DEATH MR. HUCKABEE

Occurred in Norris—Body Sent to Lowndesville.

The body of Mr. H. L. Huckabee, a merchant at Norris, S. C., was brought to Anderson Tuesday morning to be taken to his home at Lowndesville on the afternoon train on the Charleston and Western Carolina railway. Mr. Huckabee's death was very sudden. He was formerly at Lowndesville and is well-known in this section. The funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at Lowndesville.

Death of Child.

Mellie Gibson, the three weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gibson, died yesterday afternoon at their home on 83 East street, Anderson mill. Interment will be made today in Silver Brook cemetery.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat, Says Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Jad Salts In Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HAD A REASON.

We have just heard about a Lakewood lady who advertised for a girl to do general housework and got a jewel of a personal reply. The young woman who answered the ad was strong, capable, intelligent, neat and possessed of training for the position. "You'll do!" cried the lady of the house, happily. "Now let's see your references."

"Ay ent got no refferens, mum," confessed Hilda. "Ay ban tore 'em up."

"What? Tore them up? Why, you must have been mad!"

"Ay was, ven ay saw 'em. Dot's vy ay ban tore 'em up!"

Taking No Chances.

Jack—The ring doesn't seem to fit very well, Alice. Hadn't I better take it back and have it made smaller?

Alice—No, Jack; an engagement ring is an engagement ring, even if I had to wear it around my neck.

NOT MUCH SHOW.

He—Don't you think we could be happy on $20 per week?
She—Well, I couldn't be happy with my first husband on $30.

'Twas Ever Thus.

You cannot satisfy some men, No matter how you try; Give them the bread they ask for And they will kick for pie.

His Type.

"The writer you introduced to me was very stooped and awkward. And he has such a poor carriage."
"Of course. He's nothing but a hack."

No Inferior Place.

"Did you select your son's college for its curriculum, Mrs. Comeup?"
"Of course, we did. The boy's always been accustomed to the best kind of a one at home."

It's a Hurry Call, Officer!

Boozywooz—Nature must have picked the camel for a sure winner. Blinkywink—What's the reply? Boozywooz—Because that is the only animal she backed up.

Mermaids Plentiful.

Bill—It has been estimated that every square mile of the ocean is inhabited by 120,000,000 living beings. Jill—Then, of course, there must be a lot of mermaids in the bunch.

Dressy Collegians.

Patience—An automobile repair course has been added to the curriculum of an Iowa agricultural college. Patrice—Now in speaking of college togs don't forget the overalls.

Legal Talk.

"That fellow must be a lawyer."
"Are you a reader of character?"
"No," said the waiter, "but when I asked him to repeat his order he said a ham sandwich as aforesaid."

Homely Girl.

"Glasses improve Maud's looks a good deal."
"Naturally; they conceal part of her face."

BUT NOT CALLING MAYHAP.

Big Sister—Fred says if I don't keep you out of the room when he calls he will stop calling.
Willie—Well, sis, dey's others, you know.

Premature Joy.

He popped; the maiden answered, "Yes." With joy he thought he'd another; But she'd not finished: "Yes—terday I said 'Yes' to another."

The Latest Thing.

"Now, this one is stuffed with anti-septic sawdust and dressed in thoroughly sterilized clothes."
"I see. A eugenic doll baby."—Puck.

Shame on You, Paw.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, what's the good of war, anyway?
Paw—Well, son, it takes a lot of brass bands to the front.

To Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barton will entertain this evening, in honor of the Tribble-Presley bridal party.

Mrs. J. H. Godfrey has gone to Cheraw to visit relatives.

Mrs. B. B. Crisp of Laurens, and Miss Dorothy Wells of Columbia are visiting Mrs. G. B. Greene on North McDuffie street.

Mrs. S. D. Brownlee has returned from a visit to Asheville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Jay, and Miss Lillie Watson of Greenwood, Misses Hortense and Royal Peake of Edgefield, Miss Carrie May Prentiss of Dalton, Ga., and Miss Ada Casey and Nettie Richardson of Pendleton are the guests of Mrs. Frank Barton for the Tribble-Presley wedding on Thursday.

Misses Annie Laurie Colyer and Sara Bigby returned to their home at Williamston yesterday after a visit to Mrs. Frank Barton.

Mrs. S. E. Carter went to Hartwell, Ga., yesterday to visit Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Eunice Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, who have been visiting Mrs. R. J. Ramer, left yesterday for Greenville to visit their son before returning to their home in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Miss Kathleen Watson, and Miss Hester Johnstone of Atlanta are the guests of Miss Fiath Brownlee.

