MASON L. THOMAS, of Broad Top, and Miss Annie Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels, of Licking Creek township, were married on the 14th inst., by D. P. Dishong, Esq., at the residence of the officiating Justice.

The NEWS office takes this method of acknowledging the receipt of a basket of fine apples, the gift of our little friend Miss Meta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Fryman of the Cove.

The family of the Editor are living on turnips this week through the generosity of David Denisar who lives on one of the Dr. Trout farms. They had a big crop and a crop of big ones—five or six that weighed twenty pounds. The one he brought us weighed four pounds and from that fact we reason that the weight of four more added to that of the five brought us would equal twenty pounds.

R. Sewell Wright, a prominent citizen of Bedford, died in Washington, D. C., Wednesday night of last week. For two or three years Mr. Wright had been in the employ of the Bedford Springs company, and it was while traveling in the interest of that company that he contracted a violent cold in Cincinnati, that brought on consumption and finally resulted in his death.

Abraham W. Ocker, of Marion, Franklin county, sixty years of age, formerly sexton of Heidelberg Reformed church, arose from his bed about two o'clock last Sunday morning, left the house, locking the door to prevent any of the family from following him, walked about a mile to a mill dam, where he plunged in, drowning himself. His body was found and taken from the water after daylight. He had been in bad health for some time.

Kelly Strait and Henry Waltz are now in a position to put down wells in great shape. They have a new drilling machine and a traction engine. People need no longer build their dwellings down in some inconvenient hollow just for the sake of being near a spring. The most beautiful site on the farm is now selected, and with the perfected drilling machinery, an abundant supply of pure water may be had at the door with a comparatively small outlay of money. When the dug wells shall all be abandoned, the greatest breeders of typhoid fever will be removed.

Two Moravian elders came to Franklin county a few days ago seeking converts to their religion. At Upper Strasburg they asked permission to hold services in the church, but were refused the privilege. At Roxbury they made similar requests with the same result. At last they tried Concord, but were informed by a committee of citizens that they would not be tolerated in the town. When last seen they were heading for Perry county.

The farm in Chester county on which the old Warwick furnace was built in 1730 has just been sold. It contains 515 acres and brought only $12,000. At the Warwick furnace many of the cannons used in the Revolution were cast. Some of these were buried in the meadows to prevent them from falling into the hands of the British in 1777. Several of these cannon were dug up in 1876 for exhibition at the Centennial Exposition.

Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D., one of the best known hymn writers in the world, died at his home in Plainfield, N. J., Saturday morning. He was seventy-three years old, born in Philadelphia, March 12, 1826. He was graduated from the University at Lewisburg in 1852. His first pastorate was in the First Baptist church in West Chester, after which he successfully filled pulpits in New York, Brooklyn and Plainfield. Dr. Lowry was better known as a composer of sacred songs than as a preacher. Some of his best compositions are: "Shall We Gather at the River?" "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" "I Need Thee Every Hour," "Weeping Will Not Save Me." He left a widow and three sons.

A PIOUS THIEF.

An Old Soldier Arrested For Stealing.

Robert Myers is an old soldier representing himself as living in the western part of the State and having relatives down East.

For several years he has been making visits to his eastern friends, passing through this county on foot, and depending upon the generosity and hospitality of the old soldier people in this county for lodging. Last Wednesday morning early, he left Everett, came up through Rohm's Gap, over Sideling Hill, and reached Thomas Rash's on Timber Ridge about one o'clock. After getting his dinner, and resting awhile, he walked across Scrub Ridge and stopped for the night with Comrade George W. Dishong, of Ayr township. Although about sixty years of age he had walked that day a distance near thirty-two miles.

On Thursday morning Mr. Dishong had two more callers. These were Ervin B. Davis, of Indian Head, Fayette county, and Nelson Mossholder, of Lichty, Somerset county—both constables. They had been following in close pursuit of Mr. Myers and had a warrant for his arrest charging him with having stolen $130 from a farmer in Fayette county. It is said that the soldier asked lodging for the night from that farmer, and repaid the gratitude of his host by going through a bedroom and stealing the money. When taken into custody by these officers, he admitted his guilt. The officers started back to Fayette county with him. Myers was formerly an inmate of the Dayton Soldiers' home. George says he would not have thought so much of it if the old sinner had not seemed so pious and couldn't eat without saying grace.

A GOOD COW.

T. J. Thompson, of this place, has a small, red, short-horned family cow, fresh May 1895 that has continued from that time to the present to give her regular quantity of milk, furnishing the family with milk, cream, and butter. Mrs. Thompson churns once each week; and, if the cream is at a proper temperature, she gets butter in from 15 to 30 minutes. For four years and a half the cow has given milk right along every day. Since July 1, 1898, to the present, the cow has been in the stable fourteen months of the seventeen months of that time. We were shown a roll of fine butter the product of last week's churning.

Among our many coon hunters, none enjoy the sport more than Prothonotary Lynch and Francis M. Doyle, foreman of the Democrat office. Late Monday night or early Tuesday morning they came lugging in one from the Meadowground mountain that weighed less than a two-year old calf. No wonder you can't sell them any meat.
