Count Czernin Praised. But the German Chancellor Condemned

Washington, D.C., Feb. 11—President Wilson today addressed Congress today in reply to the recent accusations of Count von Berchtold, the Austrian foreign minister, and Count Czernin, the Austrian imperial minister. He spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Congress:

On the authority of the President of the United States, I have the honor to make the following declaration:

The President of the United States is not aware of any personal or political animosity on the part of Count von Berchtold or Count Czernin. He is not aware of any intention on the part of either of these gentlemen to injure the United States or its citizens. He is not aware of any intention on the part of either of these gentlemen to injure the President of the United States or any other member of his family. He is not aware of any intention on the part of either of these gentlemen to injure the President of the United States or any other member of his family.
