Pennington county republicans have nominated a magnificent ticket; one that will be elected by a large majority. David B. Hill has been nominated for governor of New York. The democratic convention went wild when his name was suggested, and they named him by acclamation. There were just fifteen persons present this afternoon when Maj. Anderson was nominated state senator, and they were not all populists for we counted Commissioner Ed. Clark and myself, and we know they are not populists. The Maj. will have a rough and rugged road to travel on route to the U. S. senate. Congressman Wilson was banqueted by the London business men. What could be more mete and proper than that the author of the famous Wilson tariff bill should be banqueted by Britons? Wilson did his best to encourage English manufacturing establishments, and now it is well that they encourage him in his work. Editor Bryan, of the World Herald, had everything his own way at the democratic state convention at Omaha, and was endorsed for U. S. senator. The convention also endorsed Holcomb or governor, together with several other populist nominees. A little over one hundred of the administration democrats bolted the convention and put up a ticket of their own. Maj. Anderson thinks that it is the republican party that has changed; that he hasn't changed. We want him to show wherein that party has changed since last fall when he went into a republican convention to help elect delegates to a district convention? Have the party principles been changed since last fall, when you pretended to be such a loyal republican, and made a good republican speech in the county convention? And then you know, Major, you had even then already been in the populist camp, and quit them. Did they change their principles, or did you change? To be honest, Major, to you really think you have any principles, and do you think you will be a populist until the end of the present campaign?

Congressman Perkins, of Iowa, made a powerful speech at Onawa, Iowa, on Thursday. It was one of the strongest presentations of republican principles and the record of the democratic party that we have read this year. Mr. Perkins has a faculty of getting facts and figures together in a manner that is pleasing as well as convincing. That speech is good literature to spread.

The republican county central committee will meet at the office of chairman Cleveland in Hot Springs next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to arrange time and places for holding republican meetings throughout the county. With the works of democracy, aided by the few pops in congress properly represented by good speakers there will not be enough democratic ballots this fall to make sufficient gun wadding for the Hot Springs gun club.

Democracy shines when it comes to denouncing everything that they have not had a hand in, but they evidently forgot that Fall River county has not had a majority of republican commissioners until within the past few months, so that a portion of their denunciations must go to their own party, for no official has more authority than a county commissioner, and all bills must be allowed by them. Hence in denouncing the commissioners their party is directly denounced. They certainly did not intend to find fault with anything but a republican administration of affairs, but the stupidity with which their resolutions were drawn condemn them from the start. They say that they "condemn the manner in which county offices is kept closed during business hours." Observe the grammar, please, saying nothing of the utter untruthfulness of the statement.

That wise democratic committee on resolutions, consisting of W. A. Wheeler, Ed. Kent, P. F. Kelley, Geo. T. Paine and some other unsuspecting individual, when they were gleefully condemning everything that they could imagine that a republican might be guilty of, evidently forgot that most of them live in pretty thinly constructed edifices to be engaged in throwing mud at honorable people who have no indictments hanging over them. That committee while engaged in condemning republican officials overlooked the fact that two of them are now under indictment for committing criminal acts, while a third was just recently bound over to await the action of the grand jury, charged with a most heinous crime. The other two may be above reproach one being a hard-working farmer and the other a Cascade liquor vendor. They are a pretty set of men to condemn our prosecuting attorneys and sheriffs of extravagance. Were it not for such as they we might dispense entirely with our lawyers and sheriffs.

This is a year when republicanism stands for something. You can only express your disapproval of the course that democracy has pursued by casting a ballot for republicanism, and urging your friends to do likewise. The republican party may not always name candidates for every office that are pleasing to every republican. Such a thing would be impossible. But all parties do the same thing. That does not affect the principles at issue, and the only manner of expressing your belief in principles is through the ballots for the party nominees. Upon a whole we do not believe a republican in the county would for a moment admit that the democratic ticket was the equal of the republican ticket in its personnel. Therefore not a single republican should waver from the principles he espouses, and thus hold strong the party organization from precinct to the state and nation. Every opponent of republican principles should be buried out of sight this fall by ballots that count for the protection of American institutions and American workmen.

It is evident from the present condition of labor that a great and distressing change has been and is pending. To make a mistake in deciding why this condition of industrial unrest and idleness has set in would make matters worse. To fairly understand what the trouble is intelligent action can be taken.

