Persuant to call a number of the prominent business and professional men of the town met at the office of B. W. Lewis Saturday afternoon and formed a "good citizens' league." the object of which is to support good government and fight the repeal of the billiard law. The following officers were elected: President, S. Judson Stark; vice president, Rev. George W Hine; secretary and treasurer, B. W. executive committee, George Hine, B. W. Lewis, G. C. Miller Petitions protesting against the repeal of the law have been put in circulation and will be forwarded to the senate and house of representatives at Harris

In the Republican congressional con vention today the First ward will be represented by Dr. J. W. Denison and Nicholas Fox, and the Second ward by Orlando Osterhout and J. B. Welch. E. J. Jordan will be the choice of the convention without a doubt.

Chidsey, jr. and break down the reputation of the detective in the Waterman murder case by the friends of the indicted parties The man came a stranger into the town and may have said and done some unwise things, but he is endeavoring to hunt down and bring to justice the perpetrators of a horrible crime, and so far as he keeps within the pale of the law he is entitled to public sympathy. It is of utmost importance that murderers, thugs and robbers be hunted down, and all good citizens should lend every possible aid, let the criminals be whom they may. If the accused men in this case are innocent they doubtless will be able to prove their innocence; if they are guilty, let them suffer. Defending a man against false accusations is one thing; overriding justice is another.

His Mind Was Troubled.

It is the prevailing impression that Lohman must have been temporarily insame when he committed suicide. His | Fasshold's hall Tuesday evening. manner of acting for a day or two prior to his death was strange; he was very reticent and appeared to be brooding deeply over some matter. He arose at 10 o'clock Friday morning and left home without saying a word to his wife or family; shortly after he was observed hovering around the Kingston bridge and was gazing wistfully down at the river. At 11 o'clock Friday night he boarded a car for Kangaton and stopped at the Kengston hotel, where he regis tered under the name of George Thomas, of Scranton. He wanted to be called at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and after he retired he paced so excitedly around his room that the lodgers adjoining him were annoyed and had to request him many times to go to bed and let them sleep. He got up at 3 o'clock and that was the last seen of him alive.

George Lohman was 45 years old, having been born in Germany in 1850. He came with his parents to this country in 1861 and lived at Scranton until 1877, when he came to this city and opened up a restrurant. His success in this line was so marked that his name has been a by word for a number of years, whenever the restaurent business is spoken of. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Lohman, live in Scronton, at 432 Willow street, South Side, and his two brothers, John and Louis, are prosperous restaurant keepers of that city. He leaves a wife and four children, Arnold, 17; Lily, 16; Carl, 7, and Carrie, 5 years old.

His Wealth Estimated. He acquired considerable wealth, mainly through his enterprise and business ability. At his death his property is estimated at $25,000, but there is a mortgage of $17,000 recorded against it. Lately he made extensive improvements on it, expending over $4,000, for which he gave his note, and it was about to fall due. This is said to be the cause of his trouble, and he may have been perhaps, otherwise financially embarrassed. Not long ago through his attorney, Edward Gunster, he caused an advertisement to be ed in the New York World offering to cell a half interest in his restaurant for $10,000. He was noted for his frugal habits and was not a stock speculator, so that it is a surprise that h could have become embarrassed, and if so his standing in business was such that he could very readily raise money | SUITS, among his friends. He carried life insurance policies amounting to some thing between $80,000 and $100,000. On Friday he wrote a letter to Attorney Gunster in which he bade him farewell and told him to take charge of his affairs and settle matters satisfactorily to all his creditors and his family. He concluded stating that he was tired of life and wished a long rest.

His Social Character.

Mr. Lohman was very popular and of a cheerful disposition. He was very The party stopped at proper training. He was very much attached to his family, and spared no pains to bring them up with proper training. He added
