OUR TITLES.

Are not we Nobles? we who trace Our pedigree so high That God for us and for our race Created earth and sky,

And light and air and time and space To serve us and then die. Are we not Princes? we who stand As heirs beside his throne; We who can call the promised land Our heritage, our own,

And answer to no less command Than God's, and His alone. Are we not Kings? both night and day, From early until late, About our bed, about our way,

A goard of angels wait: And so we watch, and work and pray In more than royal state. O God, that we can dare to fail, And dare to say we must ! O God, that we can ever trail Such banners in the dust,

And such a blazon rust. Shall we upon such titles bring The taint of sin and shame Shall we, the children of the King, Who hold so grand a claim, Tarnish by any meaner thing The glory of our name?

Can let such starry honors pale,

MR. PETERS' FIRST WIFE.

"Dear, dear; no toast; eggs boiled as hard as brickbats, and the coffee stone cold." And Mr. Peters rose form the table in a temper by no means amiable, and rang the bell violently. There was no answer. He rang again, a third, a fourth time, and still the door and called-"Maria! Maria!"

A slight, pretty, little woman, dressed in a soiled, tumbled wrapper, with hair in a state of direful confusion, answered his summons. She had one of those bright faces which nature intended should be docked with continual smiles; but now all its roses. in bloom, it was drawn to its full length, and the large blue eyes had a serious, or rather d leful expression, totally at variance with its usual joyous look. Her voice, too, had know,' lest its melodious, ringing sound, and was subdued to a dismal whine.

Fred gave a long, shrill whistle, and then said; 'Going to ascend next week?'

"Yes, and if I don't commit suicide in the meantime, you may congratulate me. I am almost distracted. Can't get a decent meal, children running riot, servants saucy, house all in confusion, wife got the blues, either quoting the speeches of the elders at me, or sewing on a white robe, and groaning every third or fourth stitch.