The democratic party proclaimed the old Calhoun doctrine of free trade. The people elected them on that issue. As soon as this was done business adjusted itself for the change. It meant the destruction of our industries or a heavy reduction in wages. To look elsewhere for the disease, and to apply any other remedy than protection will only prolong the disaster.

We are in the midst of what our past experience teaches us would result from the election of a party to power that would abandon the protective policy. After 1816, after 1833 and after 1846 tell the same story. Everywhere an abundance of everything to add to our prosperity except work for our people. Without protection work for the American laborer at American wages has never been, and will never be, found. The party that will not give us protection cannot give us prosperity.—American Economist.

THE NOMINEES.

The republican party named a ticket yesterday that will at once impose confidence in it and put the enemy to flight.

S. E. WILSON,
The republican nominee for state senator was born in Bureau county, Ills., reared on a farm where he worked until he was 21 years old, except during winters where he attended county school, and at the age of 17 before he had seen the inside of a college or even a town public school was examined and received a certificate to teach school. Taught during three winters, worked on farm during the summers, when saved enough means to enter college, where he worked his way through by writing in county auditor's office of evenings and on Saturdays, and by remaining out of college and teaching several terms. Was elected county superintendent of schools in Peco county, Iowa, in '79, served three terms. Was the youngest county superintendent in the state. Studied law and was admitted to the bar in '84. Did not enter the practice till '86 when he moved to Hot Springs, S. D., where he has since resided. Tried his first case in district court in the old frame school house in Hot Springs. He held the office of prosecuting attorney for Fall River county for two terms, during which he was eminently successful in all cases in which he appeared. He is an eloquent, forceful speaker and will ably and delightfully represent the 1st district in the next senate.

JOSEPH H. DICKEY,
Nominee for the legislature, is 41 years of age, a man of most excellent business qualifications, having been engaged a large portion of his life in mercantile pursuits. He came to the Hills in 1876, was superintendent of schools of Custer county for two years; removed to Fall River county about eight years ago to assume management of the Fargo & Son department store; was elected mayor of Hot Springs upon its incorporation in 1890 and re-elected 1892 by a rousing majority. He is a genial gentleman, a persistent, hard worker, is excellently well qualified for legislative work, and Fall River county will safely feel that it is to have as faithful and efficient representation in the legislature this winter as any other county in the state.

JOHN L. BURKE,
Our candidate for county treasurer is too well known to scarcely need any introduction to a single voter in the county. He represented the county in the legislature two years ago, and did with splendid success, becoming one of the most popular members of that body. He is honest, efficient, diligent and worthy. He was nominated by acclamation and will be elected fully as easy as he was nominated.

WALTER ANDERSON,
The nominee for state's attorney is a young man who, during his residence here of about three years, has shown himself to be an estimable gentleman and a studious, trustworthy attorney. Like the other candidates his election is a foregone conclusion.

E. S. KELLEY.
Has served the county so efficiently and well during his first term that the people of all political beliefs believe him entitled to re-election, and will therefore aid in increasing his majority of two years ago—which was next largest on the ticket. He is a most affable gentleman, and we doubt if a finer set of records than his can be found in the state.

O. B. CHESLEY,
For clerk of courts, is a brother newspaper man, and is therefore of course a most worthy subject for political preference. He is thoroughly reliable, painstaking and industrious. He will surprise the opposition on Nov. 6 as much as he did some of the other candidates before the convention.

ROBT. MILLIGAN
Will make a model sheriff. He is true, trusty and fearless, every inch of him. He is strong with the people who know him best. He is a straightforward man. He will put out of office the only democrat that is now in Fall River county.

W. W. SMITHSON
Made such an efficient auditor that the people want him another term, and he will get it without much of an effort.

W. H. FRYE
Will be the next county judge. A loyal republican at all times, possessing splendid qualifications and will attend to the duties devolving upon the office with complete satisfaction.

J. H. MCKEE
Will succeed himself as superintendent of schools. He is an experienced educator, possessing abilities that will be of great benefit to the schools of the county.

DR. WIGHT
Will be the next assessor, and being a man well posted generally, he is excellently qualified for the important work that devolves upon the assessor.

J. W. JOYCE
Will unquestionably continue to act as coroner, and is splendidly qualified to serve in that capacity on Nov. 6 over the remains of demo-populists.

WALTER SCOTT
Is one of the best civil engineers in the west and is therefore the proper person to be county surveyor, as he will be.

