SOMERSET, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1891.

VOL. XXXIX. NO. 43. WHOLE NO. 2073.

You can fool some of the people all the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.—LORDS.

The people who have been accustomed to paying outlandish prices for Notions, such as every lady needs and boys, and Ladies' Furnishing Goods, such as all must have, will appreciate the truth of the above quotation more after they have visited and ascertained her prices, and then compare them with those they have been paying. You are commencing to think about the Holidays, and what you shall buy for Christmas presents.

You would like to buy something useful as well as ornamental, and can find just what you want among my stock. Remember, I do not keep anything in stock outside of the lines mentioned, but what I do keep is of the very best, and will be sold at prices that will please you. I have a fine line of Embroidery Silks that are worth examining.

KATE B. COFFROTH, Somerset, Pa.

It is to Your Interest TO BUY YOUR DRUGS AND MEDICINES

THAT'S IT. CURES RHEUMATISM. The Great Remedy. 10 Hill Street, San Francisco, Cal., April 23, 1891.

"I have been severely afflicted with rheumatism, my mother and myself, and realized the fact that the whole decorative scheme. Of course in all city parlors an upright piano is used, and instead of being set back against the wall like a child in disgrace, it is now turned out into the room almost at right angles, which is decidedly more agreeable to the performer. The back of the instrument is then draped with some beautiful material, hanging like a curtain to the floor.

Sometimes a plain piece of Roman sheeting is placed, a silken damask or European velvet, with the main color in harmony with the room. Or, ladies introduce a small picture or bit of embroidery in an upper corner, around which the drape is hung gracefully, or cleverly, in some other manner. The whole drape in harmonious old designs. A scarf of silk, satin, or velvet, with the hanging at the back falls over the top of the piano, and there are candleholders or vases, and other ornaments. Such are the possibilities of a piano as an object of decorative art, but wonderful are its possibilities in another direction.

Placed near a bay window, it abuts in the coolest corner, and its position might be called—were hidden thus away completely from the cold, cruel world. Smokers' retreats with little couches may be hidden in the shadow of such a piano, and the hangings fall from a corner window. Or a delightful tea corner is made with a screen for a doorway, and soft divans and dim lights inside. Miss Georgia Cuyler has my corner in her artistic little house in Harlem.

The back of the piano is hung with a soft shade of yellow, brocade with dull green leaves and flowers. Against this the little tea table is placed, with its dainty belongings, and a low chair beside it where the hostess presides. A yellow cushioned divan extends entirely around this corner, lighted by the soft radiance of a lamp with a pale green shade, and piled high with a lover's dozen of pillows—large and small and medium—with bright silken covers.—New York Sun.

Are the Best. Ayer's Pills have been used in my family for over thirty years. We find them an excellent medicine in fevers, griping, cholera, and all bilious troubles, and will cure all such ailments. They are also a good cathartic, and will cure all such ailments. They are also a good cathartic, and will cure all such ailments.

Decorate the Piano. In Small Rooms It is Now Made a Thing of Beauty and an Object of Art.

The music skill of modern decorators has vanquished the formidable aggressiveness even of the parlor piano. Formerly pianos were most ostentatiously displayed in the parlor, positively refusing to lead themselves to any scheme of decoration. But even a piano has possibilities, and since these possibilities have been discovered and realized the piano has become the whole decorative scheme. Of course in all city parlors an upright piano is used, and instead of being set back against the wall like a child in disgrace, it is now turned out into the room almost at right angles, which is decidedly more agreeable to the performer. The back of the instrument is then draped with some beautiful material, hanging like a curtain to the floor.

Time for Key Garden Work. Tree and vine pruning should be completed before the first of May. For an early crop need to be got in as early as the ground can be worked. The wrinkled, or sugar, seed be held until the ground warms a little. These potatoes are the best for eating. The first of starting these in cold frames should have overlying in readiness and get the seed in, and have the young plants in the ground by the first of May. The ground can be put in good order. The advantages gained by this method are full rows, a larger season of growth and less expense cultivating and keeping them in the ground. The young plants making up for the extra cost of transplanting. A much greater yield is obtained from the same amount of ground. The plants are more uniform in size. The plants are more uniform in size. The plants are more uniform in size.
