women and children were knocked down, trampled upon, and many fainted. When the house was emptied it was discovered that there was no foundation for the report. We are happy to announce that in the flight from the building no one was seriously injured.

THE OLD, OLD DODGE.—Henry Mann, a young colored man, was arrested to-day at Thirteenth and Market streets while driving a drag loaded with six boxes of dry goods belonging to A. T. Stewart & Co. He said that he had been hired by a man at Schuylkill Park streets to drive the drag from Stewart's store to West Market street. His explanation was not sufficient, and he was held for a hearing this afternoon.

OUR ITALIAN FRIENDS.—On Monday last the Italian Beneficial Association made a pretty street parade, headed by Frasconi's Band, and in the afternoon assembled at Schuylkill Park where there transpired all manner of sports, in which the members, their wives, and children engaged. The Mayor and a number of Councilmen were present.

INSANE.—John Brown, aged forty years, was yesterday discovered stoning trains on the North Pennsylvania RR. as they passed York street. He then laid himself prostrate upon the track, and a train that was coming down was stopped within a few feet of him, and much to his displeasure, he was forcibly removed. He is evidently insane, and will be sent to Blockley.

THE LADIES' HOMOEOPATHIC HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.—A strawberry festival is in progress at Concert Hall. The benevolent ladies connected with this association seem determined to make this hospital a success. The festival of two years ago was an enjoyable affair, and we presume this will be no less so.

A $4000 FIRE.—At 2:50 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in the rag-picking warehouse of Aaron Bates, in Dauphin street, west of Amber, caused by spontaneous combustion. The building is a three-story one, mainly of brick. The damage was $4000.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Alderman Corman this morning committed for trial a young man named Edward H. Noyes, son of a rich fine street broker. He was charged by Mr. Stetson, of the Astor House, with having run up a bill there last April, representing himself as an attaché of the Joint High Commission.

Subsequently he went to Europe and commenced suit against a steamship company for alleged loss of his baggage, which was, in fact, detained at the Astor House. He returned to this city lately and put up at the St. James Hotel, representing himself as Mr. Motley's private secretary, by means of which he has run up a large account with the proprietors.

This morning the trial of Edward Nevins for selling forged tickets to Cincinnati, with intent to defraud the Erie Railway Company, was taken up in the General Sessions Court. The tickets in question were issued on the occasion of the expected Mace and Coburn fight.

ROCHESTER, June 9.—A fire at Oakland, Livingston church, last night, destroyed the Presbyterian Church, hotel, and two dwellings. Loss, $15,000; insurance small.

Terrible Accident.
Troy, June 9.—Last night, just as Cohos Mills were closed, a man named Richard Kerr was rowing a boat in the upper level feeding the mills. Four girls, Maggie McNutt, Mary Jane Gallagher, Bertha Redwood, and Martha Campbell, asked for a sail.

Kerr came ashore and took girls in and rowed out, but the boat being too small the girls became frightened and the boat upset within ten feet of the waste gate leading into the arched passage three hundred feet long.

Kerr seized Miss Gallagher, and clung to a timber in the arch until they were rescued. Miss Belle Ferguson saved Martha Campbell. Miss McNutt and Miss Redwood were carried through the passage. The former was drowned, and Miss Gallagher and Miss Redwood are both in a precarious condition.

CONCORD, N. H., June 9.—In the Senate the committee on examination of the returns of the election of members, after hearing testimony from the town of Plainfield in relation to the votes cast there for Samuel Thrasler, that they were intended for Samuel P. Thrasler, made a return, which was accepted, that the late Samuel P. Thrasler was duly elected member of the Senate for district No. 10, and the seat is vacant by his decease. The Democrats are jubilant over the organization of the House, and will try to force a vote for Governor before the sick Republican members are brought on the field of action, but it is doubtful if a vote will be reached this week.

THE Grand Lodge of Masons.
NEW YORK, June 9.—The Grand Lodge of Freeasons of the State of New York resumed their session this morning. The Secretary was directed to furnish each lodge with a copy of the Grand Lodge transactions. The annual dues were fixed at 75 cents, one-third of which goes to the hall and asylum fund. The committee reported they saw no reason for amending the present Masonic ritual. The lodge then adjourned sine die.

The Bowen Mutiny Case.
The charge of murder in case of the crew of the crew of the brig J. L. Bowen was abandoned by the prosecution, and the charge is now simply attempting to create a revolt. There being no evidence against Michael Antoine, he was discharged.

A murder occurred on the ship Dexter, from Leghorn. A sailor, name unknown, from New Orleans, was stabbed by Charles Haywood. The latter was given into custody.

AVIAR SHIPWRECK—Loss of Forty Lives.
A letter from St. Johns, N. F., says:—"Information has been received of the total loss of a small coasting schooner, with forty souls on board. She left St. Johns for Old Pelican, in Trinity bay, and forty men of the crews of the Nimrod and Hector took passage in her. The poor fellows were inhabitants of Old Pelican, and returning to their homes with the proceeds of a successful voyage. They are nearly all married men with families. The unfortunate vessel has not since been heard of, and on May 23 part of her cargo was picked up at sea. It is supposed she struck a low iceberg during the darkness, and went down immediately. The little village is a scene of mourning and woe, nearly every family having lost a member."