H. D. CLARK
Has made a faithful and careful county commissioner, is well versed as to the duties of the office. It is one of the most important positions on the ticket and the republicans certainly named a bright and efficient young man when they selected Mr. Clark.

The nominees for justices of the peace and constables are among the best men in the county, who are each well qualified for the duties that would devolve upon them.

TARIFF TRUTHS.

A democratic tariff for revenue encourages the importation of foreign made goods. Imported goods being the products of foreign labor, rob American labor of that amount of work. About every $2,000 worth of imported goods that can be made at home throws one American out of employment. Of the $896,000,000 of merchandise imported in 1893, $415,000,000 could have been made at home by Americans. Allowing $2,000 for each wage earner, then 222,500 would have thus found employment and received in wages $108,000,000, had it not been for the fear of free trade.

It is claimed that the protective policy of the republican party stimulates to overproduction all lines of goods thus protected, breaking down our markets and preventing the export of American commodities. Both of these claims are shown to be false by our foreign trade under the McKinley tariff. In 1892 we exported $1,015,732,000 of American products, nearly 8100,000,000 of which was from our factories. These exports, both of products and manufactured goods, were the largest ever made. Our imports in 1892 were $827,402,000, being the greatest in our history, and most of which was manufactured or partly manufactured goods imported to supply a demand in a market which the free traders claim was already oversupplied by our over-estimated protected industries.

If the $445,000,000 worth of goods imported in 1893, that could have been manufactured here, had been so made, $308,000,000 of capital would have found profitable investment and $244,000,000 worth of raw material would have been required for the work. But the fear of free trade was hanging over the country. Our manufacturers did not know how cheaply they would have to sell their goods and consequently could not afford to run the risk of making them.—American Economist.

Rapid City has three daily papers, two for the campaign only. The Republican and the Populist are the campaign sheets.

The president of the Olympic club of New Orleans declares that if Corbett refuses to fight Fitzsimmons at their club they will place him (Fitzsimmons) champion of the world. That it was within their club that Corbett won his greatest honors, and in it they shall expect him to defend them.

Congressman Lucas has been holding rousing political meetings in the eastern part of the state. He writes that "in every instance the attendance is measured by the capacity of the house." Five meetings were held in Brown county and republican enthusiasm is high. At Redfield a grand rally was held, and he will make five other speeches in that county. The Capt. thinks the pops act discouraged, and the tide is all the republican way over there. They are crowding their pop speakers hard, endeavoring to follow the republican speakers at every point, but Kyle has thus far declined to enter into a joint discussion of the issues. Capt. Lucas expects to start for home the 10th and will be prepared for the campaign here immediately upon his arrival. Robt Gamble will come to the Hills with Capt. Lucas.

There were a goodly number of candidates for the various offices, and a better lot of timber was never before a convention to select from. All could not be successful; some of the excellent men had to go down. Yet they all seem to take defeat good-naturedly, as they should, and will aid in increasing the republican majority on November 6. The ticket is a magnificent one; but Kyle in every particular, and the strong in every particular, and the hearty support. It is a year when no republican should lag. Important principles are at stake throughout the nation, and every precinct must do its part in carrying forward the banner of victory. Fall River county will be at the front. Our candidates are winners because they are personally excellent men, well qualified for their respective duties, and because they stand upon the loyal principles of republicanism—true to America and supporters of American institutions.

The Elocutionary Entertainment.
The entertainment given by Mrs. Irena Hernandez and Prof. Kinsey at the Presbyterian church last evening was a grand success, as far as real merit is concerned, though the audience was not what it should have been. The lady is a most excellent impersonator, has a good voice, well under control and is graceful and attractive in manner. She excels in the rendition of pathetic selections, but does well in the humorous, and had her audience laughing and weeping at her will. Prof. Kinsey's vocal selections were roundly applauded and his instrumental improvisation was well received.

Those Pimples

Are tell-tale symptoms that your blood is not right—full of impurities, causing a sluggish and sallow complexion. A few bottles of S. S. S. will remove all foreign and impure matter, clear the blood thoroughly, and give a clear and rosy complexion. It is most effective, and entirely harmless.

Chas. Heaton, 73 Laurel Street, Phila., says: "I have had for years a humor in my blood which made me dread to shave, as small boils would break out, thus causing shaving to be a great annoyance. After taking three bottles my face is all clear and smooth and I can shave with as much pleasure as ever. I sleep well and feel like running a foot race all for the use of S. S. S."