A Pretty Party.

Little Miss Letta Sullivan was the attractive young hostess to about fifty of her friends on Monday afternoon.

The children gathered on the beautiful lawn of her handsome home on South Main street and a very happy afternoon was spent playing games. It was the eleventh birthday of the young hostess, and all joined very heartily in helping her to celebrate it.

Later they were invited into the house and a dainty sweet course served.

For Miss Tribble.

Another pretty shower for Miss Eva Tribble was given yesterday afternoon by Miss Ruth Archer at her home on North Main street. It was a china shower and each guest brought a dainty piece of china for the bride-elect, also a recipe for a cook book that had been made for her. Mrs. Rosa McCully in a few bright and appropriate words presented the book and china to Miss Tribble. The hostess assisted by Misses Nan Foeney and Ola Tribble served delightful refreshments. About twenty guests were present.

Mrs. J. M. Bell has gone to Williamston for a two weeks' stay.

Stamps-Crisp.

Miss Blanche Stamps of the Orr Mill village and Mr. LaFayette Crisp of Calhoun Falls were married Monday afternoon by Mr. John E. Wiggington, notary public.

Common Mistakes in Caring For Manure.

We believe that the best place for stable manure is on or in the land just as soon as it can be put there, but anyone knows that in wet weather it is not always practicable to put out manure as soon as it is made, and we have often stated that fact.

Moreover, we have advised against putting manure on land that washes without promptly mixing it with the top soil at least. This is not to prevent evaporation, as some seem to think, but for no other purpose than to prevent it washing away. Of course, if manure is put on a hillside that is hard, its value will leach and wash away, just as it will from the barn lot that is on a side hill. On the other hand, if there is a growing cover crop on the land, or if it is fixed in any way that the manure and soil do not wash away it is likely to lose less on the land than anywhere else, except possibly in a deep stall where it is tramped down hard and enough bedding and phosphate rock are used to absorb the liquid manure.

Another error which is popular and which seems to be shared by our correspondent is that best results are obtained from manure when well rotted before being applied. Better immediate results are obtained; that is, most good is obtained from it shortly after being put on. But the total good is likely to be less, for as a rule well-rotted manure means manure that has lost considerable of its plant foods. Get the manure in the soil, if it is likely to wash away or on it, especially if there is a growing crop on the land, just as soon as practicable after it is made, is the safest rule.—The Progressive Farmer.

Road Law is Unjust.

A viciously unjust law is that which compels young men—who oftentimes do not own a foot of land or a horse and do not directly need the roads, to build and keep up the county roads, while men who own thousands of acres or have bought long along these roads on speculation and never do a stroke of work on them, will get the fruit of this compulsory labor of these poor young men. Also big farmers and merchants who haul heavy loads over these roads, some every day, but have passed the age limit, need not do a lick of work on these roads.

It seems to me that it should and not the individual.—Otto Johnson in The Progressive Farmer.

He Couldn't Give Up His British Title.

Sir Edgar Speyer.

Sir Edgar Speyer, great London banker, has just arrived in the United States, a baronet in spite of himself. He can't get rid of his title. He may drop it and ask his friends and the public to forget it, but the British government will not forget. Once you get a British title it will stick so they descend to posterity.

The baronet is of the great German banking family of Frankfort-on-the-Main. His brother, James Speyer, is the head of one of the greatest banking houses in the United States, if not in the world.

So great has been the feeling in England recently against Germans and naturalized Germans that treason and all kinds of charges were made against them.

This is a copy of the letter the banker wrote to Premier Asquith just before he sailed on the liner Philadelphia for the United States:

"There is nothing harder to bear than the sense of injustice which finds no vent in expression. For the last nine months I have remained silent, treating with disdain the many charges of disloyalty and the charges of treachery made against me by the press and private individuals. But I can remain silent no longer, for these charges and insinuating suggestions have been repeated by men in public office, who have not scrupled to use their positions to iname the over-strained feelings of the people.

"I am not a man who can be driven or drummed by threats and abuse into an attitude of justification, but I consider it due to my honor as a Lady Speyer. British subject and to my personal dignity as a man to retire from all public positions.

"I therefore ask you to accept my resignation as privy councillor and request that my baronetcy be revoked."

At the death of his father, Gustavus Speyer, Mr. Speyer was a member of the three great Speyer firms, Speyer Bros., London; Speyer & Co., New York, and L. Speyer-Ellissen, Frankfort-on-Main. He resigned his active participation in the New York branch last year and discontinued his active connection with the Frankfort-on-Main branch in 1887, when he assumed control of the London firm.
